DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

How very common is the experience of trouble. In this day of world-wide sorrow it is the cry of the multitude. Trouble is the soul language of all mankind. Travel the world over among people of every race and every station, and you will find they all know the meaning of trouble. In the hour of trouble Jesus said: "For this very purpose I have come to this hour." How uncommon is the Christian's answer to the hour of trouble. Those who have not anchored their faith in the rock of God's love in Christ, cry: "Save me from this hour." But the Christian proclaims: "I am here for a purpose, use me to glorify Thy name." And so the hours of trial, the burning fires of tribulation, the unexpected storms that sweep through our lives, all provide opportunities to draw closer to God and to give witness before men that "we have a faith that overcomes the world." Well I know thy trouble, O my servant true. Thou art very weary—I was weary, too; but that toll shall make thee, some day all mine own, and the end of sorrow, shall be near My throne.
