SGT. McCORD AND ESTELLA WOODS HONORED AT CHARMING AFFAIR

Miss Estella Woods and Sgt. Melvin McCord (who were married on Sunday, July 2) were honored on Friday evening, when Mrs. R. P. Blakely, Mrs. Fearn Moore and Mrs. O. E. Prowell entertained at the grape hall for them.

Sgt. McCord has recently returned from service in Italy and gave a very interesting talk on the people and their way of living and methods of farming. He stated that most of the farm work is done by the women and that they have very little to do with most of their tools and equipment being of wood. The country has been so drained by the nazis that it is very difficult for them to eke out a living although they are going ahead and putting in crops very close to the firing line with the hopes that the Germans will be pushed farther back and they will be able to harvest their crops unmolested. Anything of value which they wished to save from the Germans was buried in the ground, says Sgt. McCord and it was very common to see them digging their possessions out after the allies came in. Clothes, sewing machines and even small cars would be buried and covered over to prevent seizure, by the Germans.

The guests of honor were presented with a shower of lovely gifts from their friends.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses from tables placed to form a V and which were covered with white cloths. Red, white and blue candles and a floral arrangement in the same colors, carried out the patriotic motif.

Those present were: Miss Woods and Sgt. McCord, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gardner, Mrs. Gussie Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Marr, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Casebeer, Herbert Andrew McCord from Arcata, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Van Horn, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Messing, Mr. and Mrs. August Spiedel, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Melvin, Mr. M. WPA's Existence Ended; OPA Lives Under Criticism

WASHINGTON, July 3—(AP)—A once-embattled government agency, set up to spend billions to make jobs, died quietly at midnight June 30, while a year's lease on life was given another agency fighting to keep the public from spending too much for necessities.

The WPA—the Work Projects Administration—expired almost unnoticed, although in its nine years of life it had spent $10,136,743,293 in federal funds to provide employment for a total of 8,500,000 persons.

The OPA had its life extended by a bill signed by President Roosevelt, although he questioned the wisdom of numerous changes required in OPA's activities from now until July 1, 1945.

The president said he feared the changes would weaken and obstruct the effective enforcement of price control and wage stabilization regulations. He said that if it should develop that enforcement agents run into troubles "in bringing chiselers and black operators to book," he would ask congress to remove the difficulties.

WPA at its height found itself the target of many charges—among them political favoritism, extravagance and waste of materials—which became the subject of hours of debate in congress. And, like OPA, it was the butt of many jokes, jibes and jingles.

Ex-Mayors, Police Heads Face Bribery Charges

OGDEN, Utah, July 5.—(AP)—Former "Boy Mayor" Kent S. Bramwell has been indicted by a Weber county grand jury which charged he "asked and agreed to receive an unspecified amount of money as a bribe."

Bramwell, 31, resigned suddenly last March and a day later enlisted in the army. J. C. Meyers, who pleaded innocent, is awaiting trial on a charge of offering a bribe to the former mayor. Bramwell was elected last November, defeating four-term mayor Hartman W. Perry, 51, who was indicted recently on charges of "permitting gambling devices to operate."

In all, 25 persons were named in 14 indictments. Several former and present police officers were named.

Finns Saddened by American Break; Revolt Forecast

STOCKHOLM, July 3—(AP)—News of the American break with Finland was received with "deep disappointment and pain" by most Finns, the Helsinki Sanomat said in an editorial quoted in the Swedish press.

Social Demokratil wrote: "What the great majority of the Finnish people long have feared now has happened. There is no sentimentality in politics, but despite this, the news makes a great many of our people sad and sorrowful."

The Stockholm Press reported that Finnish and German troops were assembling in Turku harbor, apparently for transport to the Aland islands to strengthen the garrison there.

WASHINGTON, July 3—(AP)—Shorn of allied friends and virtually occupied by nazi troops,

Finland entered today a new period of its war with Russia which now can end only in defeat on the field of battle or bloody civil war at home.

Some diplomatic experts here predict that the Finnish people will eventually choose revolution when they realize the predicament into which their government has led them. It is the considered opinion of these authorities that the United States break in relations, announced yesterday, may contribute to that decision and help the Finnish people to assert their independence of an alliance with Germany.
