If it uses its power to improve its position.

BUT the fact remains that most of the wars of the past have been accompanied by booms which were followed by a CRASH, and in the ensuing crash most of the profits arising out of the war boom have been wiped out.

There can be no good reason for assuming that it will be different in the case of the present war. If we have too much boom now, we must expect TOO MUCH CRASH afterward.

In this crash, whatever gains are made now will disappear.

YOU have been reading a lot about price ceilings.

The purpose of a price ceiling is to keep costs from rising. If costs could be prevented from rising, it MIGHT be possible to keep booms from occurring as a result of the unlimited demands of war time. If war booms could be prevented, it might be possible to avoid AFTER THE WAR crashes.

That, at least, was the thought back of the idea of establishing price ceilings.

LET'S try a simple illustration. Hot air rises.

It can be PREVENTED from rising by putting a ceiling over it IF THE CEILING IS TIGHT. But if there are HOLES in the ceiling the hot air will rise THROUGH THE HOLES, practically as if there were no ceiling.

IN war time, prices, like hot air, TEND TO RISE.

If a price ceiling were placed over them, it might be possible to keep war time prices from rising, just as it is possible to keep hot air from rising by putting a ceiling over it.

But only if there were NO HOLES IN THE CEILING. Canada is trying out a ceiling with no holes in it, and it seems to be working.

But our ceiling has holes in it. One hole is provided for wages. Another hole is provided for farm prices.

FOR that reason, it is extremely doubtful if our price ceiling will work.

If it DOESN'T work, we shall find ourselves plunged head over heels into the inflation whirlpool.

OUT OUR WAY

HEROES ARE MADE - NOT BORN

By J. R. Williams

Concerning the NORTHWEST As Viewed at the National Capitol

By John W. Kelly

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 21.—So determined is the Bonneville administration to crush private utilities that it has appealed to the federal maritime commission to order the Kaiser shipbuilding concern to make a contract with Paul Raver's Bonneville power and to forbid Kaiser from buying power from the Portland General Electric Co., although Bonneville has no transmission lines to Swan Island and has no franchise to construct such lines within the city of Portland.

Maritime Commissioner Howard L. Vickery is quoted as saying that "We own the yard at Swan Island and Kaiser merely manages it for us. The yard must take power from Bonneville." The Swan Island shipyard will require a heavy load of power and Raver wanted that load; determined to get it away from PGE, the private company's rate for power to the shipyard was as low as that of Bonneville.

Bonneville agents have already sought to take other customers away from this particular private company and are still working on two or three big concerns. The government-owned plant is furnishing power to the Oregon Shipbuilding corporation, located on Willamette river, of which Edgar Kaiser is manager and used some of the same tactics that have been invoked on the Swan Island yards—Kaiser was about to sign a contract with PGE when Raver put the "bee" on him.

Army investigators have been examining the coal deposits in Washington and Oregon as 180,000 tons must be supplied to the cantonments now being built near Medford and Corvallis. These inspectors were at Renton, looked at the coal at Bellingham and probed into the Coos bay field. From about 1889 to 1907 Coos bay coal heated San Francisco, colliers operating between Coos bay and the Bay city. So far as known this is the only coal deposit in the United States at the ocean side.

Two Douglas county boys, Private George R. Insley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Insley of Roseburg, and Private Paul R. Hausotter, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Hausotter of Riddle, were graduated recently from an intensive course in aviation mechanics at Sheppard field, Texas.

PORTLAND, July 21.—(AP)—George L. Koehn, Portland, commander of the Oregon American Legion in 1936, will enter active duty as a major in the army quartermaster corps next Monday.

Admitting that synthetic rubber must be produced as rapidly as possible, Vice President Henry A. Wallace shocked a senate subcommittee by declaring that he does not wish to see this plastic continued after the war. Wallace maintains that unless the motor industry goes to natural rubber there will come world war No. 3. He is not sympathetic toward using surplus wheat to provide tires nor of developing raw materials in the United States if they can be purchased abroad. He calls this the long range plan.

the falls. From there on, however, it is a bit treacherous and even dangerous in places. Coming out above the falls, as it does, it furnishes a traveler a wild scramble down a precipitous path over and amongst rocks, and in one place descent is made possible by means of a ladder. For about half a mile above the falls the river flows swiftly through a narrow rock cleft which nowhere appears to be more than fifteen feet in width and I've no idea how deep. Once

DAILY DEVOTIONS DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

During these days of world conflict much is heard and much is read about enemies. The people of one nation consider those of certain other nations their enemies, their foes. In times of war the citizens of a nation are under the rules and regulations of their national government and often find that in being obedient to a constituted authority, they are not permitted to conform to what they individually consider right. The Bible has much to say about enemies, and we find many inspiring accounts of the triumphs over enemies by men who have understood and trusted God, who have looked to Him for guidance, protection and help. David refused to harm King Saul, even when he was delivered into his hands. Is it any wonder that Jesus was nailed to his cross, He prayed, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." Christ's love for humanity was so genuine and true that He could pray for the men who crucified Him, because sin had blinded their eyes. A divine illustration of forgiving our enemies. Amen.

anyone fell from the trail above (shale) makes the footing insecure, nothing could keep him from a fatal plunge over the falls, as the carcass of a deer caught in the rocks below amply testified, on the day I (you and I) visited there.

Lemolo, the upper falls, 160 feet in height, is friendly and companionable compared to Toketee which (I suppose because of the rigidities of the trail leading to it and the deep, narrow, rather gloomy gorge through which the trail passes) appears a bit sinister. Toketee, taking its leap in two plunges, is 60 feet in height.

If you have a heavy camera to carry, you'll find a pack sack convenient; if you have that, a pack board, either canvas-backed or thong laced, is better still. Then, if you'll carefully spot your heavy camera at the top of the pack, you'll get along very nicely.

Relief on Rentals Ceiling Assured

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(AP)—Paul A. Porter, deputy administrator of the office of price administration told Representative Magnuson (D., Wash.), today the OPA was endeavoring to eliminate hardships on landlords in special cases in the Puget Sound area where rent control regulations have created individual problems that need adjusting.

Rents in the area were set at April 1, 1941 levels. Porter wrote Magnuson that it had been determined that to set them at any later date "would embody inflationary rent increases contrary to the purposes" of the rent control act.

Porter said the rent regulations contained provisions for adjusting certain cases of hardship, and added "it may later be necessary to obviate hardships in certain other broad categories by amendment to the regulations." Magnuson had sent to the agency complaints from landlords.

National Forest Timber For Sale

Sealed bids will be received by the Forest Supervisor, Roseburg, Oregon up to and including August 20, 1942, for all the live and dead timber designated for cutting located on an area embracing about 80 acres within the E1NW1 and W1NE1, Section 22, T. 32 S., R. 2 W., W.M., near the junction of the Three Horn and Railroad Gap roads, Umpqua National Forest, Oregon, estimated to be 1,500,000 feet B.M., more or less of Douglas-fir, and an unestimated amount of white fir, Western hemlock, sugar pine, and California incense-cedar. No bid of less than $2.50 per M feet for Douglas-fir, $1.00 per M feet for white fir, Western hemlock and California incense-cedar, and $3.00 per M feet for sugar pine will be considered. $1,000.00 must be deposited with each bid, to be applied on the purchase price, refunded, or retained in part as liquidated damages, according to conditions of sale. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. Before bids are submitted, full information concerning the timber, the conditions of sale, and the submission of bids should be obtained from the Forest Supervisor, Roseburg, Oregon. Before final award, the high bidder will be required to make a satisfactory showing of financial ability to carry out the agreement.

Uncontrolled Food Prices Rise, Other Class Drops

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(AP)—The cost of many foods not under price control rose sharply between mid-May and mid-June while those under regulation declined slightly, the bureau of labor statistics reported.

Prices of foods not under the general price ceiling advanced an average of 4.8 per cent and controlled food prices declined an average of 1.3 per cent.

The bureau estimated that, despite the administration's efforts to check the rising cost of living food bills for city families of moderate income rose 1.3 per cent between May 12 and June 16. This was about the same rate of increase which prevailed during the 14 months prior to the start of price regulation May 18.

Twenty of the 65 foods priced in retail stores went up, 28 were lower and 17 were unchanged. Price regulation does not affect 24 of the foods priced, representing more than 40 per cent of the average food budget of wage earners and lower-salary workers.

The price rises were led by fresh fruits and vegetables, lamb and poultry, none of which is subject to price control. Apples advanced 25 per cent, cabbage 15 per cent, lamb 10 per cent and roasting chickens 5 per cent. A drop in prices was reported for fats and oils, beverages, pork and dairy products, all but the latter being under price regulations.

The index of food costs June 16 was 123.2 per cent of the 1935-39 average, 4 per cent above the March 17 level and 16 per cent higher than a year ago.

Keep Up Courage, F. R. Urges Slavs

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, in a message to thousands of Chicago Slavs at a victory rally in soldier field yesterday, urged them "to keep their courage high and their faith firm until we crush the tyrant and bring freedom and peace to all men."

The president told the estimated throng of 50,000 that the rally was "a stirring symbol of the unity of a mighty nation; a nation composed of many people from many distant lands, marching forward as one man in the name of freedom. You whose father's soil has been overrun need not be reminded of the nature of the enemy nor of his black purpose."

Postmaster General Frank C. Walker, who read the message, declared that a victory for the United Nations meant "the utmost effort and superb team work. We have need of unity and loyalty and patriotism on the part of every working man and woman if this nation of ours is to survive."

Pulpwood Price Ceilings Slated

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(AP)—The office of price administration announced today that price ceilings soon would be imposed on pulpwood, at levels "much lower" than the current market, to protect existing ceilings on prices of such products as newsprint.

OPA reported that prices for peeled spruce and other types of pulpwood, especially that cut and peeled this summer in the New England states, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, had been advancing steadily, forcing the cost to producers of woodpulp up about 25 per cent. This advance, officials declared, had "squeezed" the producers who operate under woodpulp price ceilings.

If woodpulp prices advanced, OPA pointed out, the price ceilings on newsprint and other papers would be threatened.

By reducing prices at the raw material level, OPA will be able to eliminate the "squeeze".

OPA reported that some pulpwood producers were withholding stocks, anticipating higher prices in the future, forcing many pulp producers to contract for wood from distant sources at increased transportation costs.

In addition, fears of diminishing wood supplies also have caused producers to bid up prices in competition among themselves, "until the price of wood no longer bears its usual relation to its cost," OPA asserted.

Wake Island Man's Wife Asks for Trusteeship

Mrs. Gertrude Kelly today filed a petition with the probate court for appointment as trustee for the property of her husband, Martin T. Kelly. Mr. Kelly was employed with a civilian construction crew at Wake Island when that Pacific outpost was captured. Although he presumably was taken from the island, he so far has not been reported in lists of those held in the prison camps and nothing has been heard from him or concerning him since the capture of the island. The petition states that the property requires attention and that appointment of a trustee is, therefore, desired.

Rock Crusher at Drain To Resume Operation

The county rock crusher located at Drain and which has been idle for several months while undergoing remodeling, will start operation tomorrow, it was announced today by the county court. The crusher has been set on a new location and has been remodeled to provide greater capacity and more efficient operation.

The plant will be under the direction of Alfred Cloake, crusher foreman, and from eight to ten men will be employed.
