BE GOT AROUND when the boys in the long-tailed coats and the spats get together at the peace table.
 Russia is a NEW POWER IN THE WORLD that will have to be taken into consideration hereafter—just as OUR NATION had to be taken into consideration when we began to arrive at our full stature and strength.

THIS writer, who tries to be intelligently realistic in such matters, looks upon Russia as somebody we WANT to do business with and HAVE to get along with or there will be unbelievable trouble in the world of the future.)

THE Japs, seeking to beat us to the punch, appear to be driving up the Burma road into Yunnan, the adjoining Chinese province. There are reports that they are advancing at the same time into Kiangsi province (moving up from Canton, in case you want to locate it on your map).

Their hope is to liquidate the Chungking Chinese before we can get help to them.

SIXTY Flying Fortresses were lost in our (American) attack on Schweinfurt, where great German ball and roller bearing plants are located. That's a heavy loss—several times the 5% often cited as "allowable"—but not, we are assured today, too high a price to pay for the destruction we accomplished.

WE used our NEW Flying Fortress in the Schweinfurt raid, and the Germans are accommodating enough today to describe them for the benefit of us here on the American home front (who aren't told anything much about the war).

They carry NO bombs, but are armed with several cannon and THIRTY machine guns—six machine guns being operated by ONE gunner. The crew (the Germans say) consists of two pilots, two co-pilots, two radio men, five gunners, two mechanics and four reserve men.

They are ESCORT ships, veritable sky battleships, the Germans say, that fly in front and on the sides of the regular Fortress formations. Their job is to shoot down attacking enemy fighters.

WANTED---TRAFFIC COURTESY

EDITORIAL

By Charles V. Stanton

MAYOR W. F. HARRIS and members of the Roseburg city council have requested us to ask the public—motorists and pedestrians—to cooperate in obedience of traffic rules. Pedestrians are urged particularly to cease jaywalking, and motorists are requested to observe pedestrian right of way at intersection lanes.

We doubt if this appeal succeeds in creating any material improvement in conditions. We wish it could. We would like to think that calling attention of the public to a dangerous situation would be sufficient to produce better practices. But it has been our observation that a certain few will heed no words of warning, will breezily disregard all traffic regulations and go their own headstrong way without regard to their own safety or to the safety of others.

If the city administration desires to improve traffic conditions, we anticipate that a few arrests and some good stiff fines will go a lot further in accomplishing the desired result than all the recommendations we could print on the limited amount of paper available to this newspaper.

City officials are very deeply concerned over the increasing practice of jaywalking, which you all know is the casual ambling across streets at any and all places other than those officially marked off for pedestrian lanes. This practice is growing more and more hazardous because of the great increase in traffic on the narrow city streets. Our traffic problem is getting extremely critical. The streets of the city were laid out by men in the horse and buggy days and apparently with no expectation that the place would ever amount to much.

Now we are in the beginning of an industrial boom and already the congestion is becoming serious and will grow steadily worse unless some solution can be found in the near future.

Consequently the careless habit of pedestrians in crossing streets in the middle of blocks not only constitutes a hazard to life and limb, but also slows up traffic and adds to the congestion.

However, the pedestrians have their rights as well. In traffic lanes the pedestrian has right of way over motor vehicles. Cars are supposed to halt while he is crossing the street. Roseburg motorists are extremely careless in observing this rule.

It is surprising how some people, who would not fail in any of life's ordinary courtesies, refuse to exercise even decent manners at the wheel of an automobile or when walking in traffic. Motorists, who are Chesterfieldians at home or in public associations, in some cases border on wild mania when seated in the driver's compartment of a motor vehicle. Pedestrians, who are most thoughtful and courteous in every other public and private relationship, will stand in the middle of a street to hold a conversation, will saunter with all the deliberation in the world over a pedestrian lane while holding up impatient traffic, and some even have the insolence to laugh at the waiting motorist.

City officials have every reason to be worried over existing conditions. As we have previously stated, we believe a few arrests would be much more effective than our comment. Our chief concern, however, is that we will be one of the first to be yanked into the city bastille, unless we can remember to break our own jaywalking habits.

Don was lukewarm compared with that accorded him in 1940 when he was a Presidential candidate.

He says: "You have heard men call me 'internationalist' and with that word they try to get the implication I am thereby LESS an American. I do believe in international co-operation, not because I love America less but because I love her more. America of wellbeing, of jobs, of opportunity and of free men."

FOR Willkie's benefit, it should be explained that "internationalist" is one of those political catchwords like "liberal" and "conservative." It (as yet) has no accepted meaning, but is used to damn your opponent when you can't think of anything else to put him for.

Willkie is under suspicion because of his supposed international views, because we're all still suspicious of the whole subject of internationalism which we're apt to confuse with Willkie's silly crack about a quart of milk a day for EVERYBODY in the world (to be supplied free, of course, by America the Lady Bountiful).

Maybe Willkie can get his position DEFINED by next year.

Mrs. Mary Francis Cook Of Yoncalla Passes

Mary Francis Cook, 84, died at her home in Yoncalla Tuesday after a long illness. She was born in Roseburg, Oct. 10, 1859, and was married to William Cook in Washington territory Dec. 8, 1880. She had been a life-long resident of Oregon and of the Yoncalla vicinity for the past 30 years.

Besides the widower she is survived by two sons, Wallace R. Cook, Yoncalla, and Robert H. Cook, Knappton, Oregon; also a sister Mrs. Olive A. Smith, Spokane, Wash., and three brothers, Loren L. Forrest, Hood River; William H. Forrest, Colfax, Wash., and John W. Forrest of Washington.

Services will be held in the Methodist church, Yoncalla, Friday at 2 p. m. Rev. Fred O. Hunt officiating. Interment will be in the Yoncalla cemetery. Arrangements are in care of the Stagers mortuary, Oakland.

Mrs. J. M. Gurney Of Tenmile Dies

Mrs. James M. (Jossie A.) Gurney, 61, died Tuesday at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Weaver, 1220 Fifth St., in Roseburg. She had been ill for several months and moved to Roseburg two months ago from her home in Tenmile to secure medical attention.

Born at Remote, Oregon, Jan. 18, 1882, she had spent the greater part of her life as a resident of Douglas county.

Surviving are her husband and the following sons and daughters: Mrs. J. C. Culbertson, Portland; Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. H. J. Willis, Mrs. R. A. Willis, Mrs. A. E. Willis, M. S. Gurney, all of Roseburg; B. W. Gurney, Albany, and J. W. Gurney, with the U. S. army in Ireland.

She was the grandmother of the Gurney infant which figured in a sensational kidnapping at Albany, Oregon, a few months ago.

She also leaves the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. May Brown, Marshfield; Mrs. Myrtle Duer, Redmond, Ore.; Mrs. Elma Hopkins, Marcola, Ore.; Mrs. Opal Scarborough, Batavia, N. Y.; Mrs. Ethel Pemberton, Roseburg; Mrs. Goldie Huff, Dellwood, Ore.; James Davis, Everett, Wash.

Funeral services will be held at Tenmile at 2 p. m. Friday, conducted by the Rev. Katherine Montgomery. Interment will follow in the Tenmile cemetery. Arrangements are in charge of the Roseburg Undertaking company.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have poor digestion?  YES  NO
 Do you feel headachy after eating?  YES  NO
 Do you get sour or upset easily?  YES  NO
 Do you feel tired—listless?  YES  NO

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails—your food may remain undigested—lie sour and heavy in your digestive tract.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's and digestion after Nature's own order, when taken as directed. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—at any drugstore—only 25¢. You will be glad you did.

Washington News From an Inside View
 Argument, Sentiment, Comment

By HARRIS ELLSWORTH
 Congressman, Fourth Oregon District

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 16.—Another session this week, this time with members of the production executive committee of the War Production board along with Mr. A. H. Bunker, head of the light metals division of WPB. Wilson (acting WPB chairman) presided and did most of the talking, with Mr. Bunker to furnish statistics and technical knowledge as called for. The members of the PEC—including a couple of army generals and some admirals—said nothing.

Once more we were told that the three alumina-from-clay plants previously approved for construction—one in Wyoming, one in South Carolina, and one in the northwest—would not be approved now.

There is a little bauxite left in Arkansas—enough to last about two years. We have a small stockpile—about one year's supply. After that—unless we can keep the sea lanes open, we will have NO alumina at all.

In the face of these facts (which were fully admitted at both meetings), WPB to date refuses to consider developing a means of producing alumina in our own country. The thing smells to high heaven.

After the subject had been pretty well threshed over in the meeting, and we were about ready to leave (in disgust), Representative Coffee (D., Wash.) asked Mr. Bunker, (who, by the way, in private life is a top executive for Alcoa), who owns the bauxite deposits in South America. The reply was that the bauxite is principally owned by the Alumina Company of America, but the British Aluminum company has some holdings there also!

Coffee then said: "Thanks, gentlemen, I think that gives us the answer to our question." And the meeting broke up.

Why did Wilson and WPB previously approve the alumina-from-clay plants and then some 60 days later reverse their decision? That question has been a hard one to get answered. It has not yet been officially answered probably never will be. Two rumors appeared this week which, if they are true, give an unofficial but rather nasty answer:

Rumor No. 1—Aluminum interests have only VERY recently completed negotiations for the purchase of some west coast shipping facilities—assumption is such a deal insures post-war importation of bauxite from the very rich Dutch East Indies deposits.

Rumor No. 2—Aluminum interests have only VERY recently completed negotiations for the purchase of some west coast shipping facilities—assumption is such a deal insures post-war importation of bauxite from the very rich Dutch East Indies deposits.

Whether the activities of the committee had anything to do with the second clarifying order, which did smooth things out considerably no one will ever know—but the dates are interesting as a matter of coincidence, if nothing else. At any rate, as matters now stand, purchases will be made as formerly and contracts will be let as formerly—with the provision that regional committees will pass upon such contracts as may be open to question on the subject of manpower.

No action in the house again this week, but the program for next week, just received, indicates resumption of legislative business after what seems to have been an unreasonably long period of inactivity.

Snell Urges Segregation Of Youthful Convicts

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Segregation of youthful convicts at the state prison and more adequate education for them will be proposed by Governor Snell at the next board of control meeting, the governor said today.

Snell said it might be possible to use the old prison hospital, now abandoned, to house the young prisoners. Members of the state parole board said they favor Snell's suggestion.

There are 775 prisoners now, compared with more than 1100 two years ago.

"Tarzan" Weissmuller To Face Divorce Action

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 20.—(AP)—"Tarzan" is losing another mate, says Mrs. Johnny Weissmuller. She has announced she will sue the film actor and swimmer for divorce next week on the ground of incompatibility.

Mrs. Weissmuller, the former Beryl Scott of San Francisco society, stated they parted two weeks ago.

The Weissmullers have three children, John Scott, 3; Wendy, 15 months; and Heidi, 4 months.

By SUSAN
 This week we have to say "so long" to one of our favorite half-hour shows, but we're slightly cheered by the fact that we are also greeting an old time favorite return. Tonight marks the last of the Take A Card quiz shows at 8—and, since we have found it very entertaining, we hate to see it go off the air. The final show should be good because Lew Lehr is guest contestant and it should make for fun and plenty of laughs. By the way, Martha Scott and Lloyd Nolan appear tonight at 6:30 on the Soldiers With Wings show in an original dramatic skit. This is Bulldog Drummond's night to sleuth via the air waves, too. Now, for the cheering news: Our old favorite—in fact, almost our very favorite—radio show "San Quentin On the Air" returns to the network at 7:30 Thursday night, replacing the show from Fort Lewis. Here's hoping our old favorites are still there. Perhaps that's not such a nice thought either, under the circumstances. Anyway—be sure to listen in Thursday evening at 7:30 for the theme "Time On My Hands"—and here's hoping they'll do "San Quentin Breakdown" some night soon. Thursday's also the day the local seat of learning put R. H. S. on the air at 10:30 in the a. m. Music You Remember at 6:30 will bring you an added treat this week as Annaloris will appear twice weekly from now on, and in the evening you get forty-five minutes of dance bands starting at 8:15. And, by the way, how are you enjoying Gracie Fields? Personally we're waiting for the Aspidistra.

Crows are able to distinguish between armed and unarmed men and will closely approach the latter.
