DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

"And they sing the song of Moses and the lamb." The song of Moses celebrated a great social deliverance. Israel had been brought out of bondage after four hundred years of servitude. The song of the lamb celebrated spiritual deliverance. Social and spiritual deliverances are hallmarks of Christ's gospel. No worker for the spiritual welfare for souls can ignore social conditions. No social worker may forget that the soul of all reformation is the reformation of the soul. Missions overseas manifest in striking manner this twofold redemption. The physical miseries of the backward races appeal to our sense of attraction. The social effect of the gospel is great. Men are uplifted, clothed and fed. But the song of Moses must always be supplemented by the song of the lamb. Civilization in itself is inadequate. You must change the heart if you would change the man—and the heart change and the social change should go hand in hand.

"Far, far away, like bells at evening pealing, The voice of Jesus sounds o'er land and sea, And weary souls by thousands meekly stealing Kind Shepherd, turn their weary steps to Thee." Amen.

Warning Service Dates Series Of Radio Programs

Arrangements were made today for a three-station hook-up, originating at Roseburg, for the release of the dramatic production, "Eyes Aloft," the weekly radio program of the aircraft warning service, Lieutenant J. T. Runyan, commanding officer at the Roseburg filter center, announced today. The first of the programs to be released under this new arrangement will be heard locally from Station KRNR from 7:30 to 8:00 p. m. Tuesday.

The programs are being released by the NBC Red network each Monday at 6 p. m. Due to the fact, however, that there is no NBC station of sufficient power to cover the southern Oregon territory at that particular period, radio listeners have not been able to hear the interesting series of programs, Runyan stated.

Through arrangements completed today, the regular Monday broadcast will be carried by wire to the KRNR studio where a transcription will be made for delayed release. The program then will be broadcast from Roseburg by transcription each Tuesday evening and will be heard over KRNR, Roseburg; KOOS, Marshfield, and KUIN, Grants Pass.

The series, "Eyes Aloft," is dedicated to the observation and filter center workers and dramatizes the work of the thousands of men and women manning the aircraft observation stations throughout the nation, and the volunteer workers in the filter centers.

"Mrs. Miniver" Movie Wins High Praise Here

By L. K. P. Douglas County Defense Coordinator Harry Pinniger is urging all residents of the community to attend the motion picture, "Mrs. Miniver," featuring Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon, now showing at Hunt's Indian theatre. The picture opened here Sunday and will continue through Tuesday.

The picture is heralded one of the very best of the present war and educational for civilians in time of war. It depicts the life and happenings of an English family and their respective community in the war between Germany and England since 1939 up to the present time. The work of civilians in time of war is particularly interesting and much can be learned by attending the picture. In addition to the educational part of the show, the story is unusually fine and theatre patrons seeing it yesterday, report it is the best production to date.
