SAIDIE ORR DUNBAR PAYS VISIT TO HEALTH ASSOCIATION HERE

Mrs. Saidie Orr Dunbar, Portland, executive secretary of the Oregon Tuberculosis association, visited Roseburg Monday as the guest of the Douglas County Health association. In the afternoon, she conducted an institute for county and city Christmas seal sale chairmen.

A potluck dinner, open to the public, was given by the County Health association in the evening at the Episcopal parish hall. A very entertaining program was presented by Miss Helen Casey, which included: charming vocal solos by Mrs. E. F. Waggoner, piano numbers by Mrs. Frances Lintott; two clever comedy numbers in costume by Miss Casey and James Osborne very capably displayed his hobby of fluorescent lights and rock collections.

Mrs. Fred Fisher, president of the local Health association, opened the meeting and called for reports of the year's activities. These included purchase and distribution of codliver oil capsules to children below par. These being distributed through the health office. The association also pays for all chest X-rays given positive cases where conditions warrant it. The association also sponsors an educational program on health, displaying posters on health subjects at various places of interest. Attention was called to Loan Closet of sick room equipment, where hospital bed and other articles were made available, without cost, to anyone in need of them. The association will soon have a traveling library of books on health to be placed at intervals in librarys throughout the country.

Mrs. Fisher then presented Mrs. Dunbar, who spoke on the need of continued vigilance against the spread of tuberculosis during wartime. She gave the program of X-raying all inductees in service as a contributing factor in case-finding of tuberculosis. She stressed the need of more help at the state T. B. sanitariums, saying that Oregon had a very fine program before the war, but shortage of help was necessitating closing of some wards at The Dalles, two partitions at Salem and possibly the closing of the Portland sanitarium.

Mrs. Dunbar gave as the fundamentals of T. B. control program, first, finding the sick; second, treat the patient; third, restore his earning powers; fourth, prevent spread of disease, and fifth, to keep his family together.

Vocational guidance is also an important part of the tuberculosis program, Mrs. Dunbar stated. A worker in vocational guidance and job replacement is now available at both Salem and The Dalles T. B. hospitals. A very fine program of fitting arrested cases for jobs within their restricted activities is being carried out in Oregon.

Mrs. Dunbar noted that about 10 years ago, Douglas county's return from seal sales was around $400. Last year over $3,000 was realized. This was a fine gain, but shouldn't indicate a need of less effort Mrs. Dunbar stated, as war conditions, such as poor and overcrowded housing conditions and other war factors contribute to a speard of tuberculosis. Oregon has a low death rate from T. B., but a relaxing of vigilance could soon mean a higher one.

Mrs. Dunbar, who is a member of the national man-power board in Washington, D. C., spoke of the extreme man-power shortage and the urgent necessity of maintaining high health average to combat man hours lost through illness. Money spent to maintain the Oregon hospitals and nursing staffs, she stated is money spent for victory.
