stop the daring end run by which we're hoping to get around in the rear of their Rhine defenses.

They know the gravity of the situation. If they DON'T stop us, it will be because they CAN'T stop us.

That, in itself, would be significant.

(A)GAIN we mustn't jump to wrong conclusions. If our attempted end run fails, we'll merely have to try somewhere else.)

WE have the POWER, but the situation in Holland is such that we haven't been able (so far) to bring enough of it to bear on the enemy.

The narrow corridor driven by the British Second army clear up to the Rhine at Arnhem follows RAISED roads through flooded country. The normal procedure is to drive a wedge through and then WIDEN it. Widening in this instance has been made difficult by the nature of the ground (terrain is the military term).

This handicap has been twofold. The narrowness of the corridor has made impossible swift movement of large bodies of our supporting troops through it and has made easier German efforts to bite it off from the sides.

Three times in the past few days of bitter fighting the Germans have CLOSED this thin pipeline—the last time Monday night, when they held it shut for five hours before being thrown out.

THE flow of news from the Russian front has practically ceased, and we can only guess what is happening there. This may mean that the Russians, relatively quiet for a long time, have something big in the immediate making.

That often has been the case. It may be so now. At least, we hope so.

SUPERFORCES hit Anshan, in Jap Manchuria, again. Their purpose, Washington dispatches say, is to "clean up anything overlooked on the two previous raids" (the last one was on September 8).

The point is that our B-29 raids are getting down to the STYS TEMATIC stage—as in Gerry any during the past year.

IN one comparatively routine tactical blow at German communications this week our bombers dropped 3500 tons on the nazis.

In the Pacific, a 300 ton raid is still a big one.

When the time comes (as it will) that we drop on the Japs the immense tonnage that we now drop regularly and systematically on the nazis, the little yellow men will begin to realize what they are up against.

ON the home front, the political battle entered a new phase when FDR came down on Saturday night from the remote heights on which he had planned

ROOT FOR THE INDIANS

By Charles V. Stanton

THE Roseburg High school Indians will meet their first test of strength Friday night when they tangle with Coquille in a game opening the 1944 football season. We are hoping for victory for the Indians. We hope they are able to put the "Indian sign" on the visitors. But win, lose or draw, we know it will be a good contest.

Mel Ingram, the Roseburg high school athletic coach, who is in his first year with the school, has an enviable record. He brings a reputation for being able to accomplish more than would be expected from the material available. But fans should not expect miracles. The coach has a squad composed almost entirely of inexperienced players. There are few lettermen. It will take time for the coach to teach even the fundamentals of the game. Football is one sport in which lessons must be learned the hard way—learned by hard knocks. The team will not be at its best until it has been through a few games.

Ingram has an elaborate program in mind which augurs well for coming years. He hopes to teach the fundamentals of the major sports—football, basketball and baseball—in the elementary grades and junior high school. This is a program followed in nearly every community that has made any sort of outstanding success in athletics. It has been lacking, except in a minor way, in the Roseburg schools. Under a well coordinated program of instruction, there is no reason why Roseburg should not soon be on the athletic map.

But if such success is achieved it will not be entirely through the unaided efforts of the athletic instructor.

No coach can achieve success unless he has the backing and loyal cooperation of sports-minded residents of the community he serves. The players cannot do their best when they compete before half-filled stands. Interest in athletics cannot be maintained among boys when adults pay no attention.

If the people of Roseburg want winning teams, then it is incumbent upon those who have such desires that they lend all possible support and cooperation to efforts made by the coach and players.

It is not difficult to enlist support behind a winning team. But a winning team doesn't need support. The stimulant of victory is enough to prevent interest from flagging. The team that needs help is one that is losing. Often a losing team can be built to championship calibre if given proper encouragement by a sufficient number of fans.

So whether the Indians win, lose or tie Friday night's game, they are entitled to a pat on the back and an appreciative word. They are entitled to have stands and bleachers filled to overflowing with partisan fans.

Do your part. If you haven't purchased your season ticket, get one. The Roseburg chamber of commerce is backing the ticket sale and has plenty of pasteboards available. The fact that hundreds of fans are putting out good money to support their efforts will go a long way in spurring the players on to give of their best.

Football is a rough game; we know from experience. A boy can't play football if his heart is not in it. He can't play football if he dislikes forceful, bodily contact. But the current war has shown the value of football in building strong bodies, fighting hearts, ability to absorb hardships, and courage in the face of danger. It is a sport worthy of your encouragement.

Don't fail the Indians Friday night.

to sit as the essential commander-in-chief and started close infighting in the ring.

Dewey came right back at him Monday night.

One suspects that he had been sitting impatiently, with his pockets full of ammunition and his finger on the trigger, waiting for the chance. He was obviously well prepared, and it doesn't seem reasonable that he could have got it all together since Saturday night.

It was a good nose-punching, body-jolting speech, UTTERLY unlike anything that came from Landon or Willie. And it is quite certain that republicans LOVED it.

It changed NO die-hard Roosevelt votes, of course. That can't be done at this stage. It brought no new to-the-line republican votes, which were all FOR Dewey, anyway.

Its political effect will depend upon the number of in-betweeners who may have been influenced one way or the other.

At least, it proved that Dewey is no set-up. FDR, politically astute, had already recognized that fact, which is why he came down so promptly from the Olympian heights he had planned to occupy throughout the campaign.

There will probably be few pretty flowers for Ferdinand to sniff during the remainder of this bullfight.

POLITICAL history tells us that campaigns that get down to fundamentals that Americans BELIEVE IN are like that. Lincoln's first campaign was no ice-testing contest.

THIS writer, who entered this campaign expecting merely to vote AGAINST FDR and one-man

Children's Nursery Opens in Roseburg

Mrs. Eugene Palm, 828 Hamilton street, Roseburg, has announced the opening of a day and evening nursery for the care of children, which is being conducted in her own home, located one block from the Rose school.

Where both parents are employed, they have found it increasingly difficult to obtain sufficient help in their homes for the care of children to allow the mother to keep on with her job.

Mrs. Palm, who has made her home in Roseburg for a number of years, has recognized the need for such a nursery to help solve this problem. Children of all ages are cared for.

Christian Endeavor Fall Program Is Presented

The fall program of Christian Endeavor, introducing the new achievement charts and special C. E. helps, was presented by Vernon Fishback, state C. E. executive secretary, Portland, at a special supper meeting of the Douglas County Christian Endeavor society at the Christian church parlors here Monday night.

The meeting was in charge of Pauline Jackson, county C. E. president. Plans were outlined for a county Christian Endeavor party to be held during the week of Halloween in Oakland and to which all Christian Endeavorers in the county are invited.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Trouble Often Starts at Home

Read the other day where some folks have put up $100,000 to establish a bureau to combat intolerance and prejudice.

Reckon we all agree that that's a mighty worthy cause. But I wonder if tolerance, like so many other things, doesn't begin at home.

You take a family where Ma objects to hubby's smoking in the parlor; and Pa can't stand his wife's hats; and they both yell at Sis for liking to listen to swing music—and you've got the seeds of trouble! Trouble that spreads to intolerance among neighbors, and intolerance among nations.

From where I sit, you can put your faith in the family that lives and lets live—where Pa enjoys his smoke and maybe a mellow glass of beer or two; and Ma wears funny looking hats and likes 'em; and Sis grows up as healthfully full of spirits as a child should be.
