ary to a big drive... Our artillery has been busy at the same time.

TWO hundred miles north, along the Maas in Holland, a blazing artillery duel between the British and the Germans is in progress...

For weeks the western front has been relatively quiet, and during this time we have been bringing in supplies from our Normandy ports and beachheads...

WE get our first authentic news of another reason for starting something big soon. It is the German V-2—the "flying telegraph pole" as it has been dubbed by the correspondents...

The V-2 is some 60 feet long, weighs about 15 tons of which one ton is explosive and apparently travels faster than sound...

It is shot up into the air in an arc some 70 miles high, and its aim is far less accurate than the buzzbomb. The Germans just launch it and HOPE it kills somebody on the enemy side.

One is reminded inevitably of Longfellow's lines: "I shot an arrow in the air, 'T fell to earth, I know not where."

MILITARY men quoted in the dispatches say the V-2 has thus far been a flop, but experience with the buzzbomb warns us to keep our fingers crossed.

WE SHOT DOWN the buzzbombs with fighter planes and anti-aircraft guns. The high speed and the curved, HIGH trajectory of this new thing make that defense impossible.

The V-2 is another reason for hitting the Germans hard NOW, winter or no winter, instead of giving them time to perfect this new winged terror.

THE Russians have crossed the Tisza, 70 miles northeast of Budapest, suggesting that they may be able to by-pass the Hungarian capital city to the north and move on toward Vienna and the German border.

Otherwise, there is nothing particularly new on the eastern front.

PLANNING WELL DONE

By Charles V. Stanton

A tentative plan for city zoning has been submitted by the board of fire commissioners to the Roseburg city council. It is interesting to note that the commission has not approached this problem with any purpose of drastic changes.

Too often, zoning commissions feel it necessary to devise elaborate processes and to compose masses of intricate, irksome and confusing detail.

The Roseburg plan, as submitted by the fire commission after a great amount of study, is broad and general, offering only a minimum of control, containing flexibility which will not interfere with desirable development in the years to come.

Much work remains to be done. Extensive studies must be made, regulations must be carefully composed. Public hearings must be held. Ordinances must be adopted. It probably will be several months before any definite program is finally adopted.

It is evident, from the plan offered in tentative form, that the commission is taking into consideration the assured future growth of the Roseburg community. It is difficult for any study to determine the direction in which business or industrial sections will move in the future.

In following the existing pattern and planning to control future expansion, to bring about an orderly condition at some date in the near future, the commission, in our opinion, has adopted the proper course. It is a conservative course, but, we believe, it will prove most practical.

The Roseburg city council is facing a number of very important problems during the coming few years. It will be necessary for the city officers to devote considerably more time to city administration than in the past.

Roseburg, Sutherlin, Myrtle Creek, Glendale, Drain, Reedsport and other industrial communities of the county are facing identical problems. Conditions require that municipal governments keep "on their toes."

We believe the Roseburg city council should adopt as one of its immediate projects construction of a new city charter. Our present charter is obsolete. It needs complete and thorough revision to improve administrative processes.

Charter revisions were authorized by the city council a number of years ago. Several hundred dollars were paid out, but the job was never completed. The need is even more imperative now than when the project was instituted.

Attention also should be given procedure for annexation of adjacent territory. It will not be long until residential areas abutting the city limits will want municipal services. In fact, failure of portions of West Roseburg and Edenbower to join the city, particularly for fire protection, now borders on criminal negligence.

But for the City of Roseburg to encourage annexation at the present time would be to invite bankruptcy. The City of Roseburg should prepare now to submit to the next session of the legislature new laws which will amend procedure for annexation in order that tax bases will not be disrupted.

on Leyte to reinforce their badly battered garrison there.

This process of reinforcement began during the big battle in which the Jap navy took such a beating. It continued during the big tropical storm that has been keeping our planes down and our ships more or less in port.

It means that so far as the Philippines are concerned the little yellow men are THROUGH with their policy of abandoning military forces on islands. From hereon, they're going to fight for it.

They HAVE to. If they lose the Philippines they're in a bad way.

THE Jap radio claims that both Kwelin and Luchow, in China, have been taken. That, it true, means that China has been split north and south from end to end and that we have lost our last known airbase in southeast China.
