Date-Starved U. C. Co-Eds Try Rationing Men

Take your pick, girls, but be careful of those ration points. Due to the manpower shortage on the University of California campus, a "War Manpower Rationing Board," strictly unofficial, of course, has been set up to ration "dates." Here, a group of mere male students, with ration point values pinned on them, undergo the scrutiny of prospective feminine "purchasers."

Driver License Applicants Fail In Manual Test

Applicants for driver's licenses should make more careful study of the Oregon manual for motor vehicle drivers before appearing for examination, according to Ward McReynolds, southern Oregon district examiner, who was in Roseburg today for the regular weekly examinations. A large percentage of drivers are failing their tests simply because they failed to make thorough study of the manual, McReynolds states.

"On a recent visit to a city in southwestern Oregon," McReynolds said, 72 applications for operator's licenses were filed, but only 31 of the applicants passed the examination and 41 failed, principally because of the lack of proper preparation.

"Regardless of what driving experience a person may have had, a thorough study of the manual is advisable before attempting the examination."

"The examination law, administered by the secretary of state, is an essential public service. The examination of drivers is a program of education on the safety rules of the road and proper and safe driving practices. It is true that the lowering of speeds and reduction of the number of cars travelling the highways the past few months has reduced the number of accidents, but a tremendous price is still exacted in vital war materials to repair damaged automobiles, not to mention the man-hours lost to essential industry through injury.

"The Oregon driver's examination is practical but not difficult, providing one is thoroughly prepared. But failure to be fully equipped for this examination means that an applicant must try again and thus duplicate driving miles with attendant waste of gasoline and tires. A driving test cannot be given anyone, regardless of driving experience, until a test of traffic regulations has been satisfactorily passed."

Mystery Malady Kills Wild Game In Lower Umpqua

REEDSPORT, April 20.—The mysterious disease which has been decimating the deer population in several sections of the lower Umpqua river territory is causing anxiety among ranchers who fear the malady may spread to domestic animals and cause heavy losses.

A late survey made by State Officer Miles gave no encouragement that the danger was over, and, if anything, had increased, as other wild animals than deer have been found dead and believed victims of the disease. Miles said five dead deer were found on the ranch of Ray Dailey of Smith river. Miles was in the Dean's creek district and was informed there were no deer there, although numerous dead ones had been seen.

Dead mink are not an uncommon find, Officer Miles learned, and Oscar Olson reported he had seen a number, while George Karjudiaff reported a beaver on his place had died. Informers all were of the opinion the dead animals were victims of the current affliction.

White Defeats Thomas; Armstrong Next Foe

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—(AP)—A Baltimore Negro, Luther (Slugger) White, has earned a shot at Henry Armstrong, and probably will get it.

White, a human buzz-saw inside the ropes, hammered John

Thomas, a topnotch Negro boxer of Los Angeles, all around the ring here last night. Thomas, who had won 30 straight fights until the Gary, Ind., Negro, Willie Joyce, shaded him a few weeks ago, came mighty close to suffering the first knockout of his career. The bell saved him that ignominy in the first round.

Washington Trims A's In Baseball's Debut

The Washington Senators subdued the Philadelphia Athletics, 7-5, yesterday in the nation's capital and took over first place in the American league for at least one day. It was the only game in the major leagues. Today all teams are scheduled.

In winning the inaugural the Senators confirmed the suspicions of many observers that play this season would be more slowly, that the ball is "more dead" and that crowds in midweek will be smaller.

The turnout for the inaugural was the smallest in many years at Washington, 25,093, and the game itself was a stumbling affair with the Senators making three errors and the Athletics calling on four hurlers.

Legion Sponsors New Boy Scout Troop, Sutherlin

The American Legion at Sutherlin has completed the organization of a new Boy Scout troop according to Bruce Elliott, district scout chairman for the Douglas district of the Willamet Area Council, Boy Scouts of America. The troop has been meeting for about five weeks and is starting off with a registered membership of 13 boys. There are a number of prospects for additional membership and a troop of about eighteen or twenty scouts is expected within the next two months.

The troop committee appointed by the American Legion consists of Harry Chenoweth, chairman, and Paul Athley and Vernon Squire. Charles Watson has assumed the duties of scoutmaster, and John D. Collier, both of assistant scoutmaster. Both Watson and Collier have had extensive scouting experiences in and near Chicago.

"The addition of this troop", said Elliott, "brings to eleven the number of scouting units registered and active in this district which includes all of Douglas County, except Reedsport and Gardiner.

Another Troop Forming
A new Boy Scout troop is forming at Myrtle Creek, according to Len B. Flahback, district organization chairman for the Douglas district. The troop will be sponsored by the Church of Christ and meet in the city hall. Kenneth Watson has assumed the job of scoutmaster under the direction of the troop committee headed by Mr. Powell.

About fifteen boys are now working on their tenderfoot requirements pending the final organization and registration of the troop.

When registered this troop will boost the Boy Scouts membership in this district above two hundred.

Are YOU what the Axis thinks you are?

SOFT from easy living...
GULLIBLE to propaganda...
UNWILLING to sacrifice...

Those are only a few of the unpleasant things the Axis is saying about the American people. They are convinced that America will crack up at home—that Americans haven't got what it takes to win the war on the home front.

They have learned to respect our men, our planes, our guns and tanks and ships. Let's teach them to respect the men and women behind those fighting forces.

The time has come for American homes to strike back—to take the aggressive just as our armies have taken the aggressive on the battle fronts of the world.

- You can strike back by conserving food, clothing, transportation.
- You can strike back by salvaging essential materials.
- You can strike back by refusing to spread rumors.
- You can strike back by buying War Savings Bonds and Stamps.
- You can strike back by preparing your home against air raids.

With the American home front entering its aggressive phase, the V-Home drive provides the opportunity for this direct and united aggressive action against the enemy.

If we are to have a hard-hitting army of 11,000,000 men on the fighting front we must have a hard-hitting army of 125,000,000 on the home front.

Rededicate your home to Victory, and keep it that way! Let's make the V-Home sticker on our window more than just a slogan—let's make it a symbol—the symbol of our will to win!
