the war) was a bad one.

WITHIN the limits of possibility, EVERYBODY should try to come out of this war with his PRIVATE debts paid off. If that can be done, maybe we can survive the crushing weight of NA-TIONAL debt that will have to be faced.

SENATOR BYRD (Virginia) who for years has been hacking away at needless government extravagance, estimates that government travel and communication bills, EXCLUSIVE of the war and navy departments, will total more than a hundred million dollars this year.

He thinks a lot of the hundred million will be wasted and calls upon congress to do something about it before it is too late.

FOR years Senator Byrd has been protesting reckless waste and extravagance in government, but so far he has been a lone voice crying in the wilderness and practically no one has paid any attention to him.

When the time comes to PAY for all this extravagance (not related to the fighting of the war) he will have more credit in the eyes of the American people.

It will then, of course, be TOO LATE to do anything about it but PAY UP.

THE bulk of the home front news of late (aside from the floods in the Mississippi valley) is concerned with labor disturbances, which must stiffen enemy morale greatly by arousing (false) hopes of industrial collapse in this country.

We must remember that the Jap and German propagandists are magnifying these disturbances to the full extent of their ability, seeking in every way known to them to make it appear that the United States is tottering on the verge of internal break-up.

The Japs and the Germans would LIKE to believe this as much as we'd like to believe they're about to crack up from the inside.

THE machinists, with a half million members, are quitting the A.F.L. Their complaint is that the carpenters' union is muscling in on the dues.

PERMITTING these disturbances in wartime appears to this writer to be evidence of bad leadership, which MISREPRE-SENTS the very real patriotism of the rank and file of dues paying workers, who have sons and brothers in the armed services, and are loyally doing all they can to advance the war effort so that the job may be finished and their boys can come home.

About the only explanation that can be offered is that the leaders are blinded by the big money that is pouring in under the pressures of the war effort.

Two Douglas WAACs
 Complete Training

Phyllis J. Crumpacker, Umpqua, and Ada H. Weaver, Roseburg, who have been receiving specialist training at the WAAC headquarters, Fort Des Moines, Iowa, have completed their respective courses in the administrative school. The course is designed to instruct WAACs concerning military office routine necessary to carry on maintenance of army records. Both are now ready for active assignment in non-combat and army service.

THE DEBT WE OWE OUR DEAD

EDITORIAL

By Charles V. Stanton

EXCEPT for a few of the Confederate states, the nation will pause in its normal activities Sunday and Monday to pay tribute to the soldier and sailor dead of the past and current wars. Speakers throughout the nation will eulogize the men and women who gave their lives in the service of their country.
 Flags will bedeck the last resting places of those who once proudly wore the uniforms of the military services.

It is entirely appropriate that we honor those who have served their country well by tributes of oratory, hymns and the solemn notes of bugles. It is well that we recall their brave deeds and sacrifices and that we publicly acknowledge our debt of gratitude. But we must not stop with parades, ceremonies and oratory. We owe more to our heroic dead than mere lip service. Our responsibility goes far beyond a display of flags.
 We must be determined that the principles for which they gave their lives shall be upheld, maintained and defended. We must act to free the world from the scourge of war. We must be prepared, as were those we honor, to give our lives, if necessary, to the cause of freedom.

If we, the living, are to pay our debt to the dead; if we are to keep the faith with the brave men fighting today upon the battlefronts of the world, we must do all within human possibility to insure against future war.

In the midst of our anxiety and labor today we look forward to that time when the forces of tyranny will be overthrown and peace will come again to a world weary of bloodshed and destruction. But when that time comes we must demand that there be none of the bungling, muddling, experimentation and political cleavage which have marked our war effort. We must demand that the writers of the peace terms approach their problem with the unity of purpose that marked the birth of those great human documents, the Magna Charta, The Declaration of Independence, The Constitution of the United States.

A few days ago an American sailor shouted his opinion from the congressional gallery. He was expelled for his audacity.
 His method was wrong, a fact which he acknowledged, but congress should not forget that the people of this nation have a right to be heard. The public must speak and congress must listen.

Congress for months has been debating a tax bill. Division has been on a basis of party lines rather than on honest disagreement over merits of respective proposals. We cannot tolerate such political bias to enter into decisions affecting the future peace of the world. We must insist upon sincerity of purpose, without regard to party lines. Unanimity of opinion is neither to be expected nor desired, for strength lies in honest disagreement. But we can demand elimination of political motivation.

We have seen inefficiency, extravagance, bureaucracy, political favoritism and general confusion rise to unprecedented levels in governmental administration. Such conditions cannot be tolerated in the creation of the blueprint for a post-war world.

We must and shall demand that true statesmanship guide our future destiny; that freedom, peace and security be provided for all mankind. That is the debt we owe our heroic dead.
