Pfc. Floyd McKay, Twice Wounded, On Coast Furlough

PFC Floyd McKay has gone to Wilmington, Calif., to join his wife, a member of the Wacs, after visiting briefly in Eugene with his sister, Mrs. Everett Phillips, and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. McKay, Roseburg.

He was twice wounded while fighting in France and is now on furlough from Walla Walla general hospital, where he will continue as a patient for several months. He suffered a severe head wound July 13 while in combat in the St. Lo area. Following treatment in England, he refused to combat, and was again wounded, Sept. 28, in the battle for Nancy.

His second wound shattered the upper portion of his right leg, damaging muscle tissue and taking out a section of bone. A plate has been inserted and surgery is restoring muscles, but it is expected that several months will be required before complete recovery is obtained. He is still forced to use crutches.

He owes his life, he reports, to the developments in the use of blood plasma and penicillin.
