DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

Through all the past ages God has revealed Himself to His children. Sometimes in visible form and again in a spiritual sense, but none the less real. God is as real to men today as He was to Moses. It was a vision of the invisible that sustained Moses in the trials of those forty years of wandering in the wilderness with a rebellious people, ever complaining and fighting against the decrees of God. And it is a vision of the invisible that enables a child of God today to endure his trials and afflictions, for with the eye of faith we may see the invisible, even as Moses did. If a man meets the conditions necessary for spiritual vision, by all the laws of God, he shall see a life of purity, love and obedience are the conditions for spiritual insight. A glimpse of the invisible and the whole trend of a man's life will be changed; things temporal will lose their charm, and he will see the grandeur of things eternal. He will rise above the bondage of fear and will be content to remain in the wilderness, if God so wills it. Am I living the kind of life that will enable me to see Him who is invisible?—Amen.
