MOUNTAIN from which Jap guns shoot down on every inch of ground our men control.

TO back them up, our marines have everything our mighty war machine can give them. The little island is surrounded by one of the greatest fleets in the history of naval warfare. Our naval guns can and DO reach every square foot of it. The air cover provided by the fleet's carrier planes is so complete that not a single Jap plane has yet been able to get over Iwo.

IN southern Oregon and northern California, where in the Modoc lava beds 55 Indian warriors stood off for months the best the United States army could send against them, we have perhaps a better understanding than anybody else of the toughness of the Iwo Jima battle.

This little volcanic island is the Modoc lava beds over again, backed up by the best that Japanese military skill, over a period of 20 years or more, has been able to do in the way of intricate fortification and preparation.

THE battle of Iwo Jima is in a way a TOKEN battle. If we can take Iwo, we can take ANYTHING THE JAPS HAVE including the island of Honshu.

IN the first 48 hours of the Iwo battle, 3650 marines were killed or wounded. We are told that 3063 wounded have been evacuated—indicating about 600 killed.

That is better than expected. It is high tribute to the fighting SKILL of the veteran marine outfits that are doing the job.

ON Corregidor (in the Philippines) both entrances of the main tunnel have been blocked by explosions, and on the topside we are poking through the rubble for the VENTILATION vent. When we find it, the Japs will be done for.

THE walls of Manila's medieval inner citadel are 40 feet thick. We're battering them down with artillery, rather than pulverizing the entire area from the air—trying to save the CIVILIANS inside. A correspondent on the spot says this is probably a futile gesture of mercy—he thinks the Japs have killed most of the civilians already.

ON a ridge near Fort McKinley, 400 trapped Japs are given a surrender ultimatum carried through their lines by a Filipino mounted on a horse. The Jap commander read the ultimatum, shook his head, shot the horse and left the Filipino to find his way back to our lines on foot.

When he got back, our planes and artillery OPENED UP.

THAT gives an idea of the kind of enemy we are fighting in the Pacific. He isn't a human being. He is an INDOCTRINATED sub-human.

IN Europe, destiny marches on. On the western front, our SEVEN allied armies push steadily NEARER TO THE RHINE. In the east, the Russians indicate that they are 34 miles from Berlin. A German commentator says the main rail line and autobahn (military superhighway) from the Oder to Berlin have been CUT BY THE RUSSIANS.

THERE is an interesting story in the dispatches.

Rocket firing Thunderbolts sweep in from our Italian bases to attack the Berchtesgaden area (Hitler's hideout)—which, the dispatches speculate, MAY BE THE MOST HEAVILY FORTIFIED SPOT IN THE REICH. They hit mainly railyards, trackage, cars and locomotives.

They encounter INTENSE FLAK and small arms fire.

THERE is no official comment, but there is speculation (passed by the censor) that the attack may have been directed against top priority NAZI PERSONNEL and nazi FILES coming in from Berlin.

An air force officer quoted in the dispatches says: "This is supposed to be Hitler's hideout. If our raiders found railroad cars there, one guess is as good as another as to what they might contain."

Fitting into this pattern is a heavy air attack on Nurnberg, a great German rail center through which most of the traffic from Berlin to the Berchtesgaden area must pass.

FOR weeks we've been hearing speculation that the nazis plan to retire to this mountainous corner of Germany and Austria for a last-ditch stand. There are hints that they may be planing to concentrate here their divisions now in northern Italy and Yugoslavia. We have been told of rumors that for months they have been collecting here food and supplies in vast quantities.

THE nazi, like the Jap, isn't quite human.

He is an inner lump of raw savage, with an outer historical veneer of industrial civilization, and an INDOCTRINATED MIND.

REPORT TO SPORTSMEN

By Charles V. Stanton

VERY strong sentiment in favor of expert analysis of the fisheries problem in Oregon and demand for shaking the state fish commission loose from the grip of the commercial industry exists in the Oregon State legislature, we learned Wednesday when called to Salem to appear at a committee hearing relative to the fishing dispute existing on the Umpqua river. Just how many votes are aligned behind the program has not yet been given a test, but leaders are confident the conservation bills, which will make plans operative, will be passed in both houses.

Much dissatisfaction with existing administrative policies of the fish commission is in evidence. Conservative-minded legislators insist that the fish commission has become representative of the fishing industry, rather than a watchdog to protect the rights of the people of Oregon in whom ownership of fish and game life is inherent. The program being submitted to the legislature would require the fish commission to devote its energies to maintaining fishing capacities of streams. Proposed legislation would require employment of a director, or manager, of fisheries, who could be removed from office only upon unanimous vote of the commission, and would authorize the director to employ biologists, chemists, engineers and other assistants to conduct scientific studies and impose controls.

Another measure would order the fish and game commissions to conduct scientific studies of each Oregon stream, and an interim committee would be named to make certain that the legislature's directive was obeyed.

The Umpqua would be the first stream to be studied.

The fish and game commissions would have authority to order such controls as might be recommended by the experts.

It is freely predicted by observers that the proposed legislation, if passed, will result in a very extensive shakeup in fish department personnel and will bring about more effective management and operation of hatcheries and general business administration.

Opposing the legislation is an exceedingly strong lobby representing the fish packers, wholesale fish dealers, and others. This lobby for years has been effective in blocking many fish conservation measures and is reliably reported to have spent as much as $75,000 in a single year to fight any curtailment of commercial fishing.

In passing, it is of interest that the chief tool of the lobbyist at the current session of the legislature is the distribution of cigarettes to the legislators, who are finding much difficulty in getting smokes in Salem through retail channels.

The suggested program for scientific study of fisheries and operation of hatcheries has been given substantial endorsement, not only by sportsmen but by a great many conservation-minded commercial fishing interests, particularly by fishermen who depend upon continued salmon runs for a livelihood.

We firmly believe that expert study of Oregon's coastal streams is of vital importance. Such findings should reveal definite data upon which to base redistribution of fishing privileges in keeping with greatest economic values. In other words, an unbiased group of icthyologists will make a very thorough study of all factors relative to fish life and economic values. If, for instance, it is found that a stream has greater value to the general public as a recreational stream than as a commercial asset, preponderance will be given sports fishing in distribution of fishing privileges. On the other hand, if a river has greater public value for industrial purposes, as would undoubtedly be found the case on the Columbia river, controls would favor commercial interests.

Under the proposed plan, if executed as suggested, there would be ample flexibility to meet promptly future economic changes.

Representatives of sports interests, called into Wednesday's committee hearing, were faced with the fact that inability of opposing factions on the Umpqua river to reach agreement might alienate powerful forces needed to secure passage of the conservation program. In view of this condition, concessions were made on the current measure, H. B. 378, which would regulate seasons on all coastal streams, in order that the more important and far-reaching conservation pattern should not be destroyed.

High School Band, Chorus to Present Concert Feb. 28

The hundred-twenty voices will join with fifty-five band members to present a benefit concert Wednesday, Feb. 28 at 8 p. m., in the Senior High school auditorium.

Leslie S. Irvin, Senior High music supervisor, states that the 50 cents admission will go toward the band uniform fund, for which a benefit smoker was given earlier in the year.

Reversing the order of the fall concert, the band will open Wednesday's program with the National Anthem and follow that with the "New Colonial" march.

"Mose Marie," "God Painted a Picture," and "Donkey Serenade" are popular favorites to be offered by the girls' choral group during the evening. Boys' specialties include 'Neapolitan Nights," "Bells of the Sea" and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes."

Ending the hour program is a series of band favorites, "Knights Bridge" march, "American Patrol," "Pavanne," and "Monte Crisco." Grand finale will blend chorus and band in a special patriotic arrangement entitled "America."

A good share of the concert program was presented in rehearsal before combined Junior and Senior High school student bodies and grades 4 to 6 from Benson, Fullerton, and Rose schools in a mass Washington's day assembly at Senior High yesterday afternoon.

Applications for Caning Sugar to Start on May 15

Local OPA boards in the Portland OPA district will start accepting applications for home canning sugar allowances on May 15, McDannell Brown, district director, announced Wednesday. Applications will be taken through October 31, 1945.

The housewife will obtain all of her sugar for home canning by applying to her own local OPA board. No ration stamps in war ration book four will be good for canning sugar this year, Brown pointed out.

The total sugar allowance for canning fruits or fruit juices must not exceed 20 pounds per person, or 160 pounds to a single family regardless of size, he explained. Within the maximum allowance, only 5 pounds of sugar for each person named in the family application may be allowed for canning vegetables and for making jams, jellies, relishes, catsup, etc.

Repatriated Prisoners To Tell of Conditions

A party of 12 persons, repatriated from prison of war camps in Germany and Japan, accompanied by army personnel, will appear at a meeting to be held in the civic auditorium in Portland, Monday, Feb. 26, according to an announcement from the Multnomah county chapter of the American Red Cross, which is assisting the army air forces in arrangements for the program. Families of prisoners of war are particularly invited to attend the meeting, it was reported, as the repatriates are expected to tell of conditions in the various camps. The meeting will be open to the general public, according to information given the Douglas county Red Cross chapter. Special notification of the meeting is being given families of the 31 Douglas county men now held as prisoners of war by the Axis powers.

DIAL-LOG

By Susan

By rights on Friday nights this column should be turned over to a sports editor, because the big billing is the fight—always excepting Double or Nothing at 6:30. This week it's Ray (Sugar) Robinson vs. Jacob La Motta, catchweights, for 10 rounds at Madison Square garden. Double or Nothing is always a good show and well worth your listening time.

Following the 7 o'clock news in the morning on Saturday there's a farm program, plus a few minutes with Miss McWhorter, which is well worth your time. Other recommended listening spots on Saturday a. m. are Hello Mom at 9, the news at 10, and lots of good music scattered here and there. May we call your attention to Music for Half an Hour at 1:30 on Saturday afternoon. This is the same show we used to have on Monday afternoons at 1:30, and Music for Remembrance is a fifteen-minute production of the former Friday show. They're both good although we'll have to admit we have always liked the latter named show. Saturday is the news commentator's day off. Nary a one all day long with the exception of the two Newspapers of the Air at 10 a. m. and 9 p. m., plus our own state and local news and one 6:30 news in the evening. There's nothing to worry about though; you won't miss anything because if any big news breaks, we'll be right on hand to bring it to you. That's where the teletype is a joy. The news rolls right along without benefit of commentator.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys
If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. Then poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes is another sign that something is wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.
