Gloomies, Indians, Advertisers

A FEW minutes ago our spirits were lower than a Jap's honor. We could have scratched our chin with a big toe without stooping. The Gloomies were thicker than Gremlins on an overdue bomber. But now the world is rosy, our spirits are high, and life is really worth living.

What brought about such a sudden transformation?

Why, a friend thought enough of us to sit down and scratch off a few lines of commendation. A linotype operator who had been working on a temporary basis announced he liked the job and was going to stay. An advertiser came in voluntarily with a fine piece of contact business. Another advertiser, already on contract, added some more inches to his space. A woman came in and subscribed for the paper and declared that she liked the News-Review better than any home-town paper she had seen.

Isn't it surprising how our spirits can perk up from a few kind words, a little unexpected business, good news or a sudden lucky break?

The Roseburg high school Indians turned in two victories Friday and Saturday nights to open their southern Oregon district basketball season. No spectator present could say he failed to get his money's worth in those two games, which the boys won by one-point margins. The disappointing fact was that there were not more spectators. Of course, no one knew in advance that there would be two such bang-up games in a row, but that is one of the interesting things about sports—you never know what will happen next. The Indians are scheduled to play at home again this week and will meet Marshfield Saturday night. Roseburg won from Marshfield in a pre-season game, and hopes to repeat. Let's all turn out and lend vocal and moral support to the Indians.

Homeowners in Roseburg will find a great deal of interest in a series of advertisements to be sponsored daily in the News-Review by the Coen Lumber company. Although new construction is limited, there is no regulation against many types of alterations and improvements and, with the prospect of spending more time in our homes for the duration, due to travel restrictions, suggestions for domestic comfort, utility and beauty are particularly timely. Aside from war savings bonds, there is no better place to invest money than in the home. And the Coen Lumber company has not overlooked war savings bonds, for a new idea is introduced in the company's proposal to sell building lots on a monthly payment equal to the cost of a war bond, with the money to be invested by the company in bonds on which the interest will be credited to the purchaser until six months after the end of the war. An investment in a home linked with a patriotic use of the money is really a smart idea.

begin to operate against the Jap islands.)

WERE springing some kind of offensive action (details lacking) against the Japs on Guadalcanal. Its purpose seems to be to push them back out of shelling range of the airport, which we hold.

The navy communicate again hints strongly that the Japs on Guadalcanal are getting short of food and ammunition.

THE Russians, moving down the Don, have narrowed the Rostov land gap to 60 miles. At the southern end of the Caucasus fighting, they are reported to have Georgievsk half surrounded. (Consult your map.)

They are narrowing the mouth of the sack, and at the same time are squeezing its bottom and sides. The squeezing is necessary, for the Germans are of course pouring in all the supplies and reinforcements they can spare along the main line of the Rostov-Baku railroad.

The dispatches say the German defenses in the Caucasus are apparently CRUMBLING FAST.

IN northern Africa, allied bombers hit hard in the Gabes area, at the southern end of the railroad running down along the Mediterranean from Tunis. Their purpose seems to be to stop a junction with Rommel's army. Gabes, at the end of the Tunis railroad, is now Rommel's main base of supply.

NOTHING definite has been heard from Rommel for days. He may be at Tripoli now.

Wes Gallagher, AP correspondent in northern Africa, says most allied observers think Tripoli can't be defended and expect the axis to concentrate its efforts on getting Rommel's forces into Tunisia. He is expected to make a stand at the border between Tripolitania and Tunisia, where the French had constructed a "little Maginot" line.

An officer at allied headquarters in northern Africa, quoted in the dispatches, puts it this way:

"If the Germans attempt a stand at the border, which way will they turn the guns the French provided? If they turn them to the west, the British 8th army will attack from the rear. If they turn them eastward, WE'LL attack from the rear."

KEEP your eye on this situation. There will be some hot fighting before Rommel either effects a junction with the axis forces in Tunisia or is PREVENTED from doing so.

FDR lays before congress a HUNDRED BILLION DOLLAR budget for war purposes next year and at the same time asks for 16 billions in ADDITIONAL taxes or compulsory savings.

That dwarfs anything in history, so there's nothing to compare it with.

Don't try to make comparisons. Just grit your teeth and tighten your belt.

IT HAS TO BE DONE.

IN his message, FDR points out that this represents three times the German, four times the British and 11 times the Jap spending.

Don't try to make dollar comparisons. They're useless and misleading. The Germans and the Japs are GETTING MORE FOR WHAT THEY SPEND.

What it amounts to is putting the bulk of our production effort into war, and as such it's OK. There's nothing to be gained by fighting with one hand. We'd better fight with BOTH hands and get it over with.

IN his budget message, FDR says:

"Victory can't be bought with ANY AMOUNT of money, however large. Victory is achieved by the blood of soldiers, the sweat of workers, both men and women, and the sacrifices of all the people."

True every word of it.

STILL, we mustn't forget to include the COST OF CIVIL GOVERNMENT among the things where sacrifice is called for. Every dollar spent for NONWAR governmental activities is WASTE, and as such hampers our war effort.

U. of O. Basketeers Easy Victors Over Idaho

MOSCOW, Idaho, Jan. 13 (AP)—Although both teams played raggedly the University of Oregon's basketball team easily outclassed the University of Idaho five here last night to win as they pleased 43 to 21. It was the opening game of the northern division, Pacific Coast conference basketball season.

Roger Wiley, 6 foot 8 inch Oregon center, was the spearhead of the Webfoot attack, dropping in 16 points.

The teams meet again here to night.

Concerning the NORTHWEST As Viewed at the National Capital
 By John W. Kelly

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—There was a whoop-de-do last spring when people thought members of congress were voting pensions for themselves. Spokane made quite a fuss over it and, in parody, sent a mess of junk to Washington in its "Bundles for Congress" publicity. Now that the shouting and the tumult are over it appears that every member of congress defeated in the November election is qualified to draw a government pension the same as a member of the supreme court, federal judges or those under civil service. All these lame ducks have to do to qualify is to get a federal job and their time spent as a member of congress will count toward their retirement.

And there is a grand scramble to get back on the federal pay roll by the 100-odd new dealers who were displaced by republicans. There is no hope for any of the few republicans who failed of reelection to land a government job; only the faithful true-believing new dealers can qualify for something. If ex-representatives Smith, Hill or Pierce make a connection the 10 years they served in congress will be credited toward their federal pension. This trio came into congress on the Roosevelt wave originally and held onto their seats while the Harry Hopkins policy of "tax, and tax, and tax, and spend" brought reliefers to the polls to keep new dealers in office. Nebraska's Norris will be given a lame duck job and as he has served 10 years as representative and senator and is now past the voluntary retirement age, he is automatically eligible for a nice pension check regularly from the government after he has served in a new capacity for a few weeks.

The list of new deal senators (one-termers) being given lame duck appointments is impressive, but the list is even longer among the representatives. There are so many commissions, war agencies and what not that every defeated new dealer can be taken care of. If he hasn't "broken his pick" with the White House. There are a few who have gone along with the administration who never could crash the White House gate and in whom the administration had no special interest. One senator will be the sergeant-at-arms of the senate, another will succeed Leon Henderson as OPA chief, another will go on the civil aeronautics board and his only qualification is as an elocution teacher, and playing politics. But one and all who are smuggled on the federal payroll are headed for pensions and their service in congress is credited.

for a period long after the war there will be gosh-awful taxes. In addition to the national debt there will be the interest on that sum and heavy taxes to maintain a large army and air force and flying fields in all parts of the country, for Uncle Sam is to be a world policeman, and there will be a two-ocean navy. There also will be the cost of rehabilitating countries freed from Herr Hitler and Yamamoto.

The United States will pay in lives and money a heavy price for world peace. There are high officials who predict that the loss of life will be prodigious and that the United States will put more money into the war than any other country. How far congress will go in holding the sack is debatable. It is said that congress will seek, at least, to have other countries assist in servicing the national debt. The president and administration spokesmen have outlined (without details) what the United States will do in stabilizing the world.

The new congress will have an opportunity to begin studying the war and what should be done when peace comes. A resolution will be offered to create a bipartisan committee of 24 members, 12 from the house and 12 from the senate, to keep an eye on the progress, learn where the money is going and study administration plans. This resolution may not be adopted but something of the sort is certain to emerge eventually. It is not the intention of framers of the resolution to outline military campaigns, for that is the day of army and navy, but it is the wish to keep in touch with what the armed forces are doing and also to be informed of the program of rehabilitation soon to be started by Herbert Lehman.

Programs Will Feature Tops Names in Radio

Two new quarter hour daily programs will be heard on KRNR: "Give Us This Day," which is running this week at 10:45 a. m., and "Portia Faces Life," starting next Monday at 5:45. Marshall Pengra, KRNR manager, reports.

In cooperation with the OWI, KRNR will present a series of guest artists in these programs, which will change each week but will keep the same places on the daily schedule. The series will feature some of the biggest names in radio including the casts of Stella Dallas, The Goldbergs, Aunt Jenny, Our Gal Sunday, Against the Storm, Young Widow Brown, Pepper Young's Family and others.

Guest Artist Series to Be Heard on KRNR

The Guest Artist series, a new feature over KRNR, starting Thursday evening at 7:15, will bring to Douglas county listeners a parade of some of the best musical talent in this area. It was announced by Marshall Pengra, KRNR manager, today.

Each Thursday evening a different guest artist will be presented in an air recital. A series of piano recitals will inaugurate the weekly programs with Anna-Loris Ward, formerly heard on KRNR, featured in the opening program tomorrow night. Guest Artist series will be heard each Thursday evening at 7:15.

Oregon State Quintet Wins Over Ramblers

in the Ramblers lineup, John Mandie, Jack Mulder and Sam Dement, failed to stem the tide, although the first half's end found Oregon out in front by one point, 25-24.

The Beavers drew away slowly in the first half; the Ramblers, on some sharp shooting by Mandie, pulled to within one point, and the Beavers finally forged safely ahead on baskets by Don Durdan and Bob Howard.

...You can spot it every time

Those in the Navy's W.A.V. E.S. do a double service. In serving on their own, they also release a trained man for war duty. In its own way, you've found that ice-cold Coca-Cola does a double service, too. It quenches thirst, yes. But it does more. It brings an after-sense of complete refreshment.

A drink has to be good to be the best-liked soft drink on earth. Coca-Cola started out being good and keeps on being good. Choicest ingredients and the finished art of 57 years of "know-how" set Coca-Cola apart in quality.

Only The Coca-Cola Company makes Coca-Cola.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke, Coca-Cola and Coke mean the same thing...the real thing...coming from a single source, and well known to the community.
