Victory Trend On All Fronts Cited By Secy. Stimson

WASHINGTON, April 20 — (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today that "our aerial invasion of Germany is continuing, the pressure is increasing and enemy resistance on the whole is decreasing."

He thus summarized the European aerial offensive in a press conference during which he also stressed the heavy blows by allied aviation against Japan in the Pacific and in southeast Asia. Discussing the effectiveness of the big-scale raids on German fighter plane factories, Stimson said that the enemy's production of this type of plane had fallen off an estimated 20 per cent since January.

The enemy's reserve of planes therefore will not come easily, Stimson said, but he cautioned that "critical periods" are ahead in the air war. The secretary said that allied air operations from Italy have reached the point "where they almost overlap" soviet air operations. As an example, he noted that the Russians have raided Galati, Romania, only 100 miles from Ploesti where American bombers have attacked.

In the southwest Pacific allied air power "meets practically no resistance," Stimson said. Mentioning aerial attacks on Japanese strongholds in the Caroline Islands in the Southwest Pacific and the Kuriles at the northern end of the enemy's home islands, Stimson said that "all parts of the Japanese empire are thus coming within our range."

He said there is "no occasion for mystery" concerning the fighting in the Burma-India area, adding that the British have a superiority in troops and there is a "distinct superiority" held by the allies in the air.

The Imperial plain has been "firmly held" and new offensive operations are being undertaken from that district, Stimson said. Kohima, to the north of Imphal, had been "hard pressed" but British troops from the northwest are under way to relieve that pressure, Stimson reported.

Permanent U. S. Title to "Loaned" Naval Bases Urged

WASHINGTON, April 20 — (AP)—Immediate steps to make permanent American possession of western hemisphere bases acquired from the British in the 50-destroyer deal was recommended today by a house naval subcommittee.

The bases are now being used by the United States under a 99-year lease agreement. The subcommittee, which made the recommendation in formal report on an inspection of hemisphere defense installations, is headed by Rep. Hebert (D., La.). Hebert reported that the navy has spent more than $130,000,000 at the eight bases acquired from Britain in exchange for the delivery of 50 over-age U. S. destroyers, announced by President Roosevelt on September 3, 1940. The subcommittee report stated: "Having acquired the right to invest still further, we feel it would be a mistake for the United States to ever abandon the bases, even at the end of 99 years. Steps should be taken immediately by our government to have the bases changed to in perpetuity."

The president's announcement of the agreement with Great Britain said this country had acquired the use of certain bases in Newfoundland and in the Islands of Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Trinidad and Antigua, and in British Guiana.

G. O. P. Senators Drop Threat Against Bone

WASHINGTON, April 19 — (AP)—Senate republican leaders decided to drop their threatened move for reconsideration of the nomination of Senator Bone (D., Wash.) as a federal judge, it was reported today after a meeting of the party's steering committee.

Instead, Senator White of Maine, acting minority leader, plans a speech in the senate Friday expressing the view that Bone, having already been confirmed for the ninth circuit court of appeals bench, should resign from the senate and assume the judgeship promptly. If Bone, now in a hospital, should decide to stay on in the senate until the end of his term next January, Governor Arthur Langlie of Washington would not be able to appoint a republican successor.

ATTENTION BROILER PRODUCERS

In the "FEED BAG" of April 17, 1944, we made the statement that the ceiling price of broilers had been increased. This information was based on a news item appearing in a Portland paper dated April 13th. The item stated that a price increase of 2c per pound had been made on broilers up to 2 1/2 pounds. Subsequent investigation reveals that this statement was a mistake. The ceiling price on broilers still remains at the old level. According to the daily market reports we receive from the War Food Administration at Portland, the ceiling price on broilers is 30c and on fryers and roasters is 29c per pound.

HERE IS WHERE WE OBTAINED OUR INFORMATION

(Oregon Journal April 13, 1944)
Good news to farmers and poultrymen came Wednesday in the form of a Washington, D. C., press release saying federal price authorities had tentatively agreed to grant an average increase of 2 cents a pound in ceiling prices on broilers during the next two months at the producer level. While the live weight price for broilers, birds under 2 1/2 pounds, was frozen at 30 cents a pound last April, the price of feed continued to rise, therefore putting a squeeze on the grower. This increase, which is expected to go into effect next week, is definitely a break to producers, but probably will not influence the present market supply to a very large extent. Oregon was never a broiler-producing state, and now with the feed situation so tight, producers have been asked to keep broiler production at a minimum. Most of the poultry being marketed now are culls from commercial laying flocks. There may be an increase in broiler production on the Pacific coast if commercial producers, now reportedly idling young brockers, raise them to the broiler stage. Details of the price increase call for allowing producers to add to their prices during the remainder of April the amount charged for storage of broilers in that month, 18 cents a pound. The storage fees for May are fixed at 22 cents and producers would be allowed to increase their present ceiling, by that amount during that month.

Bills for Forest Survey, Fire Safety Passed By House
WASHINGTON, April 21 — (AP)—The house passed yesterday two forestry bills, one increasing the authorization for forest fire protection funds and the other to finance completion of a forest survey. The fire protection bill increases the authorization from $2,500,000 annually to $6,300,000 in the 1945 fiscal year; $7,300,000 for the 1946 fiscal year and $9 million in the 1947 fiscal year. The funds must be matched with an equal amount of state or private funds. There was no opposition, to this or the survey bill, which would increase the annual authorization from $2,500,000 to $6,500,000 for completing a survey of forest resources which was begun in 1928. Representative Randolph of West Virginia, author of the survey measure, said off the floor that approximately one half of the 630 million acres of forest land in the nation have been surveyed and that enactment of the legislation would insure balancing of the country's timber budget. "It is necessary that information for a sound, basic forest policy be gathered now, and it will be especially valuable for post-war work," Randolph said. He added that approximately 5 million persons are supported by the nation's industries which depend upon timber and that woodlands help support 2,500,000 farm families. Both bills now go to the senate.
