Paul Bunyan's Help Needed Now!

LOGGERS, YOU'RE A SOLDIER (Oregon Daily Journal). "Paul Bunyan and your Blue Ox, we need your help—and quick." This is the appeal of the United States army to the West Coast logging and lumber industry. Lumber, most critical of all war materials, is most critically needed now. Paul Bunyan, who typifies the logger, has been called by the emergency away from the holiday fireside. He must pull on his hobnailed boots and get back into the woods. There is enough milling capacity. There is a reasonable certainty of transportation. But the logger is in the key position. Demands are urgent for more millions of feet of lumber, principally boards and dimensions. It is the appeal from every fighting man in Europe and on the Pacific. Give us boards, give us crated ammunition, give us the lumber we need to finish this job. But give credit where it is due. The loggers and the mill men have been doing a big war job. They can and they will do a bigger job in order to win the war.

Power Grabbing Laid to F. D. R. In Senate Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP) President Roosevelt's administration was accused today by the senate judiciary committee of having grabbed off congressional authority by widespread use of executive directives. These directives, the committee reported to congress, "recently have ranged all the way from an executive order authorizing the seizure of a mail order house not engaged in war work" to a war agency order prohibiting merchants from selling "beanshooters."

The report was filed in support of a committee request to the senate for an additional $10,000 to complete a subcommittee investigation into the constitutional or statutory authority for all executive orders President Roosevelt has issued since he first entered the White House in 1933. The subcommittee is made up of Committee Chairman McCarran (D., Nev.), and Senators McFarland (D., Ariz.) and Revercomb (R., W. Va.). The report said that more than 2,600 executive orders have been issued by President Roosevelt alone, "some of which have no constitutional or statutory basis." "The intent of congress as expressed in legislation," it continued, "has upon various occasions been misinterpreted in the issuance of various executive orders and departmental regulations and directives." As a result, the report added, "our government is becoming more and more a government by directive rather than a government of laws." The committee said public interest required finding out "how much the United States is departing from constitutional government."

'Work or Fight!'

Andrew J. May, above, of Kentucky, House Military Affairs Committee chairman, announced today that his committee is working on a bill to put the administration's "work or fight" order to 4-F's in operation. He estimates there are about 4,500,000 4-F's who could aid the war effort, either in uniform or as war workers.

Engineer Expired Before Crash, Jury At Inquest Told

OGDEN, Utah, Jan. 16.—(AP) Engineer James McDonald of Ogden died of a heart attack before his Southern Pacific mail-express crashed into the rear of a passenger train Dec. 31—the collision killed 50 and injured four scores—a coroner's inquest was told today. The witness was Col. Frank B. Queen from the army's Bushnell general hospital at Brigham. Queen testified that a post-mortem examination of the 64-year-old engineer's body showed he was dead when steam from his wrecked engine enveloped the cab. McDonald's body was found in the wreckage. His fireman, M. E. Hardman of Ogden, escaped with minor injuries. The accident occurred on the causeway that leads to the 17-mile west of Ogden. The trains collided in an early morning fog. The second section of Pacific Limited No. 21 rammed the rear of the first section.

The time was late September, 1944. The story of that interview, the consequences of which were so tragic for more than 8,000,000 Hungarians, was told me tonight by the man who braved Hitler's wrath. He is Col. Gen. Janos Veroes, then Admiral Horthy's special envoy. Now he is defense minister of liberated Hungary. Hitler's Sanitary Suspected. "Hitler looked like a pig who had been fed too much," Veroes said. "Plainly he was sick in mind and body. The last previous time I had seen him was in May. Between May and September, even in those few months, I was convinced his mental condition had deteriorated." The fuhrer wore heavy bandages on his right arm and was in a violent mood. The answer the Hungarian emissary was given to the Horthy letter was a profane negative.

Hungarian Tells Of Hitler's Rant

By DANIEL DeLUCE MOSCOW, Jan. 16.—(AP)—"Now we are all sitting in one boat in a dreadful storm," Hitler cried. A disordered look of grey-streaked hair hung across his forehead. "He who jumps overboard—man or nation—will surely drown," Hitler continued. "It is possible the boat will capsize. But it is more than likely it will reach land." "To the last man, to the last drop of blood, I will defend the Fatherland." Thus for two hours Hitler ranted and harangued. Again and again his rasping voice choked into a near shriek. Surrounding him were his intimate henchmen—Himmler, Keitel, Guderian. But the man he addressed was the unhappy chief of staff of a Hungary that no longer wanted to fight on the side of Germany. The place was der fuhrer's headquarters in East Prussia.

Armed Force Member Hit By Ruling on Residence

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Men of the armed forces who come to Oregon cannot establish legal residence in Oregon, the state supreme court said today. The decision, upholding dismissal of the case by Circuit Judge Tooez of Multnomah county, came in the divorce suit of Richard H. Zimmerman, in the navy and stationed at Swan Island, against Betty Jane Zimmerman. They were married three years ago in Ohio, and he was drafted while a resident of that state. Charging desertion, he sued for divorce in Multnomah county, claiming Oregon as his legal residence. The supreme court's unanimous decision said such a member of the armed forces cannot acquire a new legal residence because he is under legal and physical compulsion by the United States government.
