Retroactive Pay To Fir, Plywood Workers Ordered

PORTLAND, Ore., March 3.—(AP)—Fir and plywood plants of the Pacific northwest were under orders today to give retroactive pay increases to employees who did not get them December 17.

On that date the west coast lumber commission ordered a 90-cent wage minimum, retroactive to May 1 in some cases. This retroactive increase and the commission order extended to the higher wage brackets.

Some employers protested they already had given increases in some of the higher brackets and the additional raises would throw wage scales out of line.

The commission rejected this protest yesterday on the grounds there was no established pay standard in the upper brackets. Chairman Ben H. Kizer said, however, research is continuing with the hope of setting industry-wide standards in the future.

In another decision, applying to both pine and fir regions, the commission authorized temporary piece rate increases whenever snow conditions cut fallers' and buckers' earnings below normal. Such temporary adjustments need no longer be reported to the commission, Kizer said, although fallers and buckers must agree to the pay changes.

Title at Stake In Clash Between O.S.C., Huskies

SEATTLE, March 4.—(AP)—Oregon State and Washington will square off here tomorrow and Saturday nights in the major engagements of the northern division season finale—a season of tense campaigning until Washington State faded from the picture during its Oregon campaign.

The Cougars will meet the University of Idaho on the same nights to close the season for all teams.

The entire burden of stopping the Huskies' bid for the title rests with Oregon State, which must win both games to keep Washington from gaining undisputed possession. A double victory for the Beavers will bring about a tie between them, Oregon and the Huskies. The Huskies need but one victory to take the crown.

The Huskies are in top physical shape and an added interest in the series will be guard Bill Morrak's attempt to establish a new division scoring record. He needs but 16 points in the two games.

Quick Thinker Saves Seven Lives From Fire

PORTLAND, Ore., March 4.—(AP)—Quick-thinking Albert Scheffers, shipyard worker, was credited yesterday with saving seven lives from a fire that destroyed a two-story flat late last night.

The blaze broke out in the lower floor, where the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Moore were sleeping. The trio, the eldest 7, ran upstairs to the Scheffers' apartment. Flames cut off their escape.

Scheffers called to neighbors, threw down blankets and told them to spread a rescue net.

Then he tossed the three young Moores and his own two children into the net. Scheffers and his wife followed.
