Gable "Up Stage" When Roseburg Men Try Contact

Movie Star Declines to Greet Victory Day Committee Who Wanted His Services

"Star hunting" may be considered an unusual pastime, but when three grown men go "star hunting" and wind up on a wild goose chase, it might be considered the height of something or other. Three usually very alert members of the Douglas County Victory Day celebration committee were very sleepy-eyed Tuesday, but had an exceptional alibi to account for their condition.

The "star" in this particular case was a movie star and the wild goose chase was an all-night affair which led over several hundred miles of highway.

When Harry Pinniger, Marshall Pengra and Bill Ralston, members of a Victory day celebration committee, heard that the popular motion picture idol, Clark Gable, was vacationing on the Rogue river, they promptly conceived the idea of enlisting his personal appearance at the celebration as an added attraction to the entertainment for that day.

They immediately started telephoning to determine his whereabouts, and a call to Diamond Lake revealed that a "Mr. Gable" had registered at that resort.

Without further delay the committee headed for Diamond Lake with high hopes. By early evening the trio had reached the resort and gazed enthusiastically at the signature of "Mr. Gable" on the resort register. The penmanship was not too good, but that was no matter for concern. However, when contact was made it was discovered that the name was not "Gable" after all but rather that the signature was "Goble." The man who bore the name was a very fine fellow, the committee reported, but unfortunately, he was not the one desired to add glamour to the Victory day program.

Then came more telephoning. It finally was learned that Clark Gable was at a famed Rogue river resort.

So the committee again took to the highway.

The motion picture star was finally located, but he was not receiving visitors and declined to give the committee an interview, whereupon the trio after repeated efforts to personally contract the distinguished vacationist, regretfully accepted the "brush off" and

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

How often we are warned against acquiring an inferiority complex. We are to cast off restraint and express ourselves. A feeling of guilt is unwholesome, say the wise, yet it is not true that Jesus, one who "knew what was in man" points us to a poor man who was so ashamed that he dared not even lift up his eyes to heaven, and the only prayer he could utter was "God be merciful to me, a sinner." Some might have tried to laugh him out of his inferiority complex, urge him to forget himself and take up a hobby. But Jesus was wise. He knew. For alongside with the unhappy publican he pictures a boastful Pharisee, priding himself that he was not as other men. As we see the contrast, we know that we would rather stand with the penitent publican in his shame than the boasting Pharisee in his self-righteousness. The humble person who will not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven because his little efforts of kindness and service seem so meager, will one day hear from the Master, "Well done." His very humility has won approval from God. He that is down need fear no fall. He that is low no pride. He that is humble ever hath. The Lord to be his guide. Amen.
