WAR-WORKERS OF THE SEA

Seamen of the merchant marine face the hazards of days, weeks or months in open boats exposed to cold, heat, snow and rain. To the United Seamen's Service, a member agency of the National War Fund, falls the task of contributing to the costs of their hospitalization and convalescence, in cooperation with the War Shipping Administration.

SEAMAN'S HOLIDAY

Though they've gambled with death in the performances of their duty these merchant seamen can't forget the sea, even on a holiday. Here they are recuperating at one of the many rest centers which the United Seamen's Service, a member agency of the National War Fund, maintains here and abroad, in cooperation with the War Shipping Administration.
