FAITH OF OUR SOLDIERS

EDITORIAL

By Charles V. Stanton

WE have quoted frequently from letters written by service men because they contained facts or experiences we believed would be of general interest to readers. The letters we have seen indicate a great many of our boys in the armed services are thinking serious thoughts today as well as having fun, along with their training or the dangerous combat missions in which they participate.

There has been in this war a strong religious undertone in the messages from the training camps and battle fronts. The saying, "There are no atheists in foxholes," originating from the heat of the ill-fated Bataan defense, will doubtless live for many years to come. One after another, survivors of ship and plane wrecks tell how the imperiled crews turned to the solace of prayer. Army and navy chaplains report growing attendance at, and participation in, the religious services in camps and afield.

Don Lawson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Lawson of Camas Valley, a seaman second class in the U. S. navy, writes:

"Until the last few months, since I have been in the navy, I never realized what a privilege it was to go to Sunday school and church every Sunday. We can go to church here if we are not on duty, but it is nothing compared to the community church back home."

The stress of war and the constant danger of sudden death compels consideration of spiritual things in the minds of service men. This has been true in all wars. We can well recall the slight bulge in the blouse pocket of the uniforms of many of our buddies in the last war, showing the presence there of a small Bible or testament which was not only carried but read. Perhaps it is because we are older and more observant, but it seems to us that the service man today is more vitally concerned with spiritual and moral subjects than we were 25 years ago.

Nearly every reformation and advancement in religious concept has followed a great war. The intermingling of men, with exchange of ideas and beliefs, together with the knowledge gained through travel and experience in foreign lands, has resulted in changing religious trends.

There is reason to believe theistic men returning from this war will bring new theories, opinions and tenets which will revolutionize our religious structure and give increased strength and power to theological science.

OUT OUR WAY

Editorials on News

It's reasonable to suppose they're just gathering strength for their next blow.

Still—
 If our side is going to invade the European continent, you may be certain that as we hit from one side the Russians will hit from the other, with the idea of making the Germans fight at the front door and the back door at the same time.

That is the situation Germany has always dreaded and tried to avoid.

WE've taken Attu, after an assault on the Japs on Fish Hook ridge. Our boys had to scale a 60-degree slope in the face of heavy fire to get at them.

THE next time you're tempted to cry about the hard time civilians are having on the home front, picture to yourself those boys scaling blizzard-swept Fish Hook ridge in the face of Jap machine guns.

IN the South Pacific, the bombers are busy on both sides. We're hammering the Jap bases in the New Guinea and to the north and the Japs take a crack at a point near Darwin, in Australia. British bombers raid Mandalay, in Burma.

ON the home front, Byrnes is named as a new czar-of-all-cars to tell the other czars where to head in, Congress is said to be "visibly pepped up" by the new development.
 Better wait a while before throwing up your hat and yelling yourself hoarse.

The mess on the home front is an awful mess, and every czar (with the possible exception of blunt-speaking Rubber Czar Jeffers) seems to have made the mess messier.

Maybe Super-Czar Byrnes can clean it up. We all hope so. But it will do no harm to wait for results before coming in strong with the applause.

THIS writer sometimes gets so radical as to think that if we had fewer czars to drive us and more plain, simple explanations of what it's all about and appeals for our loyal, patriotic CO-OPERATION, we might get farther with the war effort on the home front.

DIAL LOG
 By SUSAN
 Well, 'twas a nice weekend, but here we are again. Hope you have found all your favorite programs again after the big change-over. To be perfectly honest, we aren't always sure just where they were put, but we can always be sure of the new Welcome Inn, because we're having lots of fun with it down here and hope all you folks, both newcomers and old neighbors, too, are listening in.

Well, this being Tuesday, let's see what's cooking for Wednesday: There's California Melodies again in the afternoon (4:30), that's Leo Arnaud's orchestra, with Maxine Gray as soloist, you know; then you'll hear Soldiers With Wings (6:30) this week, with Edward G. Robinson as one of the guests, Miss Gladys Strong will present this week's Recital Hall of the Air, and we'll try to have a list of the students taking part in it for you tomorrow. Take A Card (8:00) and Sherlock Holmes (8:30)—after which you'll get our favorite news reporter, Glen Hardy—and then Cal Tinney. And by the way, how are you all liking the new commentator, Philip Keyne Gordon? Let's hear from you.

- F. E. Cavender, Former Roseburg Resident, Dies
 Frank E. Cavender, 76, former Roseburg resident, died at his home in Portland Saturday following a short illness. Born in Iowa, November 21, 1866, he was employed for 47 years as a car builder for the Southern Pacific railroad company, spending approximately 20 years in Roseburg. He moved to Portland about 30 years ago and was retired in 1937.
 Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Audrey L. Wright, and a son, Clyde E. Cavender, both of Portland, a brother, Myron Cavender, Ingleswood, Calif., and a sister, Mrs. S. S. Fulkerson, Portland.
 Funeral services were held in Portland Monday.

Grand Jury Probe Asked of Seattle Vice Conditions

SEATTLE, May 29.—(AP)—A petition to the superior court judges of King county to call a grand jury "for the purpose of correcting factors impeding local law enforcement," added fuel today to the controversy raging over the Seattle vice situation.

The petition was received yesterday by Superior Judge Calvin S. Hall and was signed by the president of the Seattle Council of Parents and Teachers and a Methodist minister.

Meanwhile, the vice problem appeared likely to develop a battle between Mayor William F. Dwyer and Police Chief Herbert Kimsey.

Kimsey earlier in the week announced he was considering resigning because of the pressure. But after the mayor announced yesterday that the chief, who is just out of a hospital, would be replaced, the officer reversed his stand and announced he would not resign "under such circumstances."

With the federal government threatening to invoke the May act unless the vice problem is corrected, Stuart R. Stimmel, representative of the Federal Security agency, said his organization urged the "resignation or removal of Chief Kimsey" and a shakeup of the police department, "because prostitution has not been effectively dealt with in this city."

The government, however, has no candidate for chief, and will not have, he said.

Bird Life Authority to Speak at Baptist Church

Charles B. Hutchins, naturalist and authority on bird life, will present a program at the First Baptist church in Roseburg at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, Mr. Hutchins will speak on the theme "Birds of the Bible, the Kind of Birds Jesus Heard." His talk will be illustrated by pastel paintings. Colored charts and large oil paintings of birds will be on display.

Mrs. Hutchins, vocalist and harpist, will assist Mr. Hutchins. The unusual program is being presented to the community under the sponsorship of the music committee of the Baptist church. The general public is invited to attend.

Lumber Retailers to Attend Price Conference

The Office of Price Administration is urging attendance of lumber retailers at a meeting to be held in Portland at 10 a. m., June 4, according to word received from the Klamath Falls district office. Peter A. Stone, executive of the lumber branch of the OPA, Washington, D. C., will meet with retail lumber association officers and with small retailers, not members of any association, to plan interim ceiling prices for retailers of softwood lumber and lumber products.

 From Douglas County
In War Service

Frank Lee Calkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Calkins, Roseburg, has qualified as an army air force technician, recently completing intensive training in aircraft department at the Curtis Wright technical training command school at Santa Monica, Calif. He had previously completed a course in basic training.

Eugene Grant Meade, son of Mrs. Harry B. Todd, Winchester, has reported at the U. S. naval training station at Farragut, Idaho, where he will be taught the fundamentals of seamanship, military discipline and will undergo rigorous physical hardening.

Food Farm WAR NEWS

LIVESTOCK FEED
 Production intentions for 52,543 Oregon farms, as reported on 1943 farm plans, show that more livestock will be produced in the state than ever before. Feeding this greatly expanded livestock population will require use of every available resource to produce and conserve livestock feed, Douglas county farmers are reminded by the county USDA War wheat carry-over—almost as large as last year's record figures—is an invaluable reserve of feed grains, there is no such reserve of hay supplies. Although farm plan intentions show an 80,000-acre increase in hay acreage this year, the war board suggests saving of crop by-products, such as pea and grain straw, to supplement forage supplies.

RELEASES FROM ARMY
 The army has discontinued the practice of discharging men over 35, but such men can now be transferred to the Enlisted Reserve corps and released to return to essential war jobs, including agriculture. Application is made by the enlisted man to his commanding officer, supported by a written statement from his prospective employer. The release must be approved by the State Director of Selective Service. Under certain conditions, soldiers may also be furloughed for up to 90 days to do essential farm work. This applies mostly to highly skilled men, such as harvestor operators.

CUSTOM SLAUGHTER RULES
 OPA regulations have been changed to permit farmers to have livestock custom slaughtered and take delivery of the meat for home consumption without surrendering ration points. This applies only to meat consumed on the farm. Meat custom-slaughtered for consumption anywhere except on the farm where it was produced cannot be delivered unless ration stamps are surrendered.

Profits for Seed Growers Assured By Loan Pogram

Douglas county growers of hay and pasture seeds are assured favorable returns through the new Commodity Credit loan program for these important seed crops, believes Leo Sparks, chairman of the AAA committee.

Purpose of this loan program, Mr. Sparks explained, is to encourage a production sufficient to make expanded plantings of forage crops needed to feed the increased numbers of livestock, and to send seed to Russia and other United Nations to restore to production lands that are freed from axis occupation.

In addition to the loans, growers may earn a production practice payment under the 1943 AAA program of $3.50 an acre for harvesting perennial grass and legume seed, the chairman reminded. Maximum payment to one grower is $21.

Any producer meeting 90 per cent of his farm's warcrop goal is eligible to participate in the loan program. Loans will be made through the county AAA office, and will be handled in the same manner as the wheat and barley loan program. Loans will be made on seed stored in approved warehouses.

Loan rates will be based on purity, germination and weed seed content, with appropriate differentials for lower grades of seed. Certified improved varieties will command a higher rate than common varieties. A list of the improved varieties eligible for the higher rate will be announced.

Loan rates for top grades of hay and pasture seed, for both common and improved varieties, are as follows: Alsike clover, 22 cents; ladino clover, 65 cents; alfalfa, 30 and 37 cents; biennial white sweet clover, 7 and 13 cents; biennial yellow sweet clover, 6 and 12 cents; biennial mixed sweet clover, 5 cents; timothy, 4 and 9 cents; smooth bromegrass, 11 and 15 cents; orchard grass, 18 and 23 cents.

Loans will be available on the 1943 crop of these seeds through December 31, 1943, and will mature April 30, 1944.
