Polish Factions Fail to Agree at Moscow Parley

MOSCOW, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Rival Polish regimes failed to agree today on a plan of fusion and leaders are returning to their respective headquarters in London and Lublin with renewal of negotiations delayed at last until after the Russians capture Warsaw.

Premier Mikolajczyk consulted the U. S. and British ambassadors today after the soviet-sponsored Polish committee of national liberation said his exiled government in London was clinging to the "dictatorial" constitution of 1935, blocking formation of a "democratic provisional government."

Both sides left the way open for talks in the indefinite future, but indicated they preferred to wait until the Germans are driven from Warsaw, the Polish capital, which could be the scene of their next deliberations.

The committee, recognized by Russia, insisted on restoration of the 1921 constitution as more democratic than the 1935 document. It is known, however, that other fundamental differences exist which could be ironed out, if at all, only by lengthy individual consideration.

The Russian attitude officially is unchanged: The soviets are favorable to a settlement of the internal Polish problem by the Poles themselves.

No announced progress has been made toward a unified Polish government.

Lend-Lease Aid to Britain is Shown

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The United States has furnished Britain with about $2,000,000,000 worth of foodstuffs in the three and a quarter years that lend-lease has been in operation. This is the most important element of civilian supply that will require adjustment when only the war with Japan remains.

A steady curtailment in lend-lease aid to the British Isles, paralleled by a return to normal commercial trade, is expected after Germany is defeated.

Meanwhile reverse lend lease.

DAILY DEVOTIONS

REV. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

A Bell syndicate story from Italy entitled "Dry talk stirs Yanks in Italy," appears to warrant the indignation of our people upon the one ground or he other. In many thousands of churches across the nation here are honor rolls bearing the names of hundreds of thousands of Christian young people who are serving the nation against its enemies, in the air, on the land, on the sea, and under the sea. These men are helping to write some of the most glorious pages in American history. They are largely from homes where they have been taught that abstinence from alcohol is the better way of life and these young men are the elite of our combat troops. We reject with scorn and indignation the naive assumption on the part of the wet propagandist and their fellow travelers, that only their sons are fighting, that only drinking men are in the army and navy, and that all men in uniform know the language of obscenity, can find relaxation only in degeneracy, and experience their highest delight in getting drunk. Dairymen and poultrymen face a serious problem because of shortage of feed, yet hundreds of thousands of tons of grain and other raw materials are being used to make beer to supply innumerable places that breed crime and degeneracy.

Don't tell ME you can't buy Bonds

Just another guy named G. I. Joe. He caught a nasty hunk of shrapnel in the head while helping to capture St. Lo, France, and he's lying patiently, awaiting removal to a hospital. War bonds you buy help equip those hospitals.

most of it given in the British Isles, amounted to $1,526,170,000 up to last January, the latest period to last January, the latest period available.

British reverse lend-lease has been chiefly in grounds, facilities and services for air and military bases. American supplies to Britain have run the list of military supplies and those civilian supplies—principally food—which were considered essential to the maintenance of Britain as a fighting nation.

Useful Children Keep Perry Smith On Chaplain Duty

Chaplain Perry Smith, former Episcopal rector at Roseburg, now stationed with the U. S. army at Fort Dix, N. Y., has resigned himself to the fate of remaining at his present post for the duration. For an officer who was a flying ace in the last war, and who was hoping for service on combat fronts in the present war, the blow is hard to take. And it all comes about because he is the father of a large family of industrious children.

When his family joined him at Fort Dix, four of his daughters, Perry, Betty, Solly, Wendy and even his son Perry, Jr., immediately started work here out to care for the children of post officers. They are in such demand that they are booked for days ahead.

Because the Smith youngsters care for children in the homes of officers from the post command or down, there is no possibility that any of the parking generals will permit Chaplain Smith to leave the post, for fear that they might lose the services of his offspring in their respective homes.

So the "sky pilot," who before joining the cloth of the church bombed the Jerries from the "kites" of the first World war, expects to see combat action this time only on the movie screen.

Scaler-Grader Log Price Rules Fixed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The OPA has incorporated in its west coast log price regulation an approved list of scalers and graders.

It provided that beginning Aug. 14 buyers and sellers who engage the services of persons on the list will be observed of responsibility "if it is found upon a resale or a check scale of the logs that a variation" of more than 5 per cent exists.

While unapproved scalers and graders may be used, buyers and sellers will be held accountable for variations of more than 5 per cent "and will be subject to penalties" provided, OPA said.

The agency also announced that effective the same date "hardwood logs will be brought under the west coast logs regulation, covering production in western Washington and western Oregon."

Such logs have been exempt from price control.

Price ceilings for hardwood logs are not established in the regulation but will be provided by OPA on application.
