Fire Guard School Conducted Prior to Duty Assignment
Approximately 85 members of the national forest protective force attended the three-day fire school completed last week at the Dry creek camp on the North Umpqua river. V. V. Harpham, supervisor of the Umpqua National forest, advises. The school was directed by Ray B. Hampton, fire assistant. District rangers and experienced personnel served as instructors.
The school was to train rangers, fire guards, lookouts and suppression crews in their respective duties and to outline the summer program.
Approximately 30 selected high school boys, largely from Douglas county, but including one group from Portland, have been assigned to the forest to work as maintenance and fire crews. Supervisor Harpham reports. They are being divided into three 10-man crews to be located at Dry creek, Diamond lake, and the South Umpqua district, where they will engage in improvement and betterment work under the direction of experienced foresters and will be available to aid in fire suppression.
