A STUDY IN CONTRASTS

By Charles V. Stanton

I know something of taxes. For three long years I have been going up and down this country preaching that government—federal and state and local—costs too much.

Since President Roosevelt took office in 1932 he has collected taxes enough to pay all of the peacetime and wartime expenses of the United States government from 1789 to the date the New Deal came into power.

President Roosevelt, Adams says, "will go down in history as the most lavish spender, the most insatiable borrower, and the most exacting tax collector the world has ever known."

"The president now spends as much money every fourteen and a half months as his predecessors together managed to spend in 144 years. He collects in taxes every two years the same amount that his predecessors extracted from the taxpayers in nearly a century and a half, and he borrows every five months as much money as they have borrowed since the constitution was adopted."

Every man woman and child, Adams points out, will by the end of the current fiscal year, owe $1,962, as compared with a per capita debt of $255.89 at the end of the first World War. The per capita tax will be $101.44, compared with a tax rate of $28.58 when Woodrow Wilson left the presidential office.

Federal expenditure for the fiscal year ending June 30 amounted to $94 billion, while civilian workers, during the period were earning $91 billions, Adams states in declaring that "President Roosevelt is spending money faster than all the workers in the land can earn it."

That this spending is not entirely because of the war effort is pointed out in a statement that during the first eight years of the president's administration, before the country even began to think of war, expenditures amounted to $67 billion.

I accuse the present administration of being the greatest spending administration in all history—one which has piled bureau on bureau, commission on commission. Bureaus and bureaucrats have been retained at the expense of the taxpayer—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Sioux City, Sept. 1932.

The people in America demand a reduction of federal expenditures. It can be accomplished by reducing the expenditures of existing departments; by abolishing many useless commissions, bureaus and functions and by consolidating many activities of government—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Brooklyn, November 1932.

One of the latest counts shows that there are now in existence around 2250 PARENT bureaus, agencies and commissions in the federal government. Each of these bureaus has numerous offspring, cousins, uncles, aunts, step-brothers and step-sisters.

President Wilson created 60 agencies, Harding 30, Coolidge 44, and Hoover, to whom President Roosevelt referred in his criticism quoted above, organized 30.—Roosevelt's record 2250, approximately. No one is able to get an accurate figure.

Now one more quote: But remember well, that attitude—the way we do things—is nearly always the measure of our sincerity—Franklin D. Roosevelt—Brooklyn, September, 1932.

In a convoy of 50 trucks TOWING FIELD GUNS—which could have taken a lot of American lives if turned loose on our landing forces. The convoy was hit by our alert planes, and 42 of the towing trucks were left in flames and the other 8 damaged and stopped.

OUR new Riviera beachhead is only 350 miles from Orleans, on the Loire, taken by Patton. 350 miles isn't much when blitz war GETS LOOSE.

The dispatches have told us already that in 12 hours one of Patton's columns made 100 MILES and another made 96 miles in 24 hours.

At that rate, it wouldn't take long to close a 350 mile gap.

THERE is nothing especially new from Russia. It is fairly obvious by this time that the reds are taking it slow while their transport catches up with them—incubating another blow that will probably be fully as swift and terrifying when it falls as was the last one.

The present delay is no sign of Russian weakness. In their mighty drive that began on June 23, they went farther and faster than any army of like size ever went before.

How their communications kept up with them so long is still one of the mysteries.

IN the Pacific, we're in a full much like that in Russia, and for exactly the same reason. We're building new bases, getting new facilities for fleet operation close to the Japs, assembling vast stores of war within striking range of our next objectives.

There will be headlines aplenty from the Pacific when we get all set to make them.

Olympians Defeat Young's; Sutherland Takes Lumbermen

Two lopsided games marked the softball league last night as Olympia supply won 9 to 3 from Young's Bay and Sutherland defeated Roseburg Lumber by a score of 12 to 5.

Vang and Blake had an interesting pitching duel in the second game, but Blake was given ragged support. Each team was able to secure only one hit in the first five innings of play, but errors kept Blake upset and he issued a number of walks.

With a lead of 5 to 0 going into the sixth inning, Sutherland scored five runs on only one hit, three walks and three errors. Cole landed on one of Vang's offerings for a home run in the last of the sixth to score the first run for Roseburg Lumber.

Remember this is the night when Chicago Theatre of the Air is cancelled one time only, so that you may hear the first hour of the renowned Chicago Music Festival, presented annually from Soldier Field. Advance publicity indicates it will be an hour of excellent diversified music and we hope you'll like it. Red Ryder at 7:30 and Downbeat Derby at 8 offer a variety of entertainment, and we finish off the day from 9:30 on with an orchestra and appropriate music for the Night Hope you'll keep your radio turned on Sunday morning after the 10 o'clock news so you'll not miss Commander Scott and his "unreal realities." After then you can listen to young Master Hookey at 10:30. This Sunday Bobby puts rings on his fingers and bells on his toes and goes gypsy in a big way by taking five of his gal friends to visit a gypsy camp. Then Pop Oye at noon with popular Tom Slater serving as emcee for this long-run army show, which interviews G. I.'s from all over the world. Library Offers Seven New Books

Readers who enjoyed Richard Tregaski's "Guadalcanal Diary," a thrilling delineation of the fighting spirit of the U. S. Marines and which led the best-seller lists for months, will welcome the author's latest production, "Invasion Diary," which gives a first-hand story of the American army in action in Italy. The book is among a batch of seven added this week to the shelves of the Roseburg Public Library.

Another interest-gripping story in the list is "We Live in Alaska," by Constance Helmericks. It deals with a young married couple's struggles against the rigors of northland life, as well as with its more modern phase, and it will be found especially pleasing to those who like ventures into the realm of wildlife.

Of course, there's a western in the new batch of books. This one is entitled "The Trail Herd," by Bradford Scott. It's crammed with plenty of six-gun action, and should be entertaining to those who like their literature with a frontier flavor.

Completing the list of new offerings to library patrons are "Blood Upon the Snow," by Hilda Lawrence; "Change of Heart," by Faith Baldwin; "Fourways," by Alice Ross Colver, and "The Unready Heart," by Richard Sherman.
