men). A glance at your map will show you WHY they mean business. Salpan is disturbingly close to Japan's front door.

ACCORDING to the Jap radio version, our B-29 raid was a complete flop. We did no damage at all to the big steel mills. It seems that some Jap farmer was burning a pile of wheat (not rice)
 straw out in front of his barn
 and our fliers saw it and mistook
 it for the flames of damaged Yawata.

That's telling us off!

THERE was NO Jap air resistance at Salpan.

The reason:
 We hit at so MANY places in the 3,000 miles from Truk to the Kuriles that the little yellow men DARED NOT send planes from one place to another.

THE Russian offensive in Finland is rolling on, and the Finns are evacuating all civilians
 from Viipuri and rushing troops
 there from every place they can be laid hands on.

In Washington, the Finnish
 minister and three of his counselors are handed their passports and told to GET OUT on the first available transport. They are accused of "activities inimical to the interests of the U. S."

We're pouring the heat on the Finns and inviting the other satellites and neutrals to LOOK.

TO an unprejudiced observer,
 De Gaulle looks more and more as the days pass like a cheap politician who wants the inside track in France AFTER the war. (This opinion, of course,
 is guesswork; the news is too
 strongly tinged with propaganda
 to form a REAL opinion.)

A French army, presumably coming from Corsica, takes the island of Elba, off the Italian coast. From Elba to the Italian mainland is only a short step (see map).

SHAEP reports that the French underground is giving FULL SUPPORT to the invasion, sabotaging German rail and road communications, wrecking trains,
 blowing up bridges, attacking
 German garrisons and even occupying whole villages.

The underground is made up of real Frenchmen, who have felt the hard hand of the German master, as distinguished from politicians who have stayed AWAY FROM FRANCE in the comparative safety of Africa and England.

IN Burma, the Chinese take Ka-maing, 15 miles north of Mogaung, which is due west of Myitkyina. The Salween Chinese have effected a TOKEN junction with Stilwell's forces EAST of Myitkyina, thus clearing another section of the Burma road.

GENERAL BRADLEY, commanding American ground
 forces in France, tells the correspondents that TWICE at the beginning of the invasion it was

ANOTHER DESERT ROSE?

By Charles V. Stanton

THE Council on Books in Wartime has just issued, we are informed "a 60,000-word treatise by the OWI entitled "A War Atlas for Americans."

We haven't received a copy of this atlas, with its 84 pages of new maps, which already must be obsolete, but we are wondering if it is anything like "A Handbook of the United States of America," which assigned four and one-half (4 1/2) pages to the history of the United States from the time of Leif Ericsson down to the date the New Deal took over the reins of government, and devoted ten and three-quarters (10 3/4) pages to the presidency of Franklin Delano Roosevelt; a book which mentions two American women, Jane Addams, the great American social worker, and Lady Eleanor, globe-trotter extraordinary. Or we wonder if it is anything like the 68-page pamphlet "The Negro in the War," which cost $85,000 and ran into 2,500,000 copies.

The U. S. handbook was barred from circulation in this country by act of congress, but was reprinted in England by a private publisher and sold for $2 per copy. The negro pamphlet, prominently displaying photographs of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt, created such an uproar, particularly from congressmen from the southern states, that Elmer Davis, head of the OWI, reports no copies have been distributed since July 1, 1943.

Is the "War Atlas for Americans," with its 60,000-word text and foreword by Mr. Davis, to be another flower "born to blush unseen?"

We are particularly interested in this matter, for the Council on Books in Wartime tells us that in addition to the heralded "War Atlas for Americans," it is "also responsible for publishing more than 35,000,000 books a year for shipment to service men overseas." If any part of those 35-million books are like those which congress won't let the home folk read, maybe we ought to send them to the Arabs to keep company with the thousands of lapel buttons, bearing the picture of President Roosevelt on one side and the American flag on the other, which Walter Davenport, Colliers' political editor, said were reported by a soldier to be "very handy for the lend-lease diapers, in which desert babies are now being swaddled."

Our interest is, of course, purely mercenary, for while all this propaganda goes abroad, so that the Arabs may know what the president and the American flag look like, our business manager, Mr. Knapp, is glumly pondering the possible necessity for rationing advertising space and subscriptions. He tells us that in our enthusiasm to give our readers the "dope" on the election, news of the invasion, selling war bonds and trying to keep up business levels, we have used more than our monthly quota of newsprint. Consequently we look with jealous eyes upon the Council of Books in Wartime and its liberality with the newsprint we could be putting to use in our own business.

We also look with mixed emotions upon a 30-inch high wastepaper basket, which flanks our desk, now almost level with wastepaper, a liberal part of which is discarded government propaganda.

Perhaps it is more important the American people have a war atlas with 84 maps and 60,000 words, written by a Princeton professor for the OWI, than to have a newspaper to tell them what their boys are undergoing on the battle fronts.

Maybe it is better to tell the people of foreign lands twice as much about President Roosevelt as about American history, including Eleanor, than it is to devote advertising space to the sale of war bonds and maintaining normal relations between the business man and the consumer.

We don't know the answer; we give up. We only work here!

This is the night for the True Detective Mysteries at 7:30. That's a good listening spot for the youngsters right through the week with the Lone Ranger, Cisco Kid, Boys Town and now this mystery show appearing nightly at this time. Tonight is Eye Witness News at 8 and Recital Hall of the Air at 8:15. By the way, this is the last recital of the season. Tonight Gladys Strong pre-touch and go, and if the Germans had hit hard at the right place at the right time they might have driven us back into the sea.

Once when the American First (regular army) division encountered a reinforced German division, already on the beach for maneuvers, and again when two U. S. army corps were trying to join their beachheads.

Fortunately, the Germans failed to take advantage of these opportunities.

AMERICAN casualties on the Normandy beaches up to Friday total 3,283 killed and 12,600 wounded. It appears probable that the Americans so far have suffered more heavily than the British or the Canadians.

ON the home front, the "singing cowboy from Pocatello" is a few votes ahead for the democratic nomination for senator in Idaho. About the only way for Idaho to save its good name is to elect the republican nominee.

sents Priscilla Wade, Joyce Bartley, Shirley Wilson and Patricia Savage with piano selections, and Mrs. Brand will present Mrs. Ford Singleton, soprano, in vocal numbers, so be sure to listen in. Freedom of Opportunity at 8:30 and your Newspaper of the Air at 9, with a touch of Music for the Night at 9:45, complete your program tonight.

Tomorrow morning there's your favorite soap opery—Midland U. S. A. at 9:30—and don't forget that Jack Berch will be whistling so you be a-listenin' come 10:15 time. There's a good 1:30 show on Wednesdays now, Your Army Service Forces—and we're sort of sorry to have to tell you that Lullaby in Rhythm won't be heard on Wednesday.

Congressman Claire Booth Luce and Mrs. Raymond Clapper will be giving you some pre-convention dope. No doubt the girls will be very good and very interesting, but we wish they'd cancel something beside Buddy Cole—he's the very brightest spot in the afternoon for us, but he will be back on Thursday. Good listening on the evening hours Wednesday beginning with First Nighter at 8:30. We'll tell you more about that tomorrow.

Anita Young on U. of O. Federation Committee

Miss Anita Young, Roseburg, student at University of Oregon, has been appointed as a member of the University of Oregon federation committee for the coming year. The committee, including members from all principal cities of the state, is headed by Gerd Hansen, Marshfield, and is formed for the purpose of contacting prospective university students and providing detailed information concerning courses, living conditions, employment, campus activities and other matters.

Condemnation of Land For Fowl Refuge Upheld

PORTLAND, June 20.—(AP)—Federal condemnation of privately owned lands in Harney county for a migratory water fowl refuge was authorized today by the ninth circuit court of appeals, reversing a decision of the Oregon federal district court.

The appeals court in San Francisco upheld validity of a 1933 act that authorized the federal government to condemn property to be used for public works.

In 1935 the government condemned 3474 acres in Harney county and Gordon T. Carey and Stacy D. George brought suit, contending congress did not authorize condemnation of privately owned lands for refuge purposes. The federal district court ruled in September, 1942, that the condemnation was invalid.

State Hospital Head, Employee Face Charges

BLACKFOOT, Idaho, June 20.—(AP)—Dr. D. A. McCluskey, superintendent of the Idaho state hospital, south, pleaded innocent yesterday to charges of neglecting inmates of the institution.

Mrs. Hazel K. Brown, a hospital employee, pleaded innocent to a similar charge and another accusing her of assault and battery upon a hospital patient.

Archbishop Usher's chronology, based on Biblical records, lists 4004 B. C. as the date of the Creation of the World.

Beavers Lose to Los Angeles, Drop To Fourth Place

(By the Associated Press)

The Los Angeles Angels broke two Coast league baseball ties last night by defeating the Portland Beavers, 5 to 1.

The Angels took undisputed possession of sixth place, half a game ahead of Oakland, and Portland dropped to fourth position from a tie with Hollywood for third. It was the only regular game scheduled other teams resuming play tonight.

Steady pitching by Camellas of the Angels, who kept seven hits well scattered, handed the Beavers their eighth consecutive defeat.

At Hollywood 2,500 fans who purchased $1,500,000 worth of war bonds saw Red Ruffing's Sixth Ferrying group, of Long Beach, defeat the Stars, 7 to 1, in an exhibition game.

In another exhibition at San Francisco an army all-star outfit composed of players from various military establishments in the bay area defeated the league leading Seals, 5 to 1.

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

There are two ways of facing the passing years. One is to think that they bring us nearer to the end of life; the other is that they bring us nearer to the beginning of real life. As far back as the time of Job this second viewpoint was held. A shock of corn or wheat is lovely in its different stages of development. "First the blade, then the ear, and after that the full corn in the ear." Yet it is only when it has been gathered into the garner, that it commences its real career of usefulness, that of feeding the hungry multitudes. Robert Browning presents this viewpoint of the passing years: "Grow old along with me, the point of the passing years; for which the first was made." We have much to say about the type of life we will reap with age. "They that trust in the Lord shall be as Mount Zion, which cannot be moved." Homer speaks of the "Rosy fingered dawn," giving a joyous tone to life. In Arizona they talk of "the after glow," a strange unearthly yet gorgeous color which is seen against the clear skies of the desert after a glorious sunset. This "after glow" is what should come to those who have labored through life's long day, and come to the evening with the "after glow" of a life spent in service. Amen.

Cornelsen, secretary, reports. The decision to sponsor the Labor day program was adopted at the union's last regular meeting at which time officers for the ensuing term were elected.

The new officers include E. T. Ogle, president; C. Currier, vice president; L. Hewitt, recording secretary; J. Cornelsen, financial secretary; E. D. Burghard, treasurer; B. D. Jameson, conductor; Charles Poirot, warden.
