News of 4-H CLUBS

The Reedsport 4-H clubs held their achievement program at the grade school last Friday. The exhibits were of high quality and every member enrolled completed all projects enrolled for.

Mrs. Vivian Kershner scored the exhibits in clothing and home cookery. Jean Turner and Patricia Calkins judged every exhibit for practice. Ribbons were awarded and premiums paid.

Following the judging, several demonstrations were presented as well as several entertainment features.

The Edenbower Forestry club, led by Mrs. Curtis Calkins, made an overnight field trip Saturday and Sunday. County Club Agent Britton took the members for Mrs. Calkins to the Wolf Creek CCC camp. They made several short trips for tree identification and also for the purpose of securing leaves and bark from mature trees for their exhibits. Those who made the trip were Dean Bartlett, Jim Slater, Douglas Moore, Steve Hess, Sammie Sulter, Duane Pope, Jimmy Rayner and Earl Baquet.

The Reedsport Lions club has raised $200 for a special production contest for the club members of the west end of the county. $100 of this will go to livestock members, $50 to gardening, $25 to canning and $25 to poultry. The contest will be conducted on the same basis as that sponsored by the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce and conducted by the Roseburg Lions club. In this contest for the central, the north and south sections, there is $700 in special awards for production.

Next Monday morning will start the judging of all 4-H exhibits coming under clothing, cookery, arts and crafts, forestry and woodworking.

The judges begin Monday at
