an invasion of the Balkans.

DON'T take TOO much sfock in these "significant" dispatches. Keep realistically in mind the fact that they have PASSED THE CENSOR. The Germans, you know, can draw conclusions as well as we can, and we must remember that Churchill himself warned us a little while back that the air will be full of all kinds of rumors until the invasion actually starts.

No one can know when one of these rumors MIGHT mislead the Germans and so give us an advantage. At least it doesn't cost anything to put them out.

WASHINGTON announces that our submarines have sunk another Jap light cruiser and a couple of destroyers "deep in enemy-controlled waters."

This brings to 544 the number of Jap ships sunk by our subs since Pearl Harbor, with 150 more HIT and damaged badly.

AT the same time, it is announced that BRITISH subs have sunk a Jap destroyer and four other vessels in recent attacks in ASIATIC waters. (One guesses that Asiatic waters in this case are the Indian ocean or the Bay of Bengal.)

The Japs are beginning to feel the nip of the pincer.

DEEP in Burma, the Japs have been desperately attacking the road block established some time ago by our air-borne commandos to the SOUTH of Mogaung and Myitkyina, the advanced Jap bases that General Stilwell is gunning for.

Four attacks have been made, and in these four tries the Japs have lost 1,000 killed. The point is that if they DON'T break the road block and open the rail line, Mogaung and Myitkyina will be cut off from supplies and so will fall to Stilwell.

Myitkyina is our present No. 1 goal in Burma, for if we can take it and HOLD it we will be on the way to reopening the Burma road to China.

THE Japs are still making progress in their most recent drive against the Chinese up along the Yellow river. They are pushing steadily southward along the railroad that leads from Peiping clear down to Canton, on the China sea.

They seem to be backing this drive with great force—but let's not lose faith in the plucky Chinese who, time and again, fighting with not much more than rifles and their bare hands, have stopped Jap offensives.

Gen. Kai-Shek Prayed for Japs, Dr. Poling States

PORTLAND, May 5—(AP)—Dr. Dan A. Poling, international Christian Endeavor president, says he has twice heard Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek pray for the Japanese people.

Poling, who told an audience here last night that love for America and not hatred of the enemy was motivating America's armed forces, said while in Chungking he heard the Chinese general offer a prayer that "hate should not take possession of the heart of China for the Japanese people."

A DAY OF PRAYER

By Charles V. Stanton

A PROCLAMATION issued Tuesday by Mayor W. F. Harris urges people of Roseburg to join in a day of prayer when announcement is made of the start of the invasion of continental Europe.

During a score of years in newspaper work we have had opportunity to handle hundreds of proclamations by mayors, governors, presidents and others in authority. But, though couched in flowery language and devoted to worthy purposes and causes, none has impressed us as much as the simple appeal made by Roseburg's mayor that the churches be thrown open to the public and that "people enter them and pray.'

There comes a time in the life of every man when he has reached the limit of his own strength and finds need for a power greater than mankind alone can supply. In that dark hour he reaches out for a supporting arm, a comforting hand.

Such a time will come when the word "invasion" flashes around the world. Knowing the desperate character of that struggle we shudder with apprehension at each mention of the word, yet, realizing it is a task which must be performed before peace can be restored to the world, we are impatient at delay. There will be hours and days of anxiety. Many homes will be overwhelmed with grief and bereavement. It will, indeed, be one of the "times that try men's souls."

There may be some of us who have forgotten how to pray. There may be some who doubt the efficacy of prayer. But there are multitudes who can testify to its power to comfort and strengthen when all man-made artifices fail.

The boys in the foxholes will be praying. Testimonies from the battle fronts tell of a new-found conviction in the souls of those who have gone out to do battle.

A combined testament and prayer book is to be found with every life raft. Men afloat upon the high seas, despairing of rescue, have turned to prayer.

An army is supplied by practical-minded men. A life raft is stripped to bare essentials for existence for a limited time, but sharing a place with the meager, condensed rations is the "bread of life," which a hard-headed army has found an essential element in sustaining men who are at the mercy of providence.

We read how Moses lifted his arms to heaven and as long as his hands made the symbol of suplication, the Israelites prevailed. Aaron and Hur stood on either side to support his tiring arms until the battle was won.

Throughout the land on invasion day prayers will ascend from churches, from homes, from offices and from the streets and crossroads. They will join and support those of the bo— who pray silently as they go forward to meet the leaden hail.

Who knows what miracle may be wrought by the combined petitions?

The mayor has asked the cooperation of the churches and the people of Roseburg in the day of prayer. His authority extends only to the city limits, but we believe his suggestion should be adopted in every village, town and city throughout the land. It will comfort believers, will ease the burden of waiting, will strengthen the spirit.

"That power is prayer—stupendous boon!
To sinful beings giv'n.
It moves the mind omnipotent,
That rules o'er earth and heav'n."

Lukemia Victim Loses Struggle for Life

RAHWAY, N. J., May 5—(AP)—Theresa Truax, 19-months-old Leukemia victim, died yesterday, and at the bedside were her mother and her soldier father who had been flown from the South Pacific on a special furlough ordered by President Roosevelt after the mother appealed to him.

Dr. Edward Blakely said the child had developed measles and bronchitis in the past ten days, but that up until yesterday morning her condition had not been critical.

Clatsop Farmer Gored To Death by Mad Bull

ASTORIA, Ore., May 5.—(AP)—Ellroy Porter Surrat, 34, was gored to death near here yesterday by an angry bull after he succeeded in corralling two other bulls. He and his wife, two children and three step children came here a year ago from Walla Walla, Wash.

Women Recruits Needed Now For Oregon Farm Aid

Oregon women who can assist in harvesting Oregon's vital war crops this spring and summer have been asked to register early with their local county farm labor employment office by Mrs. Mabel Mack, assistant state farm labor supervisor in charge of the women's land army. Both the recruitment and the placement of farm labor this year is in charge of extension agricultural agents.

Shortage of men workers this year require greatly increased numbers of women workers, Mrs. Mack says. She estimates that about 40,000 placements of women will be necessary this year compared with 25,000 last year. They will be used not only for field work and harvesting of seasonal crops throughout the state, but also will be placed in full-time jobs such as ranch cooks, dairy workers or for general farm work.

Although it will be a few weeks before the peak demands for women farm workers will arise, Mrs. Mack points out that the local county farm labor offices are getting their records in shape and making lists of women workers who will be available when they are needed. Some of these members of the women's land army are already being called on by farmers, even before harvest periods of seasonal crops.

Women farm workers may become members of the women's land army and will be eligible to wear the special WLA uniform and insignia.

Padres Pummel Rainiers, Beavers Beat Solons, 1-0

(By the Associated)

The San Diego Padres, after 22 scoreless innings in their last three contests, rebounded with a bang in last night's Coast league baseball game with the Seattle Rainiers and scored a 15 to 1 victory.

The win left the Padres in a tie with the Rainiers for third place as San Francisco tumbled Los Angeles out of the upper half of the league standings by winning, 5 to 2. It was their third straight victory over the angels.

Portland, in second place, and Hollywood likewise made it three straight in the current series. Portland scored a 1 to 0 win over last place Sacramento while Hollywood won over Oakland, 9 to 4.

Pieretti of Portland registered his third shut-out of the season, allowing the Sacramento squad only four hits. Tod Davis of Hollywood hit a homer with two on to clinch the Stars victory over Oakland.

Team Standings.

DIAL LOG

Ho-hum—it must be spring fever, 'cause we'd much rather just sit and listen to programs than work, and with more program changes in the offing we really shouldn't be loafing; but wouldn't it be fun to go fishing today or maybe, just sit in the sun? Of course, by the time this gets to print it will probably be raining again. Anyway, come Monday, something new is coming on the morning schedule. From 9:30 to 10 you'll get two fifteen-minute serial shows—what's technically known as "Soap Operas", and something we haven't had for a long, long time. Both of them sound good, but we'll all have to listen and pass our verdict later. The only objection we have to these shows is that when you once start listening you're sunk. You can't leave them lay—you just have to know what's going to happen next. Better get the washing sorted a little earlier on Monday so you won't miss them. Of course they're a fine way to make the ironing easy on Tuesday. In case you're worried about the Service Salute, you'll hear it on the 8:30 time in place of Hppy Joe and Ralph. From comments received, we've been led to believe that you won't miss them.

Back to tonight's shows: don't forget its Double or Nothing night at 6:30 with the "Tars and Spars" cast as guests, Dale Carnegie at 7 with a profile of our favorite humorist, Mark Twain, and our pet of pets, Name That Song at 8:30. We wish that some of the other advertisers would take a leaf out of their book and make their commercials entertaining. But then, of course, every show doesn't have Dud Williamson in the cast to do the commercials, so perhaps it's just as well.

Gen. Fuller Happy At "Butcher" Label

ARMY CORPS HEADQUARTERS, Hollandia, New Guinea, May 4—Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, top-ranking commander of this newly won base, took time out Tuesday to pin a silver star decoration on Maj. Gen. Horace H. Fuller, who commanded the 41st division, which made the main landing on Humboldt bay and was the first to reach the airdromes area.

Fuller chuckled when Eichelberger told him the Tokyo radio has been announcing "the 41st division butchers are back at work in New Guinea."

"They couldn't say anything that would make me happier," Gen. Fuller answered.

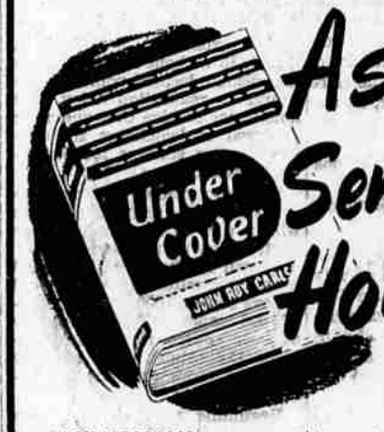
REPUBLICANS OF ROSEBURG!



Ask Senator Holman!

- ASK HOLMAN to answer this quotation from page 238 of the famous book, "UNDER COVER" "And on March 4, 1941, as the Senate and gallery sat tense, the Oregon Senator bluntly praised Hitler and suggested that England and America might advantageously emulate him."
- ASK HOLMAN why he was away from Washington on the day Congress voted to declare war. And why he failed to answer 148 roll calls out of 239 between May 15 and Dec. 16, 1942. (Senator McNary was absent once in this period.)
- ASK HOLMAN why he has been quoted with high approval in the Roll Call, published by William Dudley Pelley (now serving 15 years for sedition), in the Defender, published by Gerald R. Winrod (indicted for conspiracy to overthrow the government), on the roll of honor of Scribner's Commentator (one of the editors of which, Ralph Townsend, has now been convicted as a Japanese agent), America in Danger, published by Charles B. Hudson (indicted three times and put on trial for sedition), in the Broom, published by C. Leon de Aryan (ex-inmate of an insane asylum, indicted for sedition) and by Joe McWilliams, now on trial for sedition. (These are but a few of the members of the "vermin press" who have quoted Holman approvingly.)
- ASK HOLMAN why he voted AGAINST (March 31, 1939) the bill to provide for the common defense by acquisition of strategic materials for use in time of war or emergency, (March 8, 1941) voted AGAINST the Lend-Lease Bill (Senator McNary led the Republicans who voted FOR the bill), (March 15, 1941) voted AGAINST the bill to authorize acquisition of merchant ships for national defense, (Nov. 7, 1941) voted AGAINST bill to permit arming of merchant vessels entering combat zones.
- ASK HOLMAN why he voted FOR (October 26, 1939) amendment making it unlawful to export arms, ammunition and implements of war except to nations on the American continent.
- ASK HOLMAN why he was ABSENT during the vote on these life-or-death measures: (March 7, 1939) Bill to provide for a more effective national defense, (Oct. 24, 1940) Bill to permit aircraft exports, (May 22, 1940) Bill to provide funds for National Defense Council, (June 19, 1940) Amendment to levy tax on war profits, (Aug. 28, 1940) Draft Bill, (Aug. 7, 1941) Extension of Draft. During these and a hundred more vital bills, why was Holman absent?

With America on the verge of war, newspaper store date lines showed Holman AWAY FROM WASHINGTON in June, July, August, September, October, November and December, 1941 (away at least part of the time during seven consecutive months). Why shouldn't we keep him away from Washington ALL the time?
