Ellsworth Raps Map Exhibited at O-C Land Hearing: WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—The forest service was accused yesterday of "deliberate intention to mislead" the house public lands committee in sending each member a map of Oregon & California railroad grant indemnity lands showing the lands as part of national forests.

Ellsworth Raps Map Exhibited at O-C Land Hearing: The accusation was made by Representative Ellsworth of Oregon before the committee, now hearing testimony on a bill to take 472,000 acres of the indemnity lands from jurisdiction of the forest service and place it under the interior department which administers Oregon & California revested railroad lands.

Ellsworth Raps Map Exhibited at O-C Land Hearing: The map showed the revested lands and the indemnity lands which 19 Oregon counties are asking to be put under the interior department. The counties get 50 per cent of the income from the lands administered by the department and only 25 per cent of income from lands administered by the forest service.

Ellsworth Raps Map Exhibited at O-C Land Hearing: Ellsworth told the committee, of which he is a member, there was nothing on the map to indicate the forest service had prepared and distributed it, nothing to indicate the indemnity lands were in dispute and that it "denies by implication any were in dispute."

Ellsworth Raps Map Exhibited at O-C Land Hearing: He said the map "was admittedly planned to mislead" but said he would not have objected to it had it clearly shown its source.

Ellsworth Raps Map Exhibited at O-C Land Hearing: Lee Kneipp, assistant chief of the forest service, said the map was distributed to aid the members in locating the land in question and with the idea of being helpful. He said he assumed as he and other forest service officials had testified at the time the map was presented it would be understood it was from the service.

Ellsworth Raps Map Exhibited at O-C Land Hearing: Guy Cordon, counsel for the Oregon counties seeking shift in jurisdiction of the land, testified in court decisions had held the indemnity lands were part of the Oregon and California railroad grant lands and that other decisions had held they must be accorded the same treatment as other revested railroad lands.

Ellsworth Raps Map Exhibited at O-C Land Hearing: The indemnity lands had not been patented when the government recaptured them and as they were in national forests created after the land was granted to the railroads the forest service took over their administration. Cordon read court decisions which held the government had no right to include in national forests land already granted to the railroad. His testimony concluded public hearings on the measure.

A RECORD TO BE PROUD OF

By Charles V. Stanton

W. M. CAMPBELL has resigned as superintendent of the Roseburg schools after serving the district for 20 years, first as high school principal and then as superintendent. He has held the latter office for more than 17 years. His long tenure of office is, in fact, one of the best recommendations he could receive.

Prior to his acceptance of the office, Roseburg had a bad name for its treatment of school superintendents. It was seldom the man selected to head the schools could survive factional and clique assaults for more than two three-year terms at the most, and some failed to last out one contract. Roseburg school fights were generally of annual occurrence and often were extremely bitter. But since "Matt" Campbell took over the job there has not been a disturbance deserving the name "school fight." There has at times, it is true, been disagreement with certain of his acts or policies. No school principal, particularly one as energetic in his management of school affairs, could expect to avoid conflicts, but Superintendent Campbell's period of service in Roseburg sets an all-time record for harmony and cooperation in the conduct of school activities.

He has been outstanding in the field of financial management. At the time he assumed the position, the Roseburg district had a total indebtedness of $177,500 in bonds and $97,975 in warrants. For a number of years all district payments had been made by warrants, adding a heavy tax load because of interest charges.

Taking over the office of school superintendent in 1927, Campbell introduced economies which resulted in erasure of warrant indebtedness by 1936. By the close of the current year, the bonded indebtedness of the district will have been reduced to $57,000. This exceptional financial record has been achieved in spite of an additional $80,000 bond issue voted for construction of Rose and Fullerton elementary schools, purchase of athletic fields, construction of a grandstand, and recent acquisition of property for a proposed new elementary school in Riverside.

Yet throughout the 17 years the millage levy has been low, compared with districts of like size, and the improvement was brought about without the necessity of any special elections for the purpose of raising funds in excess of legal limitations.

Superintendent Campbell is not entitled to all of the credit for this remarkable achievement. It could not have been accomplished without the supervision and cooperation of an efficient board of school directors and these elected officials should share in credit for the outstanding record. But it is the superintendent who is charged with the administration of policies and who recommends methods of operation. Many of the economies which so vastly improved the district's financial condition were proposed and executed by Mr. Campbell.

His achievements, however, have not been confined entirely to the field of finance. He has shown exceptional ability in the selection of instructors. Teachers have been of unusually fine character and ability and as a result the Roseburg schools have consistently stood among the leaders in scholastic surveys made by the institutions of higher education.

He will continue with the Roseburg school system through the few remaining months of the school year, his resignation being effective July 1. In leaving the employ of the Roseburg district he is entitled to take pride in a fine record of achievement and merits the appreciation of every school patron and taxpayer for the excellent service he has rendered.

Shikret, pianist on Julia's show, has been with her for twenty-one years—which is quite a record in itself. Other good spots on Thursday include Junior Jamboree at 5; Music You Remember, with Annaloris, at 6:30. (By the way, Annie, when do we hear "Forgotten"?); Army Air Forces at 7:30; Pick and Pat Time, 8 (this is the spot where Mary Small sings in a most engaging manner and the old maestro, Lopez, gives forth with those super duet piano numbers); Human ad-venture (if you like it) at 8:30.

Also—please don't forget—to-night is the last Soldiers With Wings show on the Wednesday 6:30 spot. Dick Powell and Luella Hall doing the guest artist stint on this show. We'd also like to mention that there's a mighty good spot of poetry reading on 8:00 o'clock, is the time—Valerie Whitney is the artist and it's good. The Three Cheers give you the fullest fifteen minutes of music you'll find any place at 8:15 and, of course, it's Captain Drummond with Denny and the Ghost Town Mystery at 8:30.

Broader Powers Given Rationing Board, Roseburg

L. V. HAMMOCK, chairman of the Roseburg War Price and Rationing board, reports that greater authority to "deal directly with price violators" will soon be delegated to price panels of local boards. It is planned, Hammock has been advised by the regional administrator, to authorize the local panels to arrange for and recommend acceptance of voluntary payment by the violator of cash refunds covering overcharges, hear evidence of violations, recommend action with regard to penalties or prosecution and to serve as moderators in any disputes. The expanded authority, it is stated, will be delegated as rapidly as personnel can be trained to administer the new powers.

At the same time, the OPA announces that its entire volunteer price group at each board hereafter will be known as "Price Control Committees." It is the plan of the Roseburg board, Hammock stated, to engage in educational rather than police work, as far as possible. Members will be designated to visit stores for the purpose of checking prices and will work with merchants in an effort to bring about complete accord with regulations. Cases of continued or deliberate violations will be referred to the board for action.

Husky Basketeers Stretch Win Streak to 19 Games

MOSCOW, Idaho, Mar. 1 (AP)—The University of Washington Huskies had a busy evening last night in defeating Idaho 63-48. By keeping their northern division record clean of defeats the Seattle file stretched to 19 games their two-year conference win mark, tied at 13 games the one season victory string, and lowered the Vandals into undisputed possession of the conference cellar. The latter accomplishment was due to hold for at least 24 hours. Washington will shift its sights to Pullman tonight when they tackle the Washington State Cougars, currently a half game ahead of the Vandals.

Jimmy Bivins Defeats Murray in Ten-Rounder

CLEVELAND, Mar. 1 (AP)—Jimmy Bivins' right to wear the duration heavyweight title was unchallenged today after he had disposed of Lee Q. Murray in a return 10-rounder. Lee Q. himself paid homage to the Cleveland Negro with the assertion, "He gave me a good whippin' and I don't have any alibi." The dusky six-footer from Norwalk, Conn., had created some doubts about Bivins' superiority in the ranks of the active heavies when he almost triumphed by a technical knockout in their first tussle, but Jimmy dispelled uncertainties at the arena last night. Bivins was the more alert warrior and it paid off in the form of a nine-count knockdown in the ninth round.

FERN FIRES are FOREST FIRES

Of 62,000 acres of Douglas fir forest land burned last year, over 50,000 acres were early fern fires!

seedlings from the hot sun. The little trees can usually be found under the fern mass. Fire in patches of dead fern do not destroy the fern roots... they come back, fast! But fire kills the tree seedlings and destroys the soil building value of dead fern. So fern fires actually destroy both plants and soil... all that remains is barren land. Guard against fern fires!

NO PERSON would knowingly start a raging forest fire. Yet fern fires actually are forest fires... because their searing heat kills young trees instantly! Literally thousands of acres of prospective future forests are destroyed in this manner every year. Nature grows bracken fern on logged-off land to protect young Douglas fir

FREE TREES: FARMERS: You may get Douglas fir seedlings FREE for planting on fern patches and woodlots, just by calling at the forest industries tree nursery, Nisqually, eight miles north of Olympia on the Pacific Highway—at the foot of the long, straight hill. These seedlings are two years old, tall and strong. Schools, women's clubs, Boy Scout troops, home owners, may also have fir seedlings FREE for the asking. Look for the highway sign—WEST COAST TREE FARMS NURSERY.
