safely be individualists.

If you read widely, you must have noted these growing references to what Russia MAY do, if and when.

She may drive the Germans to her borders and then QUIT.

She may do this and she may do that.

She may even make a separate peace that will relieve the Germans of fears as to their eastern front, enabling them to bring their full strength to bear against the rest of us.

THIS writer doesn't know where these expressions of fear as to what Russia may do originate, but is quite sure they HAVE THE APPROVAL of the German high command.

If her enemies can be divided, Germany will have a better chance to conquer.

The same goes for Japan.

Items for State Aid Erased From Bill in Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—A $6,298,530,435 appropriations measure—99 per cent of which is listed for direct war purposes—was turned over to the house today after a subcommittee eliminated funds for three federal aid-to-states programs.

On the ground that they lacked "the sanction of enabling legislation," the committee trimmed from the new fiscal bill these federal contributions:

1. The sum of $2,973,000 for the payment to states for care of children of employed mothers.
2. An allocation of $3,182,000 to aid in the cost of the high school victory corps.
3. Grants amounting to $1,200,000 for emergency maternity and infant care for wives and infants of enlisted men.

The committee deferred action on a request for $65,075,000 "to recruit and distribute an adequate supply of farm labor for the 1943 farm year," explaining the subject was so important it would be handled in a separate bill.

Missing from the measure also was a $200,000 allotment which the national resources planning board sought to help pay its expenses for the rest of the fiscal year. The house earlier this month eliminated all financial provision for the 1944 expenses of the board, which is headed by President Roosevelt's uncle, Fredrick A. Delano.

A transcript of testimony which accompanied the bill, a supplemental appropriations measure to meet extra needs, reflected mounting concern over the possibilities of shortages impeding the war effort of manpower, of critical material, of ships, food and fuel.

Soldiers, Children May Be Used in Farm Tasks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23. (AP)—Serious labor shortages on farms, which some agricultural leaders fear may hamper the wartime food production program, were brought tentative plans for the use of soldiers and older school children in planting and harvesting crops.

Chairman Fulmer of the house agriculture committee reported that President Roosevelt had endorsed, in principle, a proposal for using military personnel for farm work in areas where acute shortages exist.

Fulmer said Mr. Roosevelt had expressed the belief, also, that young people should be urged to do farm work on a larger scale than at present.

STILL BEHIND THE PLOW

EDITORIAL

By Charles V. Stanton

THERE was an old army song which spurred lagging footsteps over the "last long mile" in world war No. 1, and some of its words are still heard today:

"You're in the Army Now,
You're Not Behind the Plow."

But those words, so familiar to American fighting men, are no longer true, for today men are being drawn from army camps to plant, tend and harvest crops. Doubtless more and more men will be furloughed to the farms in days to come, for we are being forced to the realization that this is everybody's war.

The current war is unique in many ways. Although the armies are more highly mechanized than ever before, primitive, hand-to-hand combat is more common than in any war of modern history. Women are enlisted and uniformed as official auxiliaries to the armed services and are even, in some cases, operating defense weapons. Women, children, the aged and the infirm, the civilians at home are bombed from the air. Never before has there been such a casualty toll among non-combatants. Today's war involves everyone. No city, town or hamlet is entirely safe from enemy attack. Guerrilla warfare is being studied and practiced by civilians. Civilian defense units operate on a semi-military basis.

Then, too, this is a war in which fighting men must be provided with tanks, planes, armored trucks, cars and motorcycles. It is a war which demands ships and more ships. With mechanization there come demands for fuel. Never before has a civilian population been required to put forth such extensive efforts to support its armies and its fleets.

We have not yet entirely outgrown the idea that wars are for the young men to fight. In the past it has been the physically fit young manhood that has fought the nation's battles. Only the young have been on the firing lines. Only the young have faced death and destruction.

Today the battle front is on the production line, in the shipyard, and on the farms, as much as on the combat line.

The men who fought the last world war have, through their organizations—The American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Disabled American Veterans, and others—consistently urged for many years the drafting of labor and capital as well as soldiers and sailors. To date, largely because of politics, administrations have failed to recognize this theory of war necessity, but have, nevertheless, tried to establish a program of regimentation which continued favors for the politically powerful. Before we can reach the state of all-out war effort, we must have not only "equality of sacrifice" but recognition of equality of responsibility. As long as some are called upon for sacrifices, while others, because they hold political power, are granted favors, our troubles will continue and our victory will be delayed.

We are all in this war together—the young and the old, male and female. Production of food is as important as production of planes and ships. The farmer is as important to the war effort as the man who carries a gun. The farmer today needs reinforcements. He cannot draw from a labor market maintained by political and labor racketeers.

If he is to receive the aid he must have to maintain essential production, such assistance doubtless will have to include men now in uniform and the words of our old song must be changed.

"You're in the Army Now,
But You're Still Behind the Plow."

Albino Robin Viewed by Roseburg Residents

Residents of Plant street Wednesday found much entertainment Wednesday in watching an albino robin. The bird came in with numerous other robins and differed from others in no way except for its appearance. It was almost pure white, according to Mrs. G. W. Chamberlain, who was one of the first to see the bird and who called the attention of neighbors to it.

Red Cross Drive Support Urged By Roseburg's Mayor

Roseburg citizens were called upon by Mayor W. F. Harris today to give full cooperation and support to the 1943 Red Cross fund, collection of which will start March 1. The Red Cross did not conduct its annual roll call in November, but instead has centered its efforts on preparations for the 1943 war fund drive, which will, if successful, provide the funds needed for operation during the current year. Official recognition of the service of the Red Cross is given by Mayor Harris in the following proclamation issued today:

WHEREAS the men of our armed forces are fighting and dying on the far-flung battlefronts of the world—from the steaming jungles of New Guinea to the sunbaked sands of Africa—on the sea and in the air; and

WHEREAS the success of our forces in preserving a world where men and women may be free depends on the support and inspiration they get from the peoples back home; and

WHEREAS it is the privilege and duty of every man and woman and child to serve the cause of humanity in every manner possible and to as great extent as possible; and

WHEREAS it is the aim of peace-loving people of our nation to contribute in sweat and toil and sacrifice—sacrifice of luxuries and comforts to the support of those men who are risking and giving their lives for us; and

WHEREAS at the same time our home front must be prepared to cope not only with possible attack on our shores but with natural disasters, such as earthquake, flood, hurricane, tornado, drought, fire, explosion or epidemic; and

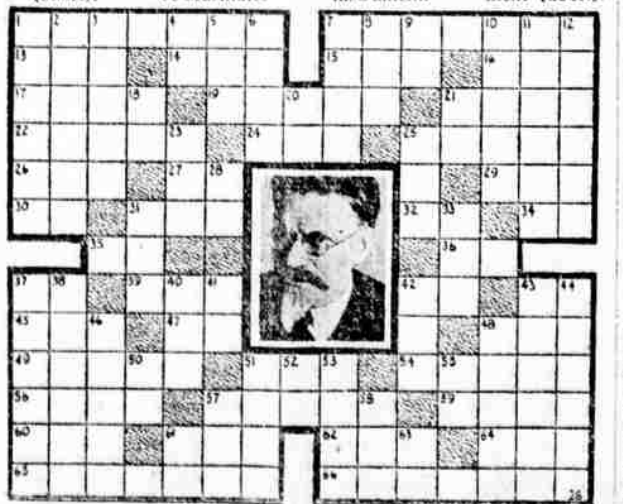

WHEREAS the American Red Cross is equipped and ready to carry on in our own and every community such indispensable welfare programs as public health nursing, home nursing, first aid, water safety and accident prevention, and through the Junior Red Cross in the schools, to act as the medium for service by our young people; and

WHEREAS the American Red Cross is able and ready to render protection and relief in case of the aforementioned disasters; THEREFORE, I, W. F. Harris, Mayor of Roseburg, in accordance with the president of the United States who has proclaimed March as Red Cross month, do call on all public spirited people of this community to make every effort to support the 1943 Red Cross war fund. I urge every man and woman, boy and girl to give their support by contributing through our local chapter to the Red Cross war fund; and I further proclaim that it is the sense of all of us who are residents of Roseburg that our gifts must be larger than ever this year, in order to enable this great national organization of ours to meet whatever demands are made upon it.

About three-fourths of all sports equipment now being manufactured goes to members of the armed services and to those receiving pre-induction military training.

News of Men From Douglas County In War Service

According to word received here, Roy Byrd is now taking training in the air force at Atlantic City, Ga. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Byrd of this city. His wife, Jessie Pyron, of Roseburg, is residing in Medford, where she is engaged as a nurse in a doctor's office.

Word has been received here by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hunt, who reside on Reservoir avenue, that their son, Marshall, is in a hospital in the South Pacific receiving treatment for malaria fever. Marshall is very well known here, having attended the local schools and later working for the News-Review until called for training with the Oregon national guard. Following his year's training with the guard, he enlisted for overseas duty and was sent to Honolulu, where he had been stationed for the last year, and was just recently sent to a point in the South Pacific war theatre.

Randolph C. Jennie, son of Rudolph E. Jennie, Tennille, has been assigned to the armored forces training center at Fort Knox, Ky., according to word received here today. He will receive a 12 weeks' training program, divided into two periods of six weeks each and designed to give complete instruction in the general and specialized departments.

Pat Becker, second class petty officer in the U. S. navy, has been assigned to naval training school at Miami, Florida for a six-week course in steam engineering, according to word received by his mother, Mrs. Grace Becker, Riddle. Following his course at Miami, he will be assigned to a new naval destroyer. He recently was on duty on a destroyer in the south Pacific area. He will enter his second enlistment period in April of this year.

Clarence E. Hines, who is stationed at McChord field, Wash., has recently been promoted to the grade of staff sergeant in the U. S. army air force. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hines, Sutherlin. Sergeant Hines enlisted in the army at Vancouver barracks, Wash., January 15, 1941.

Lend-Lease Extension Gets Committee O. K.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—The house foreign affairs committee unanimously approved today a measure extending for one year the lend-lease act—mutual aid supply line between this nation and its war partners.

There was no amendment to the bill continuing the life of the act until July, 1944.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Concerning the NORTHWEST As Viewed at the National Capital

By John W. Kelly

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 24. Investigators for the senate special committee investigating progress of the war effort are now employed in the shipyards of Puget sound and Columbia river areas. Their under-cover work is to make inquiries of absenteeism. The investigators have gone through the usual procedure of a person looking for a job and have been hired without exciting suspicion. In working clothes, the investigators have been putting in their quota of hours on a shift and have kept their eyes and ears open to learn why so many workers are missing after payday. There are many shipyards in the Pacific northwest—large and small, making all kinds of craft for the navy, army and maritime commission, and in all these plants there has been more or less absenteeism.

By placing its own agents in the war industries, and particularly the shipyards, the committee hopes to obtain first-hand information as to reasons for the absenteeism. The data will come from the men and women employed, those who lay off when so inclined, and the committee will not depend upon explanations offered by operators holding the contracts. The result of the under-cover probe is expected to have a bearing on the ukase of the manpower commission to "work or fight." The agents hope also to check on reports of labor piracy by employers, the hiring of unnecessary help and holding it in a pool in anticipation of the peak, with some light upon the contributions to unions through initiation fees and monthly dues.

Later the special committee will submit its report to the senate and the public, with its observations and recommendations, after it has studied the daily reports filed by investigators in the plants. The data gathered in the northwest will be interpreted as a cross-section of absenteeism in all war plants.

Wanted: More Brooders

There is no ceiling on chickens, and OPA has been advising people to eat more chicken as a substitute for the beef they can no longer get without a struggle. This is attractive to the poultry raisers of the northwest, where more than 40,000,000 pounds of chicken was produced last year, but the growers are not satisfied, because they are unable to purchase brooders, or the type of brooders they are accustomed to. War production board set a limit of 136,000 brooders for the entire country—a drop in the bucket—but now has lifted the number to 300,000 to be manufactured this year. Many of the chicken raisers do not want a chicken brooder, explaining it is too complicated for women and children to operate and the type of coal is not satisfactory; they want oil-burning brooders.

Steel assigned for the production of farm machinery and parts is interfering with the requirements of the army and navy, it is asserted. The amount of steel allocated for farm machinery is insignificant, and lack of machinery is one of the stumbling blocks in getting production from the farm under way this year. Someone in the army and navy made a mistake by not anticipating the steel requirements for the armed forces and in not insisting upon the expansion of steel plants; instead, they have been producing steel for the production of farm machinery and parts.

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

The welfare of the millions of the race has always depended on the brave, unselfish spirit of the few. At one time it is Noah building an ark for the saving of his house, and for preserving life on the earth. At another time it is David facing the giant who has held the armies of Israel at bay. Again it is John Wesley, bravely standing for the spiritual redemption of England's masses. Again it is George Washington and his brave soldiers putting into action Patrick Henry's words, "Give me liberty or give me death." The world was never more desperately in need of men and women who are willing to bear the pangs of its rebirth than it is now, and thank God it is not without them, men and women, "who have come to the kingdom for such a time as this." There are brave men at the world's outposts, holding the destiny of civilization in their hands, sworn to preserve humanity's freedom or die. There are scientists forgetting self to battle disease or to discover more of nature's mysteries for humanity's blessing. There are noble ministers battling here and sin to lift the world toward God, and bind it as "with golden chains about His feet." All are heroes, or heroes in man's conflict with the forces at work to destroy noble manhood and womanhood. Amen.

Guest Artist Billed On KRRR Tonight

Mrs. Homer Grow, pianist, and Mrs. Morris Roach, violinist, will appear on KRRR's Guest Artist series this evening at 7:15. Their program includes a group of Franz Schubert's songs, including "Thou Art Repose," "Hark, Hark, the Lark," and "By the Sea," to be offered by Mrs. Grow, and Mrs. Roach will play "Ave Maria" as a violin solo. The second group will feature the music of Edward MacDowell, with Mrs. Roach playing "To a Wild Rose" and Mrs. Grow playing two numbers from "New England Idylls," "Improvisations" and "Mid-Summer."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 16 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisons waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start aching backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with a stinging or burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 16 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisons and waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.
