Veterans Facilities Needed

THE rehabilitation department of the American Legion is urging immediate steps to provide increased facilities for the men who will need continued care following the present war. Here in Douglas county we are particularly interested in this project, because of the presence in Roseburg of a veterans hospital capable of extensive expansion.

Already men disabled in the arenas of this global war are being returned in need of treatment and rehabilitation. As the war progresses there will be more and more of these casualties. The cessation of hostilities will not halt the flow of men into government hospitals. The records of the last war prove that the peak of demand for hospitalization will not be reached until many years after the writing of the peace treaty.

In government hospitals and veterans homes today there are approximately 65,000 men who saw service in the first world war. The number of men in service today is nearly double that of the last war and there is no reason to believe that the proportion requiring future hospitalization will be less. In fact, due to the mechanized character of this war, the constant rain of death from the skies, the prolonged periods of sustained fighting and other changed warfare factors, the mental and nervous casualties resulting from the present war are apt to outnumber those of the last war on a percentage basis. It is apparent, therefore, that steps should be taken without delay to prepare the greatly increased facilities that will be needed.

Roseburg already has a fine hospital in operation. The plans originally drawn for this institution provide for expansion to several times the present capacity. The architects in designing the buildings now standing outlined the sites of proposed additional structures with the thought in mind that the Roseburg institution would eventually be one of the largest in the country. On the strength of this plan the city of Roseburg purchased and donated a site of 420 acres, more than enough land for all proposed or anticipated needs.

Now that the time has come for expansion of the veterans facilities, the veterans administration should be giving consideration to the matter of developing the Roseburg hospital to the size originally contemplated. The land is available without additional cost. The location has proven ideal. The surroundings are entirely suitable.

There is only one obstacle to the immediate expansion and increased operation of the facility here and that is the matter of transportation. Passenger service by rail is such that much difficulty is encountered in bringing patients to the hospital. In the event the institution is enlarged, as it should be, it will be necessary that greatly improved train service be provided. This is a situation which should not be of great concern to the veterans administration for it can demand and receive transportation necessary to the efficient conduct of its facility.

The rehabilitation department of the American Legion is performing an important service in demanding immediate action to provide for the needs of the men who soon will require hospitalization. These veterans who are demanding that the nation give its best to ease the suffering of maimed and mangled bodies and wrecked minds and nervous systems are speaking from experience. They know the inefficiency and cruelty of moving casualties from one private hospital to another, as was done after the last war prior to the enlargement of government hospitals. These veterans demand that the men now in service shall not be forced to undergo a similar experience and are insisting that facilities be prepared in advance. In this program of expansion, the Roseburg site should be given consideration, for it offers an opportunity for additional installations at a minimum of cost and under the most favorable operating conditions. Editorials on News

Japs try again to relieve their forces in New Guinea or the Solomons. THERE WILL BE big news.

A WORD here on the north African air fighting. Maybe the German air force will COME TO AFRICA and weaken itself critically in attacks against us there, as the Japs have weakened themselves by COMING AGAINST US in the Solomons.

That would be useful. The German air force HAS to be weakened to the point of inferiority before Germany can be defeated, and if we can get them to COME TO US it will be cheaper than GOING TO THEM.

THERE'S an interesting sidelight on the air fighting in Africa.

The Germans are using big SIX-MOTORED transport planes and trains of gliders to bring reinforcements to Tunisia. These big six-motored transports are capable of carrying 80 men fully equipped. The Australian pilot who shot down the first of them some time ago says he thought when he saw it on the horizon it was a 3000-ton merchant ship. (Meaning it looked so big.)

While we were arguing about PERMITTING Kaiser to build big cargo planes the Germans were ALREADY BUILDING them.

ANOTHER word here on Russia. The present objective of the Russians is to save the Caucasus oil and protect their Caspian-Volga supply line. The Caucasus oil has to get to the rest of Russia by way of the Caspian and the Volga.

But that isn't all. The Caspian and the Volga are indispensable links in the supply line we are building to Russia by way of the Persian gulf. If we can make the Mediterranean safe for our ships, this will be a comparatively short and efficient line.

Your map for, better, your globe will tell you about its possibilities.

IN order to make the Caspian Volga supply line safe, the Russians must drive the Germans westward out of bomber range of the Volga and the Caspian. If the Germans can be driven back to Rostov, their most menacing drive against the major Caucasus oil fields will be cut off.

THE cruiser San Francisco gets back to its home port. It led its formation between Jap columns that were superior both in numbers and in fire power. ON ITS OWN, it blew up a Jap cruiser, sank a Jap destroyer and slugged it out with the 14-inch guns of a Jap battleship (having only 8-inch guns itself) so effectively as to cripple the Jap and leave it an easy prey to our bombs and torpedoes that sank it the next day. The fighting was at about 2000 yards—point-blank range for big guns.

The San Francisco lost her admiral (she was the flagship) and her captain, and a lieutenant-commander took over and BROUGHT HER OUT.

THRILL when you read that great story. It is in the best U. S. naval tradition. It proves beyond all doubt that our men can take it.

READING of the heroic San Francisco and her heroic crew, let's resolve and sign the resolution in blood that we on the home front will take whatever comes in the same spirit as our men on the fighting fronts.

KEEP it, America will be invincible.

THE TRAIL HERD

By J. R. Williams

Concerning the NORTHWEST As Viewed at the National Capital By John W. Kelly

WASHINGTON, D. C. Dec. 14—It works like this: If a timberman wants a loan of $60,000 or a sawmill a loan of $1,000,000, or a little business applies for a loan with which to handle a war contract, RFC holds a meeting of the board, makes a painstaking examination consuming months and finally decides whether the security is sufficient and stipulates usually, that a local bank assume part of the loan. But if one of the innumerable war agencies wants a loan it obtains an executive order from the president, presents the order to Jesse Jones and, without quibble, the sum stipulated in the order is turned over by Jones. Congress has no control of this money, does not even know the purpose for which it is wanted when it is drawn from RFC by executive order.

There are plenty of instances where RFC loans have been obtained on Washington timber, Oregon sawmills, etc., only after a struggle and so much time wasted that when the money is made available it is almost too late. A few days ago congress was asked to authorize RFC to obtain another five billion dollars in addition to its current revenue. There had been a secret session of a committee at which it was revealed that the president was issuing executive orders with a free hand.

It meant, the committee discovered, placing the five billion dollars with RFC to be drawn on without strings by the president through executive orders. A senator offered an amendment requiring that when a government agency wanted money from RFC the entire board should consider the proposal and study the security with the same care that RFC does with an application from private business. Furthermore, the amendment put the kibosh on using an executive order to siphon out funds. When the amendment was offered there was telephoning to RFC, to the White House and other places, and when the author of the amendment stuck by his guns word came that opposition to it was withdrawn. Prior to November 3 the amendment would have been defeated immediately. Congress is tightening up on blank checks.

Congress appropriated $35,000,000 for a war department building across the Potomac, in Virginia, where 40,000 government workers are employed. The war department did not stop at $35,000,000; obtained $50,000,000 from the president out of his blank check account and there is an $85,000,000; pentagon building enough money to build a fleet of destroyers, some 150 flying fortresses or scores of Liberty ships.

Kaiser Nice to Negroes

Best Kaiser story drifting back to the national capital tells of three colored government workers who were sent to Kaiser's yards in the Vancouver-Portland area to undertake to straighten out the troubles of the colored workers imported by Kaiser from New York. Kaiser had to entertain the colored negotiators but the color line is drawn in the swanky hotels and restaurants of Portland and Puget sound. Sais or could have hired a private room in a hotel, but did not. The shipbuilder brought his three colored guests to Portland's Arlington club, than which there is nothing more exclusive; had them served at the bar; fed them in the main dining room. (Kaiser agents are now in Chicago looking for workmen.)

Ordeal for Grocers

January 10, 1943, is to be a big day in the office of price administrator retail trade and service division. On that date every grocery store, large and small, must have filed a voluminous report, which is a complete inventory of stock, with the cost of every item, every grade of every brand identified, and the markup.

Included in the document is the warning: "Persons violating any provisions of this regulation are subject to criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages, and proceedings for suspension of licenses, all as provided by the emergency control act of 1942."

There must not be more than 25 entries to the page, and even the smallest grocery will have 1000 or more entries to make, filling 40 pages. Each page must be duplicated, one for the local war board and the other the dealer must keep—80 pages for the small grocery. However, large establishments, which attempt to carry everything, may have 5000 items, or 200 pages, with 200 more as duplicates. And so on and on far into the night.

Before the deadline congress may step in and stop this paper work. Innumerable grocers in Washington and Oregon have been in such confusion that they are waiting to see what will happen and are not filling out the blanks. Making out an income tax statement is simple as compared with what retail dealers in food have been ordered to do.

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

This is the time for aggressive action on the whole national front. We need a streamlined mechanized, high speed effort to insure our safety as a nation and to insure the end of a world revolution imperiling that safety. We must win the war by whatever degree of participation may be necessary. But we must get the sand of venereal disease out of the gears. It slows up action. In time it destroys valuable human machinery irreplaceable at this point. There is no single contribution which will mean more in terms of human power now and relief from economic burdens later. If we have not the capacity to do this small fraction of the whole task and do it well, how can we hope for success on the far-flung ultimate issues. We must do each essential job as it appears if we are to win the war. We must give human needs priority if we are to win the peace. "And when the victory shall be complete, when there shall be neither a slave of passion nor a drunkard on earth, how proud the title of the land, when both political and moral freedom is ours." (Abraham Lincoln). Amen.

by the bureaucrats. Leon Henderson's organization has gone far beyond what congress imagined when the emergency control act was adopted.

Rose Bowl Nod Given UCLA By Beating Trojans

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14—(AP)—UCLA's Bruins, who won the right to represent the Pacific Coast conference at the Rose Bowl Saturday by defeating the Trojans of USC 14 to 7, participated today in a preview of the Georgia style of play.

The Bruins turned in their best game of the season Saturday for their first victory in history over University of Southern California and at the same time to win their first victory against the "T" formation.

The winner had to do just that to stay ahead of the final gong, for just when it appeared the Bruins had things all sewed up, the Trojans struck and for a few minutes it appeared the battle tide had turned for good.

But the Bruins held and backed the Trojan attack up with only one touchdown scored. There is ample evidence in the attitude of the UCLA players that they figure they have a good chance to upset the favored Georgia Bulldogs. Much of their attention is going to be devoted to pass coverage. In fact, they began to bear down on that phase of the game two weeks ago. They had the Southern California passing game covered faultlessly last Saturday.
