ANOTHER FIRST FOR ROSEBURG

EDITORIAL

By Charles V. Stanton

THE Roseburg business and professional interests composing the Roseburg Victory Council, an organization which made its declaration of purpose in Friday's News-Review, have a right to be very proud of their club, as it places the community in the forefront of Oregon localities in preparation for sponsored cooperation with the Third War Loan campaign.

The Roseburg Victory Council is an organization of approximately 80 business and professional firms and individuals united in a cooperative war-aid advertising campaign. Each member pays a weekly membership fee to be used exclusively to advertise and promote projects connected with the war effort or outstanding community events. The advertising program is directed by the retail merchants committee of the chamber of commerce.

The federal government is urging more and more advertising cooperation. The use of advertising columns in newspapers, coupled with sponsored radio time, has been found of the utmost importance for inspiration, information and general morale building, government leaders report.

Almost daily, newspapers receive large bundles of proof sheets, mats and other advertising material and are instructed to solicit sponsorship from advertisers. Obviously, it is impossible for newspapers with limited personnel to canvass the business districts daily with a continuing appeal for war-aid cooperation. The Victory Council plan adopted in Roseburg provides a fund for just such purpose, eliminating the need for future solicitation and saving further annoyance to the busy merchant or professional man.

Through formation of the Victory Council, Roseburg at the present time is leading all cities in Oregon in the amount of cooperative advertising pledged to the Third War Loan drive, which will be conducted throughout the month of September.

For several weeks the Oregon War Finance committee has been urging newspapers to secure sponsors for the great war bond advertising campaign that has been outlined.

The News-Review has been informed it will receive 14 full-page and 10 smaller advertisements for which it has been directed to find sponsors. Obviously, this campaign is larger than will probably be used.

But a bulletin from the state committee reports that a good amount of space already has been sold by newspapers throughout the state and the Oregon Statesman at Salem is credited with finding advance sponsorship for three full pages.

The committee is being notified, however, that Roseburg already is far ahead of Salem, as the commitments of the Roseburg Victory Council provide space equivalent to six and one-half full pages.

Membership in the council is still open and growing. Other names are expected to be added to the 80 already participating. In addition several firms will sponsor individual war-aid advertisements along with their regular advertising space.

Thus the worth of the Victory Council plan already has been proven.

Layton, at Trial, Denies Murdering Ruth Hildebrand

DALLAS, Ore., Aug. 21—(AP)—The first-degree murder trial of Richard H. Layton, former Monmouth police chief charged with slaying Ruth Hildebrand, 17, was in adjournment today.

Circuit Judge Walker, after an eventful day that saw the state close its case against Layton and the former policeman take the stand in his own defense, ordered the courtroom closed until Monday.

Layton testified the drowning of the girl was accidental. It occurred while he and the girl, both nude, were playing tag on the Willamette river bank near Buena Vista the night of June 7, he said.

He said he had offered her a ride home after she missed the last bus from Monmouth, and that she accompanied him voluntarily into the "lover's lane" road near Buena Vista.

When she splashed into the water, he became frightened, threw her clothes into the river and went home without reporting the mishap, Layton testified.

Dr. Herman A. Diekel, Portland psychiatrist called by the defense, said he was convinced Layton was a moron. He testified Layton's reactions were slow, his ability to work poor. He estimated Layton's mentality as that of a nine-year-eight-month old boy.

District Attorney Spaulding, who accuses Layton of shoving the girl into the river while assaulting her, dropped an attempt to introduce testimony Layton gave before the Polk county grand jury.

LETTERS to the Editor

Editor News-Review: It is great to be living in the beautiful South Umpqua valley, especially on the Canyonville-Days Creek road, for here we have the answer to "Who Is My Neighbor?" I wish all who forget to be thankful, along with work and worry, could have been at the Knight ranch on the date of Sunday, August 15. No one would have guessed there was any shortage of manpower on the farm.

Being alone, I thought I had a problem in finding help to get my grain threshed, but it was no problem to my neighbors in the valley and on the hillsides. I had been told the threshers would be here Sunday, but they could furnish only a part of the crew. So I did some writing and prepared for what I thought 11 or 12 men would need for dinner.

About 7:30 Sunday morning, Jack Gaulke came through the barn lot at his usual speed, pulling the separator. Following were trucks, tractors, trailers and a team and wagon belonging to Anna Worthington, and an endless string of men with pitchforks over their shoulders—22 in all—and the threshing job on the Knight ranch was on its way. But that was not all.

A little later came the cooks, 12 of them, bringing such an array of oats we could have fed two crews. We had everything and the trimmings from roasts and salads to apple pie; from chili beans to ice cream. But best of all, "the grain is in the bins, the straw is in the stack and the pigs are in the stubble."

So now you know why I say it is a joy to live on the Canyonville-Days Creek road. If you have a problem you can't handle, tell it to Days Creek.

LOU KNIGHT.

Conditions Fixed for Jehovahites' Session

EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 21—(AP)—Members of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect continued their annual conference here today, their differences with civilian defense and county authorities apparently ironed out.

Howard Merriam, Lane county defense coordinator, dropped a demand that the conference be prohibited. He conferred with a representative of the sect and county officials, afterwards announcing the precautions.

Merriam said the sect agreed not to use a sound truck to advertise the meeting. Sect members also were asked to stop distributing pamphlets on Eugene streets, he said.

Curtin's Party Wins in Australian Election

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 21—(AP)—A pronounced trend toward the labor party of Prime Minister John Curtin was indicated late today in a partial count of votes cast by nearly 4,500,000 Australians in their first general election in three years. The voting was for all 75 seats in the house of representatives and 19 of the 36 senate posts. The other 17 senators are holdovers. Preliminary tonight—four hours after the polls closed—indicated a strong possibility the labor party would gain from 9 to 14 seats in the house of representatives. The party previously had 36 of them.

In Australia, as in Britain, the leader of the largest party group in the lower house customarily is asked to form the government.

Scale Models of Fighting Planes to Be Exhibited Here

An interesting exhibit of scale models of U. S. fighting planes is being presented by the local Western Auto Supply company store at Roseburg.

Consisting of twenty five different planes, all built to scale, these are the same models that are now being used by our army and navy in instructing pilots, so they will recognize our own planes in the air. The elaborate window exhibit includes planes from tiny single-seater fighters to the devastating Flying Fortress.

These models are especially designed for army and navy for overhead hanging, and all angle study by future pilots, and will prove especially valuable for study by civilian defense workers such as plane spotters, air raid wardens, auxiliary police and others.

The store exhibit will be displayed throughout the coming week, after which it will be loaned to civilian defense groups for study. Reservations should be made through Jack Davis, manager of the Western Auto store at Roseburg. He will gladly cooperate, providing authorized information regarding the models and the actual planes.

NOT BY SUSAN

Come Saturday afternoon, you shouldn't miss the American Eagle Club at 4:00. You surely remember Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyons, erstwhile Hollywood stars of some years back. They EMCEE the show and interview American fighting men now stationed in England. Really good, California Melodies at 5:00—always good for 30 minutes of nice music. The Chicago Music Festival at 6:00 will replace, for one time only, the Chicago Theater of the Air and will feature music by all branches of our military services. Along the line of dance music Saturday nite, you'll hear Tommy Reynolds, Dick Khun (the Biggest Little Band in Radio) and Johnny Messner.

We have some pretty good shows on Sunday morning's sked now, and recommend "Letters To My Son" at 9:45, "Pucker Up" at 10:30, "Canary Chorus" at 10:45. This Is Fort Dix at 12:00, and "Dreamin' in Dixie" at 12:30. If you're in the mood for the really solid stuff in the line of classical music, don't miss the Hancock Ensemble at 8:00. The Ensemble once played a concert here in Roseburg and made a good many friends. All are top notch musicians. At 8:30 Sunday, you hear (we hope) "Wings Over the West Coast"—another in the series of shows being released from the army air base at Santa Ana and all are first class radio entertainment.

What do you think of "Happy Joe and Ralph", now being heard each a m. at 8:30? They'll be on again Monday morn with their nonsense. A new navy show makes its debut Monday at 1:30. It's called "Full Speed Ahead", but we have no advance dope on it. You might give a listen and see. At 4:30 Monday's you now hear "Army Air Forces", originating at one of the bases in Texas. And here is a note of real interest to some of you older dance music fans: At 6:45 Monday, the Treasury Star-Parade will feature the old Top Hatter, Ted Lewis, and his band. We haven't heard Ted for ages. On "Double or Nothing" Monday at 8:30, Iona Massey, the blond, beautiful and so on movie singing star will be guest contestant, and the show will honor the aluminum industry.

Opposition to the return of Japanese to the Pacific coast during wartime was expressed in an adopted resolution. A crushing defeat of Japan was declared to be necessary. The recommendation was presented by Hugh Bowman, state commander. The legion also adopted a recommendation to make present service men associate members, to become full members upon honorable discharge from the service.
