

KEEP CORDON ON THE JOB

Senator Cordon's wide acquaintance in the Senate and his knowledge of the procedure in Washington enable him to assume an active part immediately in the critical decisions now facing Congress. His forthright stand recently in defense of Oregon's ship-building industry and his promise to see that Oregon's industrial future is not "hamstrung" by outstate interests has endeared him to thousands. He was recently co-sponsor of the Veterans' G. I. Bill, which guarantees adequate benefits for our returning veterans. His assistance to Representative Harris Ellsworth has enabled Oregon to gain the first alcohol-from-wood-waste plant to be authorized in the United States.

For many years Senator Cordon has represented the Oregon land grant counties in their cases before the Supreme Court and Congress. He was a personal friend of Senator Charles L. McNary and, at the time of the latter's death, was assisting him in the preparation of legislation in Congress affecting Oregon and its people. Oregon sustained one severe loss in the passing of Senator McNary. Let us prevent a second loss by retaining in office a man who is capable, hard-working and well informed. Senator Cordon's record is proof that he knows WHAT TO DO—and HOW TO DO IT.

Read What Governor Snell Says About Cordon

"Cordon's familiarity with procedure in Washington, his acquaintance and high standing with members of Congress, and the outstanding work he has done as the representative of the Oregon land grant counties were important considerations that led to his interim appointment as senator. Capable, hard working and well informed, I felt that he could take an active part immediately in the important work facing the senate. I appointed Cordon as United States Senator because I was confident he would do an outstanding job at Washington."
