

Local Guard Unit Needs Recruits

The local Oregon State Guard company will meet at 8 o'clock tonight for its regular drill period, but an early dismissal is planned to permit members to attend the Victory program at Finlay field, Captain S. C. Dunn announced today. Captain Dunn is urging all members of his command to attend the program to night and to buy all the bonds and stamps they can afford.

Company enrollment, he reports, has dropped to three officers and 90 enlisted men. More recruits are needed to rebuild to the minimum strength of 100 men. The company can recruit a total of more than 200.

Members must be American citizens between the ages of 16 and 65 years, of generally good physical ability, owners of some type of firearms and able to drill for a period of two hours each week.

Men interested in joining the local company are requested to be at the armory at 8 p. m. any Thursday. At other times applicants can contact Captain Dunn or Lieutenant John L. Saunders.

Needs W. L. B. Approval

The separate agreement must be approved by the War Labor board which called a public hearing today on all the phases of the entire row. Lewis, who has ignored the WLB, conceded that the settlement was subject to "all properly authorized government agencies." With WLB approval, the pact could form a basis for general peace in the coal fields, disrupted twice by walkouts in recent weeks.

One obstacle, affecting every consumer of coal, stood in the way of final settlement. Lewis said the Pennsylvania pact was contingent "on necessary approval of prices permitting the agreement to become effective." In other words, the operators consent to hike wages if they can get more money per ton.

Secretary Ickes said today that miners who participated in the June 1-7 walkout from government operated pits would be fined in accordance with their contracts, which usually provide penalties of $1 per day if a miner fails to work without good reason.

Ickes acted as federal boss of the mines.

The volatile Rome radio in a welter of words during the night, indicated that the Pantelleria garrison was under orders to resist, declaring that allied appeals for its surrender had been scorned by its defenders "proudly accepting all privations and sacrifices."

Czechs recalled today was the first anniversary of the massacre of Lidice, when an entire village was destroyed by the Germans for having harbored the assassins of Reinhardt Heydrich, reich's protector for Bohemia and Moravia.

"Mussolini is beginning today to suffer the consequences of his cruelties and treacheries," Czech comment ran. "It must be a dismal, fearful anniversary for him. Tomorrow it will be Hitler's turn to feel the crushing blow of justice."

As though to lend weight to this prediction came the announcement last night that a sizable new contingent of United States soldiers had arrived recently in a British port after a fast trip without incident.
