the line against us.)

2500 tanks is a LOT OF TANKS. If we have that many in action, it looks bad for Rommel.

We'd better keep our fingers crossed a while on the 2500-tank story. The natural alibi of the fellow who is taking a licking is: "He was too big for me."

THIS is the big strategic question: Will Hitler order his Germans to STAND AND DIE in Normandy?

He gave that order in Russia, and TOO MANY DIED.

He's suffering for it in Poland now.

RUSSIAN spearheads (cavalry, light tanks, etc.) are IN SIGHT of Warsaw as this is written. Their main forces, with heavy artillery, are only 20 miles away.

Up on the Baltic, they are almost to Riga (at Riga, they'll cut off by land whatever Germans may be left to the north).

IN southeastern Poland, the reds have taken everything clear up to the Carpathian foothills, and latest dispatches say that a Russian march into Czechslovakia through the passes of the Carpathians looms as a possibility.

Beyond Czechslovakia lies Hungary and the valley of the Danube. A thrust down the Danube valley would cut off ALL the Germans in ALL THE BALKANS.

THAT possibility puts all the Balkan satellites on the spot. Hence the obvious desire of Bulgaria and Turkey to GET ON OUR SIDE.

There's a tale from Istanbul that Bulgaria has ASKED Berlin to evacuate all Germans from Bulgaria and that Berlin may HEED THE REQUEST.

If Hitler VOLUNTARY gets out of Bulgaria, he's in a tight spot and knows it.

STILL, it could be. It looks as if he is pulling clear back into Germany from the east, hoping for a shorter front that can be defended by fewer men.

THE weather has been a little better in Normandy, and in the past three days our PLANES have knocked out 250 of Rommel's tanks. That must hurt.

ROBOTS fell in England in waves over the weekend. There are persistent tales to the effect that the Germans are readying a TEN-TON robot. Allied military men don't entirely discredit this rumor.

Hopes pinned to the robots are probably stiffening German will to fight to the death.

THE bloody work of killing Japs goes forward in the Pacific.

The little yellow men counter-attacked on Guam on Tuesday, and 2000 were slain. Dispatches say that our infantry and marines are pushing closer to the tip of Guam's Orote peninsula

NO TIME FOR DEBATE

By Charles V. Stanton

SERIOUS delay in starting reconstruction of the Roseburg-Rock creek section of the North Umpqua road is in prospect as the result of failure of logging operators to cooperate in raising the token payment required as their participation in the project. The delay is serious because of the danger that improvements cannot be made prior to wet weather unless work is started immediately. The Douglas county court has made definite announcement that the road will be closed to logging during the wet season unless surfacing, sufficient to handle the heavy traffic, is provided earlier, a decision given approval by W. H. Lynch of the Public Roads Administration, which joined in expenditure of a considerable sum of money on the Roseburg-Dixonville section prior to the start of heavy logging over the North Umpqua route.

A good many arguments may be presented on both sides of the case, but it is quite evident the situation does not permit prolonged debate.

The project is one in which the War Production board, Public Roads administration, State Highway commission, Douglas county and the City of Roseburg are joining. Logging operators are also asked to participate.

The improvement, which would include the extension of Second Avenue South to the Pacific highway, widening of the highway at two intersections, and the surfacing of the North Umpqua road as far as Rock creek to withstand heavy logging traffic, would call for the expenditure of $200,000, coupled with a maintenance program of about $1,000 per mile for a period of one year.

The bulk of the funds—around $125,000, plus maintenance money—would be furnished by the War Production board from funds made available to provide access to raw materials needed in the war effort. The federal money would be furnished to the Public Roads administration, which would supervise construction work. The State of Oregon will meet the cost of the highway intersections. The city and county will join in extending Second Avenue to the highway, and the county also will share in the cost of reconstruction of the road east of town.

Access money is used only in cases of extreme importance to the war effort. Proof must be shown that the expenditure will make available to war production materials which could not be secured in any other way. As a means of establishing such proof, it is customary to require operators to cooperate financially in what is termed a "token" contribution. In the North Umpqua project this amount has been set at $25,000.

Some of the operators are reported to have expressed willingness to join in the project while others have raised objections.

There is no denying that the operators have just cause for complaint. They pay large amounts in taxes and licenses. They are required to pay a tax on every gallon of gasoline and poundage fees on their loads. They contend that these payments should be applied to the maintenance of the roads over which they operate. But the money goes into the state highway fund. The county court declares that if the state would pay to the county the gasoline taxes and poundage fees collected from operators in proportion to the volume of travel on county roads, the court would be glad to take over the maintenance job. However, state highway funds are zealously guarded and have public support in opposition to any new divisions of receipts.

Many of the operators feel that the War Production board would not permit the closing of the North Umpqua route, but the fact remains that even should hauling be permitted, the road will not bear the present volume of logging traffic during wet weather unless additional surfacing is provided. Thus the road would be closed, insofar as availability for transporting logs is concerned, regardless of court order. If improvements are not made before wet weather begins, there may be a great curtailment of logging traffic.

It is to be hoped the operators will attempt to get together without further delay and work out a program of cooperation. A prolonged argument can result in serious consequences.

DIAL LOG

Music You Remember tonight at 6:30. At 7:45 it's Something for the Girls this opening show beamed directly toward the bobby socks brigade with the idol of the femmes, the great Swoonatra, giving his all for the navy. So if you're a Sinatra fan, this is just your dish, because he sings "I'll Be Seeing You," "All the Things You Are" and "It had to Be You." We sneaked a preview and it's four-star singing. Freedom of Opportunity salutes Major Christy Mathewson, Jr., son of the late baseball immortal. When you hear it, you'll agree that here as another deserved salute that's scheduled for 8:30.

"the 2,000 Japs doomed to die in defense of an airfield and the Sunday naval base."

On Tinian, our marines are closing the Japs who are racing toward eventual death in the island's hilly south sector." The Tinian ratio is now up to 20 dead Japs for each American life lost.

We've killed 27,000 Japs in the Marianas so far.

THE New York stock market is still in a bad state of jitters, as the speculators can't figure out yet what the DOLLAR effect of the recent spectacular war news will be.

Beginning next Tuesday there's another 10 o'clock show coming we'll tell you about it later, but we think it's going to be really good.

Wednesday bids fair to be a good night for murders. Two of them on tap, one at 6:30 when it's curtain time at the Little Theatre Off Times Square, and naturally, at least one on Bulldog Drummond at 8:30. First Nighter's production this week is "A Swell Night for a Murder," starring Barbara Luddy as the wife of a writer of mystery stories who finds himself as the chief suspect in a murder case sounds like fun. Have you noticed that Fulton Lewis Jr. is taking a vacation? Wonder what will happen this time? maybe the end of the war. The reporting chores will be taken care of by Marshal McNeil while Junior is resting, and he does a very good job. We're going to be terribly disappointed if nothing breaks in the next two weeks. We've begun to look on poor Mr. Lewis' vacations as a sure sign of big news in the offing.

The Roseburg Lumber and Sutherlin Caribou teams were winners in softball games at Finlay field last night, the Lumbermen defeating Dunham's 7 to 4 while Sutherlin trimmed Young's Bay 4 to 1.

Crippled by the absence of Ellison, regular pitcher, Dunham's gave the Lumbermen a race, but could not pull out of the hole created by a five-run splurge staged by the mill team in the first inning when two errors and three hits, one a homer by Cole, started the victory march. Blake lost his control in the second inning and Dunham's loaded the bases but failed to score. Wiard's three-base hit in the third, with two on bases, accounted for three Dunham runs in the third inning.

Sutherlin and Young's Bay played an interesting game, a pitcher's duel between Vang and Young. The game was featured by brilliant fielding plays, which cut off runs at the plate. Young's Bay missed their opportunity when they secured only one run in the fourth inning after loading the bases with only one out.

Scout Camp Has Room for 8 More

Camp Lucky Boy, the summer camp of the Oregon Trail Boy Scout council, has room for eight more campers for each of the last two one-week periods, according to Kenneth Wells, Boy Scout executive.

The camp is enjoying its largest season in years, according to Wells, and running at capacity. Nearly five hundred different Boy Scouts will have had a week or more in camp when the season closes on August 20th. The fourth period is under way at present with one hundred in camp. Next week a larger number of Douglas county scouts are expected. Troop 28 of Drain, under Scoutmaster Wayne Olsson, will have eleven campers and as large a number are also coming from Troop 19 of Sutherlin. Cliff Watson, scoutmaster.

The fifth period opens next Sunday, August 6, and the sixth and last period on Sunday, August 13. Any boy scouts wishing to register for one of the remaining eight places in either period should mail his request to the boy scout office in Eugene immediately.

Last Sunday the camp was visited by P. J. Motschenbacher, William Gerretson and Mervin Brown, local scout leaders.

Congress once held a regular session in a Washington hotel after a portion of the capitol was burned by the British in 1814.

DAILY DEVOTIONS
DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

In these tragic days many people are failing because they have no foundations. In their confusion, they turn here and there for help, but find none, for they know not where to go. In the world and even in the church, there are doubters, mental wanderers, sheep without a shepherd. Blessed is the man who knows that the Lord is his strength and refuge. He can sing in the darkness of the night as well as in the day. "The Lord of host is with us," when we need shelter, a rock in a weary land, what does it not mean to us to know that "the God of Jacob is our refuge." What more than that do we need? That is enough in all our trials and misfortunes, in sorrow, despair and death. "God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform." That is a great truth. But the high point of that entire teaching is in the first two words. "God moves," And He never moves backwards, out of all the present world struggle. God can bring a better world. I do not know how, but God moves ever forward. He is ever our refuge and fortress. In Him will we trust. Amen.

KANSAS CITY — The Australians are the best jungle fighters in the world, the Japanese are second and the Americans no good at all, in the opinion of one Japanese taken prisoner by the Americans.

Capt. William J. Koenigsdorf wrote home from the South Pacific that the English-speaking prisoner didn't approve of the bombing and shelling that preceded American advances.

"First, the American cut down the jungle, he said. "Then he fight."

Cordon, Ellsworth Plan Remaining in Oregon at Present

U. S. Senator Guy Cordon and Congressman Harris Ellsworth were both in Roseburg Monday. Senator Cordon returning to his home Monday afternoon, following completions of hearings by a senate sub-committee in California. Congressman Ellsworth returned home Sunday, following a brief trip to Portland.

Both hope to be able to remain in Oregon until after Labor day, but may return to Washington at any time, depending upon action by congressional leaders.

Congress technically ended its vacation today, but it was anticipated that no legislative business would be transacted before the first week in September.

It was the understanding on both sides of the aisle in the House of Representatives that members would return only if emergency necessitated termination of the vacation, Congressman Ellsworth reported. Members will be notified in the event an emergency makes their immediate return necessary.

The senate vacation was set to expire Aug 1, but business is expected to be confined to committee hearings, Senator Cordon stated, requiring attendance only of those senators who are members of the respective committees which have scheduled work during the month of August.

Cordon will remain in Roseburg until Thursday and will then spend the remainder of the month visiting various parts of the state to study issues upon which his aid in the senate may be desired when he returns to Washington.

Both Cordon and Ellsworth plan, unless called earlier, to return to Washington the first week in September.
