POET'S CORNER

AND ON EARTH PEACE

We walk along
The gaily decorated streets,
A beautiful sight;
But all that I can see
Is Joseph and Mary,
Trying to find shelter
For the night.
The children pass,
Excitedly they skip along
All out of breath;
But I am thinking of
A little boy who smiled
Sweetly as He played
In Nazareth.
The church bells chime
Tonight, exultantly their notes
Swell and increase;
But I can only think
Of Christ who sadly looks
Down on this angry,
War-torn world that spurns
His gift of peace.
