Carrier of New Type Makes Debut

TACOMA, Wash., April 5.—(AP)—A new-type aircraft carrier, the U. S. S. Breton, today is ready for the fleet after successful trials.

Because of necessary censorship, the big Tacoma plant of the

This Bomber Flew Home on Its Imagination

Its huge tail sheared almost completely off when hit by a German plane with a dead pilot at the controls, this American Flying Fortress, piloted by Kenneth Bragg, nevertheless managed to limp to its home base after completing its bombing mission over North Africa. The plane made a perfect landing but the fuselage broke in half when some one opened the door the next day.

New Show Tomorrow

Jack Oakie, Janet Blair, Don Ameche are the three principals in "Something To Shout About," with William Gaxton and Cobina Wright, Jr. Coming Wednesday to the Indian.

Seattle-Tacoma shipbuilding corporation has been tuning out what have been announced as "escort vessels," but today the censor's lid came off and the Breton was revealed as an escort carrier of the first rank.

She maneuvers in a small circle, reverse her engines, reaches full speed ahead again within a short time and zigzags while landlubbers below decks can barely notice if the carrier is even under way.

Primarily an offensive ship, the carrier also is well-armed for defense. In addition she is equipped with the latest type of apparatus designed for protection against mines.

The ship uses both steam and diesel power and contains all the comforts of home from sewing machines for parachutes to a soda fountain. She can carry 1,000 men or more, but the actual complement is a naval secret as well as the number of planes. Such a ship costs eight to nine million dollars.

Milk Shortage Not Due to Cows Killed, Assertion

PORTLAND, April 6.—(AP)—The Office of War Information said today any incipient milk shortage in Oregon cannot be blamed on the number of dairy cows slaughtered in the past year.

The OWI said Department of Agriculture statistics showed dairy cattle increased 4 per cent in Oregon in 1942. Demand for dairy cows far exceeds the supply, a prepared statement said.

"The farm security administration with orders from farmers for 1500 head of good dairy cows, cows it can buy are sent into regions where farmers can feed readily and want to increase their herds," the statement said.

The OWI said stockyard reports showed a heavy run of dairy cattle for slaughtering last fall in the culling season, but light receipts now.

Any good cow can be sold for more as a milk animal than as a beef animal, the statement said.

Dairymen evidently fear the post-war future, the OWI said, since they are not keeping heifers and calves. The FSA, which could buy only 20 milk cows in 800 months, was able to buy 800 calves in the same period.

The OWI said Oregon's population grew 4 per cent from 1940 to this year and that milk consumption increased, adding that price increases in that period failed, except in a few communities, to increase the supply of milk.

Blair Stewart, district OPA price officer, was quoted in the statement as saying a general price increase on milk would result in dairymen bidding up the values of cows, feed and labor, each a relatively scarce commodity, without increasing production materially.

Soviet Ship Lost In North Pacific; 54 Aboard Rescued

SEATTLE, April 6.—(AP)—Forty-five Russian seamen and nine women from their small merchant ship relaxed here today after their rescue over rocky Pacific coastal areas in a 24-hour operation which coast guard officers described as one of the most difficult feats in the service's Pacific coast annals.

The ship was one of two small Russian vessels which the navy department reported yesterday to have run aground off the north Pacific coast of the United States.

They were in addition to the rescue several weeks ago of 64 persons from a storm-pounded vessel of unannounced nationality at an isolated north Pacific spot, which was disclosed here for the first time yesterday by participants in the salvage operations. Two lives were lost in the wintry seas.

The rescue from the Russian vessel occurred last Friday. One woman of the ship's crew was lost in an attempted lifeboat launching. Another was injured severely.

The ship was expected to be a total loss.

No details were known here of the other Russian freighter reported aground by the navy.
