

Bombing of Rome Deplored by Heads Of Catholic Faith

(By the Associated Press) The Rome radio broadcast today what is described as a letter written by Pope Pius XII to Francesco Cardinal Marchetti-Salvagiani, his vicar-general for the district of Rome, deploring Monday's bombing of Rome.

The broadcast quoted the pope as recalling his efforts, as bishop of Rome, to insure the safety of the city and then saying:

"But alas our hope was vain. And now what we feared has happened. That which we foresaw now is sad reality, for one of the noted Roman basilicas, that of San Orenzo outside the walls, venerated by all Catholics for its antique memories, is now in great part destroyed. Upon seeing the ruins of this noted temple the words of the prophet Jeremiah come to memory."

Previously the Vatican radio had reported that the basilica of San Lorenzo had been badly damaged in the raid and that the pope had visited it.

HACKENSACK, N. J., July 21 (AP)—Monsignor Eugene S. Burke, former rector of the American seminary in Rome, today expressed satisfaction that American aviators had bombed that city, at the same time voicing gratitude that care had been taken to spare nonmilitary structures.

Now pastor of Holy Trinity church, Hackensack, the monsignor said:

"The axis may no longer hide behind the walls of the eternal city. Probably the pope was sitting in the vatican thanking God that Rome had at last been bombed. He would realize that while innocents surely would suffer as a result, that it is necessary in order to rid the world of fascism. It was a military job and a well done one."

DETROIT, July 21 (AP)—The most Rev. Edward Mooney, archbishop of Detroit, and chairman of the administrative board of the National Catholic Welfare conference, in a statement yesterday expressed "surprise and regret" at the bombing of Rome, but added that the fascist government of Italy could have made bombing unnecessary.

The fascist government, the archbishop said, "could have declared Rome an open city and acted in sincere conformity with that declaration."

More Shelters Urged by Civilian Defense Director

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Too many people are "milling around" street corners of big American cities when air raid test alarms sound, said James E. Landis, director of civilian defense, in proposing today that more shelter areas be provided.

Otherwise commendable preparations against air raids have been "marred by a deplorable lack of shelters" for those caught on the streets when the warnings sound, Landis declared in a statement. He sent to local defense councils specifications for air raid shelters as a hint for them to look around and see what can be done.

"Minutes after the air raid warning is given, it is not unusual to find people still on the streets looking in vain for a public shelter," said Landis.

Enemy demolition bombs in the theatre and shopping sections under these conditions could cause casualties that might have been averted by proper shelters, he emphasized.

Most owners of hotels, department stores, and similar public places have provided shelter areas "but a great many smaller business establishments have not provided areas and have made little or no such provision," Landis asserted.

An inquiry showed that many of the smaller shelters have not been properly marked, and were found to have been locked or otherwise unavailable during a test.

He urged all communities to canvass their shelter situation.

THE FOOD PROBLEM

Somewhere in New Guinea—Corporal Leo Simon of Venice, Calif., former Los Angeles Daily News dramatic critic, was signaling planes bringing food into a forward area.

He noted what appeared to be a bomb, and fled so hastily his helmet fell off.

A heavy tin of Australian biscuits crashed directly on the helmet, 6 feet behind the corporal.
