Reedspport

REEDSPORT—The Coos Bay area is making overtures to the Reedspport district for endorsement and financial assistance in maintaining a Y. M. C. A. installation. Representatives from this city were invited to a meeting in Marshfield last week to hear the outline of the Coos Bay plan and carry the same back to the civic clubs of this place. The subject was presented to the Reedspport Chamber of Commerce at their regular monthly meeting last Tuesday evening and the opinion expressed there, was that Reedspport has its own youth problem in the Youth's Organization now being operated here by the young men themselves under proper supervision which is of more benefit locally than to support an institution at a distance.

The same matter was broached at the weekly meeting of the Gardiner-Reedspport Lions club on the same evening and referred to its board of directors for consideration but comment from its members is along the same line as that of the Chamber of Commerce.

J. A. W. Raymond, who for some time has been operating a ranch together with a number of cabins to accommodate fishermen on the Smith river near the falls, announced this week that he had disposed of his property to W. F. Renken of Springfield.

Instructions for Christmas Mail To Overseas Personnel Emphasize Necessity for Strong Containers

Save strong string and box material and start Christmas shopping for army and navy personnel overseas without delay, is the advice now being given by postal authorities.

Christmas mailing for both army and navy overseas forces will be from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, Postmaster L. L. Wimberly reports, and after Oct. 15 no gift parcels may be mailed to a soldier without the presentation of a written request from him.

"The great demands upon shipping and the need for giving preference to arms, munitions, medicine and food are the prime reasons for the early mailing date," a bulletin from the post office department states. "Moreover, gift parcels must travel great distances and frequently the transfer of large numbers of personnel to new stations necessitates forwarding packages, thus taking additional time."

More care should be taken in wrapping and packing parcels securely and addressing them clearly and correctly, the postmaster states. Many packages are lost because they are not prepared for the rough handling that comes with long shipments.

Strong Containers Needed "It is to be regretted that anyone ever mentioned that the size of a shoe box is the approximate limit for packages intended for gift mailings overseas," Wimberly said. "Unhappily, many people have been convinced that a shoe box is the best possible container. The reference, however, was to size only. If gifts are to be protected in transit they must be packed in boxes of metal, wood, solid fiberboard, or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard, reinforced with strong gummed paper tape or tied with strong twine. The loss of contents may be prevented if fiberboard boxes are wrapped in heavy paper."

"Many parcels were not delivered to men and women overseas last year because they were crushed in transit and the gift and outside wrapper became separated. It is advised that everyone write the address of the sender and the addressee outside the package as well as inside. "Because strong twine, heavy paper, boxes and fiberboard will prove of real help in making deliveries possible, it is urged that those at home begin saving materials now, as they will get scarcer as time goes on," the postmaster said.

Important Rules Given Among the more important rules for Christmas mailings to the armed forces overseas are the following: The parcel must not exceed five pounds, must not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked "Christmas parcel" so that it may be given special attention to assure its arrival before December 25.

Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces by or in behalf of the same mailer. When combination packages are made up of such items as miscellaneous toilet articles, hard candies, soaps, etc., the contents should be tightly packed so that they will not become loosened in transit and damage the contents of the cover. Hard candies, nuts, caramels (including those covered with chocolate), cookies, fruit cake, and chocolate bars individual and the buyer had taken immediate possession. The property which covers 80 acres will be operated for the time being by Mr. Renken's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bartling, also of Springfield. Mr. Raymond and family after disposing of property at Forest Grove will move to southern California, where they are forced to reside on account of Mr. Raymond's health.

County Roadmaster F. C. Frear, accompanied by Mrs. Frear and Mrs. Harry Winston visited the Smith river section Thursday, where Mr. Frear inspected the work on the new road being constructed on the east side of the river and Mrs. Winston visited with Mrs. George Andrews with whom she stayed in 1914 while teaching the Smith river school.

Truman Stands by Article He Wrote On Pearl Harbor

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 22—(AP)—Senator Truman (D-Mo.), in a statement yesterday said that every statement he made in a current article in Collier's magazine was correct, and that he was certain the court-martial of officers commanding at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, would bear out every statement he made and more.

Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel said in a letter previously that an article by Truman was incorrect insofar as it said Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short were not on speaking terms at the time of the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor and that statements alleging failure to cooperate and coordinate army and navy efforts also were false.

"Every statement I made in my article in Collier's was correct," the democratic vice presidential candidate said today. "I have no desire, no intention of entering into a personal controversy with anyone, but I am certain from the information at my command not only will the court-martial when held bear out every statement I made but even more."

There are no old maids in Tibet. Marriages are arranged by family contract, and sometimes a man takes all the daughters of a household as co-wives.

In Glensdale, Ohio, the birth of a girl baby is announced by town church bells playing "Mary Had a Little Lamb." For boys, it's "Little Jackie Horner."

IF The war was over we'd say...

"We have good stocks of . . .

1. Sash and doors and millwork items.
2. Lumber flooring and siding.
3. Plywood and Masonite.
4. Nails, locks and hardware.
5. Insulation board."

BUT It isn't, so we say...

"Till then we'll fill your orders to the best of our ability with what we have in inventories and service. Be patient with us and we'll show you—come the peace."
