A Marvelous Record

DOUGLAS county set a marvelous record during the month of November in the purchase of war savings bonds and stamps.

The exceptional record in war savings bond investments has been made in spite of the fact that Douglas county has no war production industry other than its timber operations.

A bouquet is due the members of the county committee, headed by H. O. Pargeter. Without the excellent planning and the determined work of the members of the committee, it is doubtful if Douglas county could have achieved such results.

It is doubtful if the publicity of Douglas county's wartime accomplishments is widely distributed. There is too much happening throughout the world for people to center their minds on what one county in Oregon is doing.

Concerning the NORTHWEST As Viewed at the National Capital By John W. Kelly

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 2.—Soldiers, sailors and marines are arriving from the Pacific theater of war and they are surprised that high government officials regard the Pacific war as a sideshow and that the big show is in north Africa.

To date, the American forces have been fighting overwhelming odds and making a wonderful showing, but there has been so much propaganda for a "second front" by Russia and its sympathizers in the United States that the Pacific battlefield has been shoved into secondary position.

Almost all of the losses since December 7, 1941, have been in the Pacific, and they have been appalling; all of the losses of battleships, airplane carriers, submarines and destroyers except a few destroyers have been in Pacific naval engagements.

A Lying Is In Error

Visiting Fort Lewis, an Oregon woman saw army trucks scattered around, hundreds of them, exposed to the weather and many in need of repair. So she wrote the war department of this waste of war material and asked for an investigation and punishment of those responsible. The answer can something like this: Fort Lewis is the repair depot for motorized equipment and all trucks requiring reconditioning are sent there to be overhauled.

Teacher Vacancies Eyed

School superintendents and college presidents of the Pacific northwest are being requested by the U. S. office of education to report on the number of vacancies in the ranks of teachers. The questionnaire asks for the reasons of the vacancies and the methods being used to meet the shortage.

Hundreds of medical and hospital supplies, from bandages and surgical instruments to sulfa drugs and anti-toxins, are included. It was this group of young men that set the world on fire, and from their hands history received the flaming torch. It has always been so. Luther was only twenty-two when he dedicated his life to God. John Calvin was only twenty-four when he was compelled to flee from France because he championed the true faith of a spiritual gospel.
