fields into the Norwegian fjord where she has been hidden and damage the German battleship Tirpitz, probably putting her out of commission for at least a while.

The point is that as long as the Tirpitz is ready to fight, enough British naval strength to HANDLE her has to be kept in the vicinity.

In Italy, Clark and his 5th army are lined up on the south side of the rain-swollen Volturno—100 feet to 200 yards wide and with steep banks 10 to 15 feet high at most places.

Clark's job is to GET ACROSS in the face of German fire.

BACK in 1859, it took the Italian liberator Garibaldi 24 days to get across the Volturno. Clark thinks he can do it quicker.

Garibaldi had NO PLANES. Clark is using fleets of medium, light and fighter bombers as FLYING ARTILLERY to blast the German gun positions on the enemy bank of the river.

THE Balkan situation is still obscure, but there's increasingly hard fighting on the Yugoslav side of the Adriatic.

A colonel on General Mihailovic's staff (Mihailovic heads a Yugoslav guerrilla army) says Mihailovic could put 150,000 to 180,000 men in action now to support an allied invasion and could raise the number to 300,000 if arms could be supplied.

UNFORTUNATELY characteristic of the Balkans is the fact that the Croats and the Slovenes in Yugoslavia appear from rumors leaking out to be about as ready to FIGHT EACH OTHER as to fight the Germans.

AS far as we can judge from what little has been disclosed to us, the navy attack on Wake Island last Tuesday was only another big hit-and-run raid. The Japs on Wake are reported to have been badly bashed up at comparatively little cost to us, but there is no mention that we landed forces there.

TAKING and HOLDING means landing ground forces. When we begin to take and hold as far west in the Pacific as Wake, it will be a dependable sign that we're going after the Japs for blood.

A PROJECT TO START NOW

EDITORIAL By Charles V. Stanton

WE have been hearing a great deal lately about how much better living conditions will be after the war. Manufacturers are giving us breath-taking pictures of new types of homes with all kinds of fantastic gadgets. Science is predicting new materials and methods which will revolutionize many of our habits and customs.

Much has been said, indeed, about the postwar world, but the most practical, down-to-earth discussion of that subject we have heard was delivered here Tuesday night by Bill Tugman, editor of the Eugene Register-Guard and prime mover in the Eugene postwar planning program, which has won national recognition.

What interested us most was that here is a community that proposes to do things on its own. Eugene is not proposing to make itself dependent upon federal bureaucracy for its postwar reconstruction and development. It is not awaiting any grandiose WPA, but is starting now to raise the money necessary to carry out a well-developed program that will make Eugene a far better place in which to live.

Roseburg and Douglas county, with less taxable assets than Eugene and Lane county, cannot expect to develop a program of the magnitude that is being undertaken there. But there is no reason why we cannot make some starts in the right direction.

We have long been commenting upon the fact that the city of Roseburg must give more thought to recreation if it is to remain the trade center of the Douglas county industrial area. Roseburg must have athletic and recreation fields, where the various mill teams may hold their contests. We must sponsor athletic contests and competition. We must provide playgrounds, parks, swimming pool, etc., to afford safe places of recreation for children. Unless we do these things we will not secure the greatest benefit from industry.

There are a good many projects that we can plan now and execute after the war. Certainly we should no longer neglect an organized planning program.

But it is not necessary to wait until after the war to start one project we would like to suggest. Bill Tugman said that a city, like an individual, should appear well dressed. Roseburg certainly is permitting itself to get mighty "sleazy" in its appearance. A few hundred gallons of paint would work wonders in our business district.

If every owner of business property would simply walk across the street from his building and gaze upon it with the eyes of one seeing the structure for the first time, we are quite sure that the majority would rush to the nearest paint store.

That's one project we can start without a planning committee or federal priority. A comparatively few gallons of paint, judiciously used, would give us a mighty good start toward a better town in which to live.

National War Fund Canvass Begins Monday

Solicitation for the National War Fund will get under way in Douglas county next Monday. Tom Parkinson, general chair man, announced today. Headquarters for the drive have been established in the quarters formerly occupied by The Chieftain. Materials are being furnished chairmen named in each community of the county, Parkinson said, and a canvass of all districts is expected during the week.

Douglas county will be asked to raise $15,500, which will include money for 17 national agencies and six Oregon charitable institutions.

Arrests of girls under 21 in the U. S. during the first six months of 1943 increased 64.7 per cent over the first half of the previous year.

Cold Welding Methods To Be Demonstrated

A demonstration in cold welding methods will be presented at the Lockwood garage tonight under the sponsorship of the local ODT committee. The demonstration will include motion pictures on welding methods.

The meeting will start at 7:30 o'clock and will be open to the general public, all mechanics being particularly invited to be present.

The demonstration is being held in connection with the vocational program being held here under the supervision of the Office of Defense Transportation and state vocational education department to train automobile mechanics.

Jap Liner on Way With 1,236 Freed American Captives

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(AP)—A Japanese liner steamed toward Portuguese India today carrying 1,236 Americans released from captivity, most of them missionaries and employes of corporations whose noidins were seized when the Pacific war broke out.

Also aboard the Tein maru are 221 Canadians and 40 nationals of Latin American republics. They are to be exchanged at Mormogoa for an equal number of Japanese now en route there on the Swedish exchange liner Gripsholm.

The vessels travel with lights ablaze, deliberately seeking to be conspicuous so that their diplomatic status, guaranteed by the nations concerned, can be observed by commerce raiders.

The state department, making the names public last night, listed such prominent Americans as the Rev. and Mrs. William J. Axling, of New York, he was a missionary in Japan for many years; Raymond P. Cronin, Associated Press Bureau chief in Manila, and his wife, along with Russell Brines of Honolulu who was a member of Cronin's staff; Mrs. C. Ferguson of Newton, Mass., former adviser to the Chinese government; and William T. Alexander, of Chicago, far eastern manager of the Palmolive-Peet-Colgate company.

Last year the Gripsholm brought 1,500 Americans back from the Orient in the first prisoner exchange, most of them connected with the diplomatic service.

It has been estimated that there still are more than 5,000 U. S. citizens held in Asia, not counting natives of the Philippines who fought with MacArthur's losing legions. Here in the U. S. 3,400 Japanese are interned as dangerous aliens and 100,000 more of Japanese ancestry are in relocation centers.

The latest exchange was worked out through the Swiss government. The Japanese selected 80 Americans from Japan, 975 from occupied China, 24 from Hongkong, 130 from the Philippines and 27 from Saigon, French Indo-China. The Gripsholm is expected at New York early in December.

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS Nations are at war, ideologies are in conflict and the issue is a choice between two ways of living. In the light of current events, we must do some serious thinking, for the world is threatened by spiritual wickedness in high places which aims at the suppression of freedom of thought and action. These are days of sorrow and travail after the pain and agony of war. We hope for the birth of a new day. But we need not expect the new era to come down from heaven, as John saw the holy city. The world did not fall into the horrors of war without a cause, neither can it be restored without tremendous cost and sacrifice. The emancipation of mankind from sin and death was an obsession with Jesus. It was a predominant factor in the life of Paul. Through millions of consecrated lives the perfect nations must come. Personality is the spirit of God seeks to operate channel through which the to bring about a new world order. Are we ready to say we are willing to be the kind of people upon which a new order can be built? For only the Golden Rule can bring the Golden Age of mankind. Amen.

about the shows that are leaving, here's a bit of news about a new one that starts next Monday: every night at 6:15, Monday through Friday, we'll have a new fifteen-minute show starring Gracie Fields, so if you want to know about the Biggest Aspidochelone in the world be sure to keep 6:15 in mind starting next Monday, P.
