Britton Accepts Radio Station Job at State College

E. A. Britton, who has served for the past 10 years as 4-H club agent for Douglas county, reports he has accepted the offer of the position of Farm Hour program director at the Oregon State college radio station, KOAC, Corvallis. He will assume his new duties April 1.

Mr. Britton reports that he has completed the program for 4-H activities in Douglas county for the coming months, and that the work can be carried on by community leaders without the immediate assignment of an agent, thus giving the extension department ample time in which to select a qualified person for the position in Douglas county.

The arrangements made in advance cover scholarships, achievement days, food production contest and other forthcoming activities.

Mrs. Britton and son, Jim, will join Mr. Britton at Corvallis following the close of the school term at Roseburg.

BATTERY — Less charge replaced in rationed driving. Shell will keep yours filled, recharge, or sell you a new one. Check battery weekly.

SPARK PLUGS — Dirty plugs cost you gasoline mileage. Have Shell check yours; clean them; install new ones if needed.

35,000 Cars Junked Every Week

LET SHELLUBRICATION HELP YOURS OUTLAST THE DURATION

If you could look inside your engine during one of your shorter, slower, wartime trips, here's what you'd see: raw, unexploded gasoline trickling down cylinder walls to dilute your oil... eventually causing scored cylinders, burned out bearings, a ruined motor.

That's just one way Wartime Stop and Go driving threatens automobiles these days... helps junk 35,000 a week. To make your car outlast the duration, start SHELLUBRICATION, a service designed to protect cars in today's Stop and Go driving conditions.

Shell Dealers and Shell Service Stations offering this service, inspect your car, tell you what it needs, give each vital part correct lubrication. And you get a diagram-receipt showing exactly what has been done to save your car.
