to pay to destroy the German air force.
In the Crimea German machine gunners are firing on their Roman allies whenever the Romanians show the least sign of retreat or surrender. The same vindictive, bloody anger was displayed toward the Italians in the African fighting. Apparently the Germans remaining in Sevastopol will have to fight to the death or surrender, as their escape route by sea has been cut off by the Russian fleet and Russian planes.

NEWS from Romania itself is scarce. Significantly, the British announce that they have mined the Danube and Balkan reports add that ALL traffic on the great river has ended. The Danube is an important link in the communications supplying the German forces defending the Ploesti oil fields.

FROM Ceylon, Mountbatten's new headquarters, we get the welcome news that the defenders of Imphal have gone over to the offensive. An Associated Press correspondent on the fighting lines there predicts that the Jap effort in India will collapse because of the little yellow men's failure to show ANY strength in the air.

ON the home political front, Governor Warren, of California, has been chosen as the "key-note" orator for the republican convention in June. That is significant as indicating the probable tone of the convention. Warren is a MODERN republican thinker, as opposed to the standpat school that controlled the party's thinking TOO long. Eric Johnson, another modern republican thinker, was mentioned for the job.

WOMEN URGED TO ENROLL IN HOME NURSING CLASS
Editor News-Review:
The United States is, for the duration of the war, facing a most serious and alarming problem in its shortage of nurses. Many hospitals over our country are closing their doors and all are in dire need of aid for the care of the sick. Our training schools for nurses are more than 50 per cent short of the required quota of student nurses. Vast numbers of our young women have joined the Wacs, Waves, Spats or other military organizations where they are rendering splendid service; while thousands of eligible nurses are where they are so vitally needed, with our armed forces. We are fully aware that in a country at war, the care of our fighting men must come first. We are also cognizant that in order to prosecute that war to the fullest, we must guard the health of our entire civilian population. The American Red Cross is

FIFTY YEARS OF MOVIES

By Charles Y. Stanton

THE motion picture industry is celebrating its 50th anniversary. It was April 14, 1894, that the first public exhibition of motion pictures marked the debut of a medium for the dissemination of information and entertainment.

It is an interesting fact that motion pictures were made possible through inventions of two men, and that these men did not meet until 31 years after the public advent of the machine born of their joint contributions.

The principle of the motion picture projector was conceived by Thomas A. Edison in 1887, and by the latter part of 1889 the projection mechanism had been evolved. Edison, however, had not been able to develop a flexible medium to carry the picture-making material over a set of sprockets and past the lens of the camera.

It was late in the summer of 1889 that Edison first heard of the invention by George Eastman of photographic film. The motion picture projector was born of a 50-foot strip of film obtained from the Eastman company.

Oddly, the two inventors who made possible a new industry, did not meet until February 15, 1925, when a great luncheon was given by the organized motion picture industry. Edison and Eastman reached the courtroom simultaneously, but neither recognized the other. When a mutual friend performed the introduction, neither mentioned motion pictures. Their conversation concerned a dynamo Eastman had bought from Edison 40 years before.

It is a far cry from the days of the "flickers" and the nickelodeon to technicolor and the great motion picture palaces of today. No industry in its rise has been surrounded with the glitter and glamour that have made Hollywood a byword throughout the world. Motion pictures and radio changed social habits in many countries. The colorful days of vaudeville, drama, and touring minstrels reached an abrupt end with the advent of the movies, although a pleasing comeback has been in progress in recent years.

Today the motion picture theater is the mecca of entertainment seekers in every city and hamlet throughout the United States. Films are rushed by airplane to army camps all over the world. Frequently men absorbed in the reflected antics of their favorite screen stars can listen simultaneously to the voices from the sound track and the roar of nearby battle. Men in far off lands often see current motion picture releases before the shows are placed on exhibition in the theaters at home.

The motion picture industry has played an important part in the actual training of our men for warfare, as well as providing them with entertainment. Instruction through motion pictures is used in practically every phase of military training.

Entertainment sent abroad and newsreels shown at home serve as a vital link between those in foreign service and the loved ones left behind.

Through the medium of motion pictures the war agencies have been able to reach the entire general public with appeals for purchase of war bonds, aid for the Red Cross, cooperation in the food program and kindred activities.

In the 50 years since the motion picture industry was born it has grown into an institution bearing an important responsibility. Behind the glitter, the frivolity and the glamour, upon which the public feeds, there has been discharged a public service that cannot be discounted. Our way of life would suffer beyond comprehension were we suddenly to find ourselves without this industry which has grown to adulthood within the past few years.

urging that every available woman on our home front become capable of caring for her own sick and aged in her home. They can become efficient in this service by taking the simple course of twelve, two-hour lessons in home nursing, which is being given in every county of every state in the union, and thus be able to guard the home and community health of our nation during this most critical period of its history.

The Douglas county chapter of the American Red Cross now has its own excellently equipped home nursing class room in the Perkins building in Roseburg, and is prepared to start classes in the near future under the instruction of a graduate, registered nurse. It will also be glad to organize classes in any other community in the county.

Wake up, women of Douglas county! Write now to your chairman of home nursing, American Red Cross, Roseburg, Oregon. Enroll for this course. State whether you prefer an afternoon or an evening class and know that you will be doing your country a much needed and patriotic service.

Soldiers' Wives and Post-War Married Life

A psychologist offers some mighty sensible advice to husbands and wives separated by war. He believes "lack of tolerance" rather than loss of affection is most likely to cause post-war marriage difficulties. That's where tolerance is going to be mighty important. Tolerance for a husband who spills ashes on the carpet sometimes. Tolerance for a wife who spends a little too much money for a fanny-looking hat. Yes, tolerance is a mighty good foundation for any marriage. Of course, it isn't true that just getting back together will make life perfect. There'll be the same domestic problems, the same complications and adjustments, as always.

DIAL LOG

By SUSAN

Yes, we gave you a bum steer on the Open House program you'll be getting on Tuesday and Thursday at 1:15. Not that we didn't like it, but we managed to get nicely confused and gave you the inside info on a show that comes on when we're giving you news. So here's a most abject apology and we'll try to do better after this. We do know that Anneloris promised our song for tonight and if we don't hear it on schedule it will be the songbird's fault and not ours. We also know that Cisco Kid and Pick and Pat Time are scheduled for tonight, with 7:30 and 8 o'clock as the respective times. Now let's see if we can manage to get some correct information as to Friday's shows. RHS on the air at 10:45 in the morning and Music for Remembrance at 1:30 are both good listening spots. For Crosby fans, there's fifteen minutes of the one and only Bing scheduled at 2:15. Double or Nothing at 6:30 comes to you this week from Philadelphia. My, how they do get around the country. After wondering what had happened to our favorite announcer, he reappears on last Friday's broadcast. So all is well but we'd still like to know what happened to him. This week the quiz show pays tribute to Mark Twain and salutes the new picture, "The Adventures of Mark Twain", based on the story of Twain's life. At 7 o'clock Dale Carnegie offers a profile of Irving Berlin's life. Should be a very interesting fifteen minutes. At 8:30 it's "Name That Song" and hi-ho Silver. And don't miss their commercials—they're funnier than most of the so-called comedy shows on the air.
