Bowlers Aiding in Red Cross Benefit

Local bowlers have shown a quick response to the celebration of national Red Cross Bowling Benefit week. Arch Elliott, manager of the Roseburg alleys, announced today. There was considerable play Monday in the first day of the local blind tournament being held as a part of the national campaign.

In this tournament bowlers roll at masked pins and are permitted only one ball per frame. Three lines compose one entry for a fee of $1.00, of which one-half goes to the American Red Cross. The remaining 50 cents is used to pay pin boys at a reduced fee, and to make up a prize pot, from which prizes of war stamps will be distributed on a blind score basis, so that all players, regardless of skill, will have equal opportunity to win.

Due to the civilian defense incident test last night, the regular City league games were not played, but the teams will meet at the alleys at 7:15 o'clock tonight.

First Lieut. Runyan Is Advanced to Captaincy

John Truman Runyan, commanding officer of the Roseburg filter center, has been advanced in rank from first lieutenant to captain. Captain Runyan, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Runyan of Roseburg, attended school here, but in recent years had been residing at Klamath Falls. Holding a commission in the army reserve, he was called into service prior to the outbreak of the war and was assigned to the aircraft warning service and placed in charge of the filter center here. He organized the observation work in Douglas county and has since exercised command.

Rationing Board Tackles Requests For Gas Increases

The local rationing board and its supplementary panel expects to complete work this week on approximately 1,000 applications for supplemental gasoline rations. R. L. Preston, executive secretary, reported today. The board, he reports, has been working long hours, and has had much volunteer assistance in the effort to complete the work resulting from imposition of gasoline rations.

Out of approximately 1540 persons issued A ration books, about 1,000 have applied for supplemental rations, Preston reports. To date approximately 95 per cent of the applications have been approved although few have been granted the full amount requested, but have received some degree of supplemental allowance.

It was necessary, Preston reports, to return nearly 50 per cent of the applications because they had not been properly prepared.

The rationing board is checking each application to ascertain that it is complete and in proper form. The application then is turned over to a supplemental panel. This panel is composed of 30 persons, not named by the board, but selected to represent farmers, professional and business interests, industry and transportation. Twelve members of this supplemental board meet each night and are divided into four groups of three each. Each committee of three members then passes upon applications referred to it.

It is believed, Preston states, that it will be possible this week to dispose of all applications now on hand.

Rulings Issued On Oregon's Safety Code

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 3—(AP)—The state industrial accident commission has no authority to extend its safety regulations to employers who are not covered by the workmen's compensation law, Attorney General Van Winkle ruled today.

He also held that the commission's safety code applies only to employers covered by the law, while safety provisions affecting employers who are not covered are enforced by the state labor commissioner.

Apply for Auto Stickers Now, Motorists Urged

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 3—(AP)—Secretary of State Snell appealed to automobile owners today to send their applications for 1943 windshield stickers to the state department at once. He said the applications are far less than in recent years. "If the motor vehicle owners don't get their applications in promptly," Snell said, "My department will be so rushed at the last minute that there will be long delays in mailing out the stickers." The windshield stickers will be substituted for 1943 license plates. All cars next year must carry 1942 plates plus the stickers.
