CELERATED progress.

THERE'S a strong note of optimism in our reports from there. The Japs are said to have committed more than a third of their entire Burma strength to this attempted invasion of India, in which they have been losing men heavily.

If they should get cut off from the rear, they might be in a bad way. In this jungle-grown, steeply mountainous country, with few roads, almost anything could happen.

THE new Jap offensive in northern China, along the Yellow river, is said to be still expanding. They are reported to have thrown as much as 18 divisions (more than 200,000 men) into it.

It still looks as if their chief purpose may be establishment of a north and south rail line for transport of supplies by LAND, instead of by the waters of the China sea which our prowling submarines are rendering increasingly dangerous.

IN Europe, the air war goes on unchecked. Moscow says the Russians are taking quite a hand in it, having knocked down 79 German planes on the Russian front on Wednesday.

Recalling what it has been costing us to destroy 79 German planes, we can realize that this is quite a contribution to the crippling of the German air force.

THE Germans have been busy in Denmark for several days—supposedly putting down sabotage by the Danes on an extensive scale. The Danish borders have been closed. What is going on can only be guessed at.

THERE was a rumor the other day that the Germans had taken over the Finnish part of Petsamo, up on the Arctic. IMPRISONING the Finnish troops there.

We read now that Russian planes have destroyed a large German CONVOY, including several merchant ships, in the nearby Barents sea. The implication is that the Germans are rushing reinforcements from somewhere (presumably from Norway) into northern Finland, for some purpose of their own.

Draw your own conclusions.

THERE'S still no news from the Russians of their supposed new offensive in Romania. Sevastopol's goose appears to be about cooked. The Russian artillery, posted on the surrounding heights and firing at point-blank range over open sights commands EVERY street.

ON our troubled home front, troops acting under President Roosevelt's orders take forcible possession of Ward's big mail order establishment in Chicago. The action is taken under the emergency powers of the War Labor board. On Associated Press dispatch explains:

GETTING THE BALL ROLLING

By Charles V. Stanton

RECOGNIZING that it is unfair to expect a community to bear all of the burden resulting from populations swollen by war industry workers, the federal government through several channels, is providing financial assistance in many localities. Such funds are made available for roads, schools, hospitals, recreation and other purposes for which public funds are normally required.

Douglas county already has received much help in its road construction program, and there now are good prospects that aid may be forthcoming to expand schools and hospitals, and provide limited recreational facilities.

Through access road funds, improvements have been made to the upper Smith River, Calapoia and Little river roads, the federal government cooperating with the county in each of these projects. Negotiations are now in progress for further development work of like character, all designed to speed lumber production and to make all-year log hauling a possibility, so that advantage may be taken of the full capacity of all mills.

The Roseburg chamber of commerce is collecting data to be used in supporting applications for use of federal funds in constructing an addition to Mercy hospital and to develop city-owned sites for playground and recreation purposes. Representatives of the agencies handling such projects have met with the chamber of commerce officers for preliminary studies.

Tentative plans have been considered by the board of directors of the Roseburg school district for a new elementary school building on which a grant of federal funds probably will be requested.

If these projects can be successfully negotiated, initial impetus will be given the much-needed expansion of public facilities.

The financial power of a small community to meet its public problems is very limited. It is not possible to raise through normal tax methods the money necessary to keep our roads in shape for the heavy travel imposed by the logging industry. The general public should not be expected to assume this extra burden, occasioned exclusively by industry. Money available for normal road construction and upkeep is sufficient to meet ordinary needs. Relief, therefore, should be provided to cover the special construction made necessary by extraordinary traffic. To date the federal government, through appropriations designed to provide transportation facilities to permit removal of raw materials vitally needed in the war effort, have aided materially in construction and improvement of roads into the heavily timbered districts. Further assistance from the same source is anticipated in the future.

Increased population makes necessary more hospital beds. The U. S. Bureau of Public Health sets four beds for each 1,000 of population as the desired ratio. Douglas county's proportion is four beds for each 2,250 population. There now is under consideration a program which would permit Mercy hospital at Roseburg to enlarge its facilities through financial aid provided by a federal agency.

As population increases, cities become overcrowded, limiting the facilities available for recreational purposes. A need for playgrounds, both for juveniles and adults, as a means of lessening delinquency and crime, as well as providing health, happiness and welfare is generally recognized. It is obvious that a city the size of Roseburg cannot expect to secure from limited tax funds the money necessary to provide all the desired facilities. The need being inspired in large measure by influx of workers directly connected with the timber industry, now recognized as one of the most essential of war production activities, there is every probability that the community's eligibility for federal aid can be established.

The same condition applies to public schools where children of war workers must be furnished accommodations. Several Douglas county towns are expected to be able to qualify for aid in school expansion, where true need can be shown.

A stone once started to roll is easy to keep going, but it is the initial impetus that requires the hardest labor. A hand to help get the expansion program moving will be most welcome.

the fact that Avery (Ward executive head) had refused to comply with directives by the War Labor board and President Roosevelt that Ward's extend a contract with a CIO union pending further determination of the union's claim to majority representation."

FROM this it appears that force is being used to COMPEL collective bargaining. Many liberal-minded people don't think that is the way to make collective bargaining successful. On the other hand, this is war-time, and the War Labor board's job is to find a substitute for war-time strikes. It appears to believe that compulsory bargaining is the answer.

Many important issues are involved in this Ward case. Its outcome will be watched with great interest.

Points Off Many Canned Vegetables Starting Sunday

Reductions Made in Other Processed Foods; Boosts in Catsup, Chili Sauce Ordered

WASHINGTON, April 29—(AP)—Tomatoes, corn, beets, asparagus and four other vegetables will be added Sunday to the list of processed foods housewives may buy without ration stamps.

May values announced yesterday by the Office of Price Administration include a zero point rating for canned spinach, leafy vegetables, blackeye peas and Garbanzo beans, a foreign dish ingredient.

The move making eight additional vegetables point-free was taken to clear store shelves for the new season's pack, now in production.

Point Changes Listed In changes in processed food values, reductions are ordered for all condensed and concentrated soups, the type generally sold. From the current four-point value on 10-ounce cans, two points are trimmed for clam chowder and other seafood soups, while all other kinds are cut one point.

A number of varieties of fruit butter as well as grape and tomato preserves and apple, grape, mint and plum jellies in one-pound containers are reduced two points to a new value of two. But raspberry and strawberry jams and preserves, in short supply, are increased to 16 points a pound jar, double the present value.

Also sharply boosted is the value on cranberries and cranberry sauce, up eight points to a new total of 15 for a No. 2 can. Prevailing high point values on all other canned fruits are maintained.

Catsup, Chili Sauce To slow the rapid movement of tomato catsup and chili sauce, the ration cost of these items goes from 23 points to 30 for a 14-ounce bottle, and spaghetti sauce, packaged with cheese, gets a value of three instead of six points for an eight-ounce jar.

Heavy demand hikes the point value of a 46-ounce can of tomato juice two points to 18, while the six-pound size will cost 36 points instead of 30.

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

Many who have confessed their love for Christ and have united with His church are yet robbing themselves of great spiritual happiness because they have not learned to give freely and cheerfully of their means to support that church. They ask what can the church do for me? When they would have found more happiness if they had asked: What can I do for the church? Jesus taught in parables, and many of them dealt with money. Some one has remarked that He spoke more about money and possessions than about heaven or prayer and church attendance. Unless we are willing to give to a cause, we are not deeply devoted to it. Money can never take the place of personal service to God, but it can enlarge our service and help others to serve. A gift of money for some worthy cause can bring happiness far beyond any money spent for self-gratification of personal desires, "remember the words of the Lord Jesus how He said: It is more blessed to give than to receive." "We give Thee but Thine own Whate'er the gift may be; All that we have is Thine alone A trust, O Lord, from Thee."
