DAILY DEVOTIONS DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

HOME AND BUSINESS

Someone recently asked E. Stanley Jones the difference between Christianity and other religions, his reply was "Christ." There are many kinds of religion in the world, but only one has a Christ, a cross, and an empty tomb. The Christian religion is a religion of action. It is the only religion that has a commission to evangelize the whole world. Those of us who share in the religion of Jesus Christ must bear His message to the ends of the world. Our Christianity calls for sacrificial service. We must share our religion with others if we are to keep it ourselves. There is no such thing as selfishness in Christianity. If we are to pick the roses we must suffer the prick of the thorns. If we are to wear a crown we must bear a cross of unselfish giving, prayers, and loyalty to the church and the kingdom. There are many people who will never hear the gospel story if we do not share it with them. Our homes, our churches, and society fare best when we are filled with the missionary spirit. Our task, given to us by Jesus was, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature." "Hark, the voice of Jesus calling. Who will go and work today? Fields are white, the harvest waiting. Who will bear the sheaves away?" Amen.
