Seats Hurls Third Shutout in Row

(By the Associated Press) Tom Seats, the San Francisco Seals' miracle man of the season, pitched his third consecutive shutout in seven days and ran his string of scoreless innings to 26 last night as the Seals trimmed Los Angeles, 2-0, in a Coast league baseball game.

Seats' fourth twirling halved the two-game league lead held by the Angels. Only 12 hits have been made off the veteran curveballer in the 26 innings and only one man reached third off him during that time. He has won 17 games and lost eight this year.

Babich pitched another four-hitter for the Seattle Rainiers against Portland, but the Beavers bunched three of them with a walk in the first inning to score twice and win, 2 to 0.

Portland held fourth place and the Rainiers dropped to sixth as a result of Hollywood's 12 to 2 win over the slipping Oakland A's. The Stars collected 15 hits off three Acorn hurlers while Earl Escalante was winning his 10th game of the season.

The hapless San Diego Padres dug deeper into the league cellar which they occupied Sunday when Dreisewerd, Sacramento southpaw, hurled the Solons to a 1 to 0 shutout over the Padres. It was Dreisewerd's fifteenth win in 17 starts.
