RUMORS (never very reliable) from inside Germany suggest that the gestapo (nazi secret police) is cracking down on defeatists at home and is shooting weakened Germans as readily as the soldiers at the front shoot enemies.

RUBBER DIRECTOR DEWEY (NOT New York's governor) says the tire situation is bad and will get MUCH worse. There's no shortage of synthetic rubber, he says. He lays the real trouble at the door of the "ineffective general man-power situation" which, he says, is so bad we can't even man the existing tire machines.

This ineffective man-power situation tracks back to poor handling of the American people by their government, which has failed to tap the deep springs of PATRIOTIC DEVOTION that lie hidden under the turbulent home front surface.

HORRORS of war on the home front department: With consumption up as much as FOUR TIMES and supply down to 60% of normal, liquor is being scarce and scarier. Prices in the flush areas up to $10 a pint.

AND finally an odd note of PATRIOTISM: Albert Goss, master of the National Grange, tells farmers that

COMMON SENSE TALK

EDITORIAL

By Charles V. Stanton

AFTER listening to the loose mouthings and vaporings of some of the New Deal planners, it is gratifying to hear a leader of national importance utter some down-to-earth, common-sense ideas for a change. Albert S. Goss, master of the national grange, speaking at the 77th annual convention of that organization, got down to grass roots with practical suggestions, instead of idealistic theory and experimentation, when he declared we "must accept cuts in our accustomed standards if inflation is to be licked."

He urged farmers to "be content with margins very little above cost." He characterized farm subsidies and price roll-backs as "a way to economic chaos."

Contrast this sound advice with the policies of some leaders of labor organizations who are demanding all the traffic will bear—and then some—in the form of wage increases.

Goss expounded the theory that the burden of preventing inflation should be shared by all groups of people. This is in sharp contrast to administrative policy which coddles those groups who have been its political supporters, and slaps and smears those who have been opposed to its revolutionary ideology.

Agriculture has been one of those groups suffering most from political revenge. Labor, on the other hand, because it supported the administration, became the favored child. If milk prices advance one cent per quart, then the administration intimates it must recognize labor's demands for a wage increase of a dollar per day.

The assertion of the national grange leader that industry and labor—and not agriculture—have led the wartime upward swing in prices and wages is an indisputable statement. But it is upon agriculture that the administration would place the odium for inflationary trends.

No Wonder There's a Paper Shortage

(From the Corvallis Gazette-Times)

A WHOLESALE house in Seattle sends us a copy of a letter it has received from one of its customers. The customer was complaining about the high ration points on butter, and in his letter he stated something about OPA instructions. Nearly everybody in business is familiar with them, but this fellow really has something. He wrote: "Brevity is indeed becoming a lost art. The book of Genesis tells of the creation of the world in 1,100 words. The ten commandments took only 297 words. Lincoln's immortal Gettysburg address required 266 words, and the Declaration of Independence which brought a new conception of freedom to the world, took 1,321 words. Now the OPA comes along with a change in the price of cabbage, and has to use 2,000 words. No wonder there are 8,000 pages of regulations just for food retailers."

most farm prices ARE HIGH ENOUGH and adds: "We must be content with margins very little above cost, for WE TOO must accept cuts in our accustomed standards if inflation is to be licked."

International, Postwar Farm Conference Asked

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 12. (AP)—A proposal that American farm organizations invite farm group leaders from Great Britain, Canada, Australia, China and other friendly nations to participate in an international conference to draft a program for postwar agricultural prosperity was advanced today at the national grange convention.

The suggestion was made by Morton Tompkins, master of the Oregon State grange and one of three American farm leaders who returned only a few days ago from an inspection trip of British farm. The other two were Harry Wingate, president of the Georgia Farm Bureau federation, and Harvey Solberg, president of the Rocky Mountain section of the National Farmers union.

The grange convention was expected to approve a resolution calling for such a conference.

The international meeting would be held probably at Washington within the next six months. It would go over much of the ground covered by the United Nations food conference at Hot Springs, Va., last spring. Participating, however, would be farm leaders who have no governmental connections. The Hot Springs meeting was made up largely of diplomatic and government officials and economists.

"It is the belief of many farm men," Tompkins said, "that a sound, practical program for the future well-being of agriculture throughout the world can be developed only by those who know the practical, every-day problems of farmers. They doubt the ability of diplomats to do the job."

Principles and programs which might be developed at the international farm meeting would be laid before political leaders at a future peace and economic conferences on postwar rehabilitation.

DIAL LOG. Here we are back to Sunday's nice, fat program again. We'll just mention in passing that you mustn't forget that tonight at 6 is Chicago Theatre of the Air presenting "Car men"; Saturday Night Bonwagon at 7:20 and lots and lots of orchestras. Call up the gang and have a dance if you feel frisky, because you'll have orchestras that specialize in toe-trotting tunes. They begin at 7:45 and run straight through to the Newspaper of the Air. And now on to Sunday. Were you surprised to hear Jack Benny last Sunday night? It was a last minute news flash, so we couldn't tell you to expect him, but he'll be back again this week at 8:30. Wings Over the West Coast has moved to 7:30, so you'll still be able to hear this good half-hour. We'd miss that show—it's one of our many favorites.

Now go back to Sunday morning and start the day properly: there's little Bobby Hooley in his half-hour show, now called "Hooley Hall." You'll hear it at 10:30. It's the Shadow who wins out when an unscrupulous lawyer tries to match wits with him in his newest adventure, "The Phantom of the Sky Scrapper," at 2:30. And then at 3 o'clock there's Mr. First Nighter at the Little Theatre off Times Square. Barbara Luddy, who by the way was voted radio's best actress, stars this week in "Cross Tides," a new setting for the eternal triangle. Cleveland Symphony at 5 has a grand lot of music lined up for you—Mozart and Wagner mostly—with two famous violinists appearing as guests. Well, kids, you can see that there's going to be lots of good listening ahead for you, so have a nice weekend.

Unit Value of Gas Coupons B and C To Be Increased

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (AP)—The unit value of B and C gasoline coupons issued beginning Dec. 1 will be changed to five gallons the OPA announced yesterday, but emphasized that this will not mean more gasoline for motorists.

The present value of supplementary coupons of these types is two gallons in the East and Midwest and three gallons in the Far West.

The new five-gallon coupons will be issued with the designation "B-2" and "C-2" on their face. As the present "B" and "C" and "B-1" and "C-1" coupons run out, they will be replaced by the new higher-unit-value coupons. In the meantime, outstanding coupons issued before Dec. 1 will continue to be valid for only two gallons in the East and Midwest and three gallons in the Far West.

OPA said that while the change does not mean additional gasoline for holders of supplemental ration books, many car owners will buy in five-gallon units as they customarily did before rationing, and savings in manpower for the trade and local rationing boards will result, since they will be required to handle fewer books and coupons.

"A" books are not affected under the new arrangement.
