SCENES OF WAR AND PEACE

By Charles V. Stanton

JOHN KOLB and Clyde Wiard were telling us about unique and particularly pleasant experiences they had over the Fourth of July. As we listened we could not help but contrast the pictures they drew with those of a letter we have from Lieutenant Allen Cordon, son of U. S. Senator and Mrs. Guy Cordon, and husband of Helen Cordon of Roseburg. How sharp is the contrast between the scenes of peace and war! Realizing the peaceful scenes we have at home, how essential it becomes that we hasten the day when our boys can be brought back from the spots where their eyes fall upon views of desolation and horror. Power to speed their return lies in our hands—hands capable of producing the materials of war and writing the checks with which to buy war bonds.

John told us about stopping his car to avoid striking a female native pheasant on the North Umpqua road. The hen refused to leave the roadside. As John stepped out of the automobile, the bird ruffled her feathers, stretched out her beak and moved toward him, uttering a peculiar hissing sound. Her action was explainable, for from the opposite side of the road, came cautious peeps of her curious brood from which she had been separated by the automobile.

"Our first view of the beachhead was one I shall never forget," writes Lieutenant Cordon. "Everywhere was silent evidence of the terrific bombing and shelling the place had undergone. As we waited for our transportation, the overpowering silence of ruin and destruction closed in on us. We talked in forced light tones to convince each other there was nothing to be apprehensive about. Suddenly there was a terrific swishing whine in the air above us, and then a geyser of water spouted high into the air. The place was being shelled! This was war!

Clyde Wiard spent the Fourth of July in the coast range, over on the headwaters of Coos river. "If I had only had a camera," Clyde lamented, "I could have had some wonderful wildlife pictures. A bull elk, with a rocking chair spread of horns, grazed nearby. Undisturbed by the intrusion of picnickers, he continued to loiter near the campsite in full view of the members of the party.

Allen writes: "We were all kidding one of the boys who had just been married before he came overseas. This boy, Roy Martin, was a nice-looking, clean-cut kid, and he took it cheerfully. His main objective in life, as with all of us over here, was to go back home. I talked to Roy quite a while that night, and finally went to bed with a 'see you in the morning, Roy.' I didn't realize then how true that parting statement was. On this morning a large number of German aircraft pulled a sneak raid. We heard the ack-ack open up on them. As we tore for cover, we heard a Jerry plane peel off and howl over us. Immediately thereafter all hell broke loose. There was a terrific roar. My body seemed as though it was going to explode and I was enveloped in a bright red flash of light. The corner of our foxhole was blown away.

"We waited a few moments in case there should be more attacks, then hastened outside to see where the bomb had hit. What a sight! We had left a thick stand of big trees when we ran to our foxholes. We returned to a gaping hole, littered with broken trees, wires, tents, equipment. Directly on top of our foxhole lay the remnants of a body; a head, part of the torso. The rest was scattered about the area, and subsequently was picked up and buried. We couldn't identify him, but a check revealed it to be Roy—yes, Roy Martin, from whom I had parted the night before with 'see you in the morning, Roy.' I saw him, but he didn't see me. Ner would he see his wife again, nor the yet unborn baby to have been his."

Can you imagine what our boys would give to leave scenes of such horror to gaze upon a mother pheasant belligerently defending her young, or a lordly elk, disdainful of campers? We believe they would be willing to give far more than a simple investment of their idle funds in war bonds.

Wheat-For-Flour Payments Listed

WASHINGTON, July 3—(AP)—Government payments on wheat ground into flour for July, set by the Defense Supplies corporation and announced by Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones, were generally below the rates for June.

Here are the July rates: Hard wheat ground outside of the Pacific coast area, 15 1/2 cents a bushel, 3 1/2 cents less than the June figure.

Soft wheat ground outside of the Pacific coast area, 4 1/2 cents a bushel, a decrease of 13 1/2 cents.

Durum wheat ground outside of the Pacific coast area, 13 cents a bushel, a decrease of 7 1/2 cents.

All wheat ground in the Pacific coast area, 19 cents a bushel, a decrease of 7.

The rates on soft wheat ground outside the Pacific coast area were especially high in June because of a decrease in OPA price ceilings on soft wheat flour.

Lloyd O. Nelson Heard Over Air From Tokyo Radio

Lloyd O. Nelson son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Nelson 427 Mill St., Roseburg, was heard July 7, broadcasting from Tokyo, where he is held as a prisoner of war, following his capture on Wake Island, where he was employed with a civilian construction crew when the Japs attacked that Pacific base.

In his broadcast he reported he was well and gave the names of a number of his friends in the same camp, including James Ressler, Roseburg, and Ernie Cole, Lookingglass. In a letter received by his parents in March he included the name of Eugene Hargis, Roseburg, as a prisoner in the same camp.

Mrs. Nelson is very appreciative of the kindness of radio listeners who reported the broadcast. In addition to an official telegram from a government agency, she has received 69 letters, 22 postcards and three telegrams, all from listeners throughout the western states and in Canada.

des, her sponsor—and you too, particularly if you missed the program. Mrs. B. and Manager Pengra both of them very kindly offered to take the blame in part but since they did all our work last week, we haven't heard the new streamlined version yet, but we're pretty sure that tenor Frank Forrest with his grand opry air won't be missed at our house. Eye Witness News at 8, Name That Song at 8:30 blossoms forth with a new sponsor—we're of the opinion that the sponsor in this case made a good deal, because it remains our favorite program of the week, except maybe Point Sublime. We had the pleasure of meeting the lucky young lady who won five dollars a couple of weeks ago. Very thrilled, she was—and we don't blame her. Anyway, be sure to listen in tonight for the first performance under the new sponsor.

By SUSAN.

Well, we're back in the groove—but definitely—because here we are starting off with an apology. We didn't know that Music You Remember was back on the live talent list until it was too late to tell you to be sure to listen on Thursday evening at 6:30. Esther Geddes will bring you organ music each Tuesday and Thursday evening after this. We know that's good news because so many of us enjoyed her programs before. So our deepest and most apologetic bow toward Mrs. Gedbig Russian thrust in that area and are tightening up to meet it.

WE and the British are fighting for more elbow room in the Cherbourg peninsula. We've got to have more space to handle the armies and the equipment we're bringing in through Cherbourg.

The Germans there are fighting to keep us from expanding.

THE weather improves a little, enabling large numbers of our planes to get into the fighting again.

THE German robots are still falling in England, but this much is becoming clear: They're NOT stopping the invasion, or even checking it. They're making the British MADDER by the day. Demands for TOUGHER treatment of the Germans (in the peace) are rising menacingly from the British people.

It's at least a fair guess that the robots are just a propaganda device to buck up German morale.

HITLER comes out of the silence to make a couple of speeches, which are sketchily reported by the German radio.

He says "WE" (Germans won't capitulate, but will fight to the "last drop of our blood." What he means is that HE won't capitulate.

Hitler is a cornered Dillinger who has everything to lose (including his neck) and NOTHING to gain by capitulating. He's perfectly willing to fight to the last drop of GERMAN blood.

ANYTHING is better than what HE will get when German surrender comes.

THE Japs were right. We DID attack the Bonins.

It was a two-day fight. Planes from our carriers went in the first day, and the second day our warships moved in with their big guns. We sank or beached three Jap destroyers, sank two other ships and shot down 60 to 80 Jap planes at a cost of nine of ours.

THE Bonins are only 600 miles from Tokyo. That's getting so close that the Jap fleet MIGHT have to move in for a showdown.

WE now have seven-eighths of Saipan, with the Japs cornered in territory that isn't so difficult as what we've been fighting in. The total of Japs already buried by us is up to 7,000.

On Noemfoor, MacArthur's men take the first airfield (with its 5,000-foot runway) and move against the others with PARATROOPERS—the first time parachute troops have been used in the southwest Pacific.

NAVY SECRETARY FORRESTAL says: "The war against Japan has moved faster than we had hoped for," but warns us against over-confidence—says the "main battles are still to come and they will be bitter and costly," probably fought ON LAND, with in-

State Press Comment

WHY, ARTHUR!
 By ART PERRY
 (Medford Mail Tribune)
 Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce by her GOP convention speech drew the small-bore caliber fire of the idolatrous section of the New Deal press. One claimed she was "more cute than conscientious." The congresswoman was a glamorous eye-full, and spoke many a potent mouth-ful, in the course of her remarks. The republican press, if it cared to, could mention a lady (elected to nothing), whose elephantine attempts over nearly 12 years to appear "cute and conscientious" have left the deep impression she was neither.

Paul R. Weaver to Enter Special Army Training

Paul R. Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weaver, Roseburg, left Tuesday to enter specialized army training at Oregon State college. He was graduated from Roseburg high school with the class of 1943, at the age of 16 years.

His call to service continued a string of coincidences, as war with Japan was declared on his birthday, Dec. 8; he took his physical examination and enlisted in the army on D-day and was called to report for training July 4.

MILK CAN RATIONING OFF

Effective July 1, use of purchase certificates to purchase new milk cans will be discontinued. After that date purchases for use in handling milk or milk products may be without restriction. Control is to be continued on manufacturers' distribution.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The men overseas don't mince any words about the way they want to find this country when they come marching home... do they, Judge?"

"They certainly don't, Herb... and they shouldn't. They're doing a masterful job fighting over there to protect our rights and they have good license to expect us to protect theirs back here at home. One thing they're mighty clear on is their stand on prohibition."

"And they're 100% right, Judge, because I know how I felt when I came home after the last war—only to learn that we had been over there fighting for so impractical a thing as Prohibition."
