In the Day's News

beyond chances of reinforcement" and he is going to take particular pleasure in smashing it.

Our hopes will march with him in that enterprise.

Several of the battleships that are pounding the Leyte beaches were sunk at Pearl Harbor, but raised and rebuilt in time to get in on the fight to take the Philippines back.

OSMENA, president of the Philippine commonwealth, and six members of his cabinet, went in with the troops, prepared to restore civilian government on the American pattern as rapidly as the Japs are driven out.

THE invasion seems to be IN FORCE.

AP Correspondent Murlin Spencer says in a dispatch that the 600-ship convoy carried "as many as and maybe MORE THAN were landed in Normandy on D-day."

(Churchill has said that nearly 250,000 men were landed in Normandy on the first day.) Jap forces in the Philippines are estimated at 225,000.

THE Jap is up against the real thing this time. What he will be up against when we get Hitler licked and can go after him with BOTH HANDS is something for him to think about.

IN Europe, our Americans clean up Aachen—the last 800 Germans surrendering in spite of their orders to fight to the last man.

The Canadians tighten their grip on Antwerp and the excellent Dutch port of Bergen op Zoom, just to the north. A new battle far exceeding anything yet is expected to break as soon as we get adequate supply lines behind us.

(In the fighting at Aachen we didn't use anything like the forces we COULD HAVE USED. The big smash is still to come, and won't be long delayed.)

AS to East Prussia, we get only German reports—which admit that the Russians are 12 miles INSIDE GERANY] on an 80-mile front.

Moscow is still silent as to the fighting there, but dispatches assert that a sensational announcement is believed in prospect."

BELGRADE falls, and the reds push on.

Beyond Belgrade, up the wide, level Danube valley, amply supplied with highways and railroads (the Danube itself is one of the world's greatest NAVIGABLE rivers) lies Vienna.

Beyond Vienna, still following the great traiffic highway of the Danube, lies GERMANY.

Hitler's sands are running out.

IN Moscow, the Churchill-Stalin conference comes to a close. The Moscow press (government controlled) makes a great to-do of Churchill's departure, with Stalin seeing him off on the plane. It puts its OK on the conference, editorializing to the effect that some differences still exist on "certain European questions" (notably Poland), but that "the road appears clear toward framing a firm, hard peace."

When the Moscow newspapers speak it is the VOICE OF STALIN we hear.

WHAT it all means is that Britain and Russia appear to be on the way to a satisfactory division between them (in the way of "spheres of influence") of eastern Europe, the Balkans and the Mediterranean countries.

We Americans must hope that it is a SOUND agreement, and WORKS. Only through some such arrangement can we hope for peace in Europe in this generation.

BOTH Churchill and Stalin, the dispatches tell us, "expressed regret" that FDR was "unable to attend" the conference.

It would be rather interesting to know why he didn't attend—but, of course, such things are state secrets.

FREEDOM FROM FEAR?

By Charles V. Stanton

FREEDOM from fear was one of the four freedoms declared by President Roosevelt in announcing the Atlantic charter. But theory and practice seem to be two different things, for, in seeking retention of executive authority, the New Deal is pointing its entire campaign towards instilling fear into the minds of voters: fear that a change in administration would impede the war effort; fear that a new executive could not make satisfactory peace settlements; fear that a change to republicanism would result in depression; fear that isolationism would prevail; fear that social gains would be lost.

Republican campaign strategists have not been smart. A great majority of American voters are influenced by prejudice and sentiment in making their decisions. Too few stop to think seriously of the issues involved. Altogether too many are influenced by appeals to the emotions and do not take the time to study or ponder the vital principles involved in rival campaigns.

The New Deal political leaders are fully aware of this condition. Their appeals are to passion, prejudice and class jealousy with fear as the foundation. They steer thoughts of voters away from present-day conditions, by campaigning again against Harding, Landon and Hoover. They hold up the isolationists as sole representatives of the Republican party. They attempt to strike fear into the minds of voters that a return to depression days would immediately follow a Republican victory.

Candidate Dewey, on the other hand, apparently believes the majority of voters are to be won by logical reasoning. He speaks without humor, injects little color or illustration, addressing his audiences as if they were jurors in a courtroom, sworn to the task of rendering a verdict based on evidence. He indicts the defendant and recites misdeeds apparently in the assumption that his audience is intent, as a true juryman should be, on weighing the evidence. But he is faced by a canny opponent who, like many successful trial lawyers, is able to turn the minds of jurors away from the testimony and facts through impassioned oratory.

When Dewey factually charges the New Deal with misdeeds, the President wisecracks about his dog, Falla. When Dewey quotes statements of New Deal appointees, the fourth termers rise en masse to cry that statements were not used in entirety, as if the speaker could in 30 minutes of radio time read the entire congressional library, all the tons of OPA regulations, and the voluminous Truman committee reports. The New Deal smear artists sob bitterly that the Republicans are slinging mud, and then send out Ickes, their hatchet man, to hurl the bitterest invective. And President Roosevelt gives full endorsement to the "smear" by telling newsmen at his press conference that Movie Actor Orson Wells was just "getting good" when he was cut off the air at the New York Herald Tribune radio forum after five minutes of the most complete job of mud slinging and rabble rousing of the entire campaign.

Of course, it is mud slinging and smearing only when spoken by the opposition.

But the New Dealers who speak of "Freedom from Fear" are doing their best to hold their jobs by creating fear. We believe it is safe to assume they will soon play their trump card, a card which may win the game.

We anticipate a flaming crisis on election day. The president has always been able to produce a crisis—a great emergency—at the most critical moment. The supreme crisis is now shaping up. In the Pacific, the war is entering the stage of a drive on the Philippines. In Europe there has been a lull in preparation for an all-out drive, which doubtless will be launched in time to be at full fury on election day. The president probably will be in an "important" international conference.

Thus while lives of American soldiers are made pawns in an election campaign, the New Deal will use its psychology of fear to play for votes.

Copco Issuance of Bonds Given Federal Okay

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The securities and exchange commission has approved the issuance and sale by California Oregon Power company, Medford, Ore., of $13,500,000 principal amount of first mortgage bonds, due 1974.

Proceeds will be used to redeem a like amount of outstanding 4 per cent first mortgage bonds, due 1966, at 105½ per cent of principal amount, plus accrued interest.

The commission reserved jurisdiction over the results of competitive bidding.

Willamette U. Starts Expansion Fund Drive

PORTLAND, Oct. 23 (AP)—Willamette University's board of trustees launched a campaign today to collect $321,000 to construct the first buildings in a ten-year expansion program.

The board, which met here Saturday, agreed to use the funds for a new men's dormitory, an infirmary, and three houses to be built on the campus and leased to fraternities.

Plans also call for removal of the present athletic field at the Salem University, with a new one to be built probably in the Bush pasture area. Another eventual project is a student union building.

The board voted to limit enrollment to 800 students for the next three years, and to levy a $25 incidental fee for students.

Trojan Gridders Down Washington U., 38 to 7

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (AP)—Southern California was at its best, Washington well, the Huskies couldn't have been worse and 70,000 spectators will attest that the Trojans' 38 to 7 victory just about represents the comparative strength of the teams.

Washington, unbeaten, untied, lost its chance to get a western bid for the new year's Rose Bowl game under a crushing Southern California attack last night, a diversified assault on the ground and in the air that disorganized and eventually routed the Huskies' defense.

Bread Baking Champ

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 23 (AP)—Helen Cowgill, assistant state 4-H club leader, said today that Emily Whetstone, Newport high school student, has been awarded the $250 college scholarship for her bread baking performance at the recent state 4-H club show in Portland.

War Writer Killed as Jeep Strikes Mine

WITH THE U. S. FIRST ARMY NEAR AACHEN, Oct. 19—(delayed)—(AP)—David Lardner, son of the late humorist Ring Lardner and correspondent for the New Yorker magazine, was fatally injured today when the jeep in which he was riding struck a mine near Aachen.

Russell Hill, correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune, suffered a broken rib, cuts and bruises. The jeep driver was killed.

Lardner had joined the First army press corps only a few days ago on his first war assignment. Hill is a veteran of the African campaign.

PIN-WORMS
Now can be Beaten!

The miseries of Pin-Worms have been known for centuries, and many doctors have sought a way to deal with this dreadful pest that lives and grows inside the human body.

Today, thanks to an important scientific discovery, a new and highly effective treatment is being hailed by medical authorities. It is based on a remarkable drug known as gentian violet. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm tablet developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines.

P-W makes it unnecessary for you or your child to suffer in silence with the embarrassing rectal itch caused by Pin-Worms, or to take chances on the real distress they often create. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to destroy Pin-Worms.

So watch for possible warning signs such as: itching seat and nose, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting. If you suspect Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for a package of P-W and follow the simple directions carefully.

It is easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

DIAL LOG

By SUSAN

Even a cold in the head won't keep us from enjoying tonight's shows. As a matter of fact the sniffles could be a blessing in disguise because we'll be sure to stay quietly at home, so we won't miss any of the programs from Screen Test at 6:15 right through Count of Monte Cristo at 10. There's Music You Remember at 6:30, Songs of Good Cheer at 7:45, A Date With Annaloris at 8:15 and Freedom of Opportunity for the filling in the sandwich. Tonight's Opportunity bids fair to be one of the best since it's a dramatization of the life of George M. Cohan, the "Yankee Doodle Dandy." We just hope there will be some of his music on the program too.

Give-Away Jamboree, 8:30; Lanny and Ginger 8:55, and Terry's House Party at 10:15 all make for good entertainment in the a. m. on Wednesday. And we'd like to call your attention again to Headlines in Harmony at 1:30 each afternoon, Monday through Friday. We like it so much, and we'd like to have you share our pleasure. We have another "don't-miss" afternoon program on Wednesday—Your Army Service Forces at 2:15 is specially good.

We know you've been enjoying the operas, and this week will conclude the current broadcasts; so set aside Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights from 10 o'clock on so that you won't miss any of the fine music. It's "Falstaff", "Carmen" and "The Tales of Hoffman" in that order, with Rise Stevens singing Carmen—and that's about the only name we recognized with the exception of Licia Albanese, and Francesco Valentino. Anyway we're giving you plenty of warning, so don't miss them.

NEWS OF OUR MEN—WOMEN IN UNIFORM

Thomas B. Hastings, former basketball star at Wilbur high school, a graduate of Roseburg high, which he attended during his senior year, has been promoted from private first class to corporal in the veteran 24th infantry division in New Guinea Six feet, seven and one half inches in height, Hastings is known to his companions as "Big Tom." He is the son of Mrs. James Armstrong of Bremerton, Wash., and Herbert G. Hastings, Newport, Ore. He has been overseas for eight months.

Announcement that the Nashville was one of the cruisers participating in the Leyte invasion and that it carried General MacArthur to the Philippines was welcome news to Mrs. O. B. King, Idleyld route, Roseburg. Her son, John W. Pitcher, electrician's mate second class, has been a member of the Nashville crew for two years. He attended Roseburg elementary and junior high schools, but was graduated from high school at Portland, where he enlisted in the navy in April, 1942.

Mrs. Paul Blaskey of Roseburg has received word that her grandson, Corporal Chester Hafer, has arrived in Belgium. Corporal Hafer is with the ambulance corps.

The year's longest day lasts about 15 hours; the shortest, nine and a half.

If Mt. Everest were placed in Mindanao Deep off the Philippines, more than 6,000 feet of water would roll across its peak.
