says "one phase of the thrust into the heart of Germany is ended and it is necessary to pause temporarily before we go into the next."

BY entering Czechoslovakia, our Third Army has cut all the main, straight, fast routes from northern Germany into the southern mountain hideout.

We're heavily bombing all routes leading into this mountain hole-up, including those leading out of Italy—devoting particular attention to the Brenner pass.

GOEBBELS (nazi poison pen artist) tells the German people that "our nation is balancing on a razor edge" and calls upon them to "stand behind Hitler and by a last all-out effort make sure that the reich does not break apart."

IN central Germany we take one of the greatest ammunition and gasoline dumps yet. The booty includes 500 88-millimeter guns and 20 huge bunkers filled with artillery shells—including 27,000 containing "toxic" (poison) gas.

The nazis have been expected to start using poison gas at any moment, and these shells indicate that they have it on hand and ready for use. One suspects that secretly we'd like nothing better than to have them start gas warfare.

GENERAL BRADLEY joins Eisenhower in predicting that all Germany must probably be occupied before victory can be complete.

That brings to our attention one of the more or less secret deals consummated at Yalta. When organized resistance ends, Germany is to be split up into three zones—one zone to be occupied by the Russians, one by the British and one by us.

According to the scanty information that has leaked out, the Russian zone will take in eastern Germany, including Berlin, and the British will get the northern and northwestern sector, including the great Atlantic and Baltic ports. Ours will be southern Germany—INCLUDING BAVARIA, which is a part of the hideout area.

WHEN the division will take place and whether each nation will assume the job of ROOTING OUT THE NAZIS left as guerrillas in its sector AFTER Germany has been split up into occupation zones hasn't been announced.

IN the Pacific, our Okinawa casualties, as of Wednesday, including army, marines and navy, totaled 7888 killed, wounded and missing. Of this total, 1482 have been killed, 4700 wounded and 1750 are missing. You will note from this that in spite of its easy first days, Okinawa has been no walkway.

Our NAVY casualties in the Okinawa fighting have been HEAVIER than the army and marines—reflecting the fact that the Jap air force has sunk five of our destroyers and damaged a number of our other war vessels.

OUR ground forces have reached the northern tip of Okinawa, encountering no great Jap resistance—indicating that practically the entire Jap garrison is

ROAD "STEAL" BREWING

By Charles V. Stanton

Apparently engineered by State Highway Commissioner Arthur Schaupp of Klamath Falls, a deliberate attempt to "steal" Southern Oregon's section of the Pacific highway is in the making.

At a meeting of the state highway commission in Portland Tuesday, R. H. Baldock, state highway department engineer, submitted a recommendation for improvement of the Pacific highway from Eugene to Ashland, to make it the inter-regional route, with a 24-foot pavement and 10-foot shoulders on each side.

The Federal Public Roads administration, it is reported, has asked the state highway department to designate an inter-regional highway to form a link in the north-south postwar highway system to reach from Alaska to Buenos Aires. It is requested that such selection be made by July 1.

The state highway engineer, following the only logical course, naturally prepared plans and recommendations for reconstruction of the Pacific highway in Southern Oregon as the route to be made a part of the inter-regional system.

But Commissioner Schaupp interposed to dispute the engineer's arguments that the Pacific highway is the best route and insisted that the Willamette highway from Eugene to Klamath Falls and the road from Klamath Falls to Weed, California, be made the inter-regional link.

Press reports quoted him as saying: "Until reading our engineer's plan, I thought that the meaning of an inter-regional highway was the most direct and fastest route between highly populated centers, which is what the Willamette route would provide."

He further presented the claim, according to press reports, that the distance between Eugene and Weed by way of Klamath Falls would be 20 miles shorter than by following the Pacific highway route, and would cost $5 million less to build.

The highway commission took no action on the proposal, Chairman Banfield ordering the matter tabled for further study.

Commissioner Merle Chessman of Astoria, state senator from Clatsop county, is reported to have asked Commissioner Schaupp what the people of Southern Oregon, who had always assumed that they lived on an interstate highway, would say. For Senator Chessman's information we can safely announce that Southern Oregon is prepared to say PLENTY—and it may not be couched in diplomatic language.

The Klamath Falls commissioner is attempting deliberate sabotage of Oregon's rapidly growing industrial center, stifled for years because of transportation handicaps. He would route a highway through a very sparsely settled area, largely national forest land where commercial development would be extremely limited, leaving sidetracked the numerous populated centers, agricultural regions and huge industrial field located along the Pacific highway.

We do not have at hand engineering data concerning distances between Eugene and Weed by the two routes, but we do not imagine there would be any great variation after kinks are ironed from the Pacific highway route. There can be no denial of the fact that it may cost slightly more to reconstruct the Pacific highway than to make improvements to the Klamath Falls route, but the resultant benefit would more than justify the anticipated added cost.

We do not believe that Southern Oregon, which already has been kicked around by its only railroad, and has seen state and federal road money, badly needed to open up industrial and agricultural resources, politically manipulated to benefit Willamette valley communities, already amply served by highways, will take another boot in the pants without a mighty vigorous protest.

concentrated in the southern part of the island, where heavy fighting is still in progress with no material change in the lines.

THE Tokyo radio is fighting a grand war in the Ryukyus.

It announces that since March 23 Jap "kamikaze (suicide) fliers have sunk or damaged 393 of our warships, including 21 aircraft carriers, 16 battleships, 55 cruisers and "scores" of other war vessels.

What kind of people these Japs are—to be able to absorb such staggering doses of unadulterated bunk and still keep going—passes all understanding.

Ernie Pyle Killed in Action

(NEA Telephoto) This is one of the favorite portraits of Ernie Pyle, the greatest front line reporter of this war, who was killed by a Japanese machine gun bullet on a little island off Okinawa. This copyright photograph of the famous Scripps-Howard war correspondent—beloved of U. S. fighting men the world over—was taken by Milton J. Pike in September, 1943, after Ernie had returned to the U. S. from the Sicilian campaign.

Yoncalla Soldier Wins Bronze Star

WITH THE 24TH (VICTORY) DIVISION IN THE PHILIPPINES—Private First Class Perry L. Smith, husband of Mrs. Maude Smith, Yoncalla, Ore., has been awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service in action during the battle of Leyte Island in the Philippines.

Private Smith's battalion, the crack 52nd field artillery of this Victory division, was in support of infantry troops driving across the island. His job was driving a bulldozer and to make a road where most of the time there was nothing but swamp and jungle. Under constant fire by the enemy, daily to the enemy, Private Smith drove his bulldozer where others feared to tread.

Nurse Assn. Executive Will Visit Roseburg

Miss Lucy D. Germain, R. N., of New York, field representative of the American Journal of Nursing—official publication of the American Nurses association—and consultant for the national nursing council for war service, will be in Roseburg Wednesday, April 25, on her tour through Oregon. She is meeting with industrial and public health nurses, directors of nursing schools and with many other nurses groups.

Summer Recreation Program Announced

Plans for the summer recreation, which have already been scheduled, will include supervised swimming and swimming lessons at Mosher street swimming hole from June through September; a supervised playground at the park on the corner of E. Lane and Jackson street, with craft classes for the youngsters in the afternoon, a baseball school for boys, the softball league to be carried on in the evenings and the teenage club open for the youth in the armory. Other activities will be scheduled as the program depends upon the budget.

Beavers, Rainiers, Tied at Top, Take Doubleheaders

(By The Associated Press) Pacific Coast league clubs were grouped today like racenorses breaking from the barrier. Seattle and Portland, deadlocked in first place, pulled four games ahead of the field by sweeping doubleheaders last night. Med for third in show position were Oakland, Sacramento and San Diego. San Francisco, Los Angeles and Hollywood trailed in that order.

The Rainiers, after two successive losses to the Acorns, bounced back with two victories, 3-2 and 2-0. Beating of Seattle's first baseman, George McDonald by Chelini and Norbert's second inning homer, his eighth of the season, highlighted the seven frame opener. McDonald failed to regain consciousness until taken to a hospital. In the nightcap Glenn Elliott chalked up his fifth straight victory for the Rainiers.

The Beavers kept pace with Seattle by edging out the last place Hollywood Stars 1-0 and 7-6, the last game going 11 innings. In Los Angeles the Angels evened their series with San Diego, winning 7-3. Novikoff, Los Angeles outfielder, had a perfect night at bat with four hits in four trips to the plate. At the Seals stadium San Francisco crushed Sacramento 5-2.

Morelli, Piluso to Make Debuts Here On Wrestling Card

Douglas county wrestling fans await tonight and one of the most promising professional mat shows of the season at the Roseburg armory. Matchmaker Don Owen will headline his weekly program with a skirmish between Walt "Snowy" Achiu, the popular Chinese ju-jitsu, and Tony Morelli an Italian villain who will be making his local debut. The bout is expected to rival last week's Donnybrook, in which Achiu defeated "Terrible Tony" Ross.

Ernie Piluso, well-known Portland wrestler, will also be making his first appearance here and the headlock expert will test his newly developed hold against kidney-punching Billy McEatin. Piluso claims that development of the ancient headlock hold has made it the most effective and deadly weapon in the sport.

A three-round boxing exhibition will open the card, starting at 8:30 o'clock. Elton Owen will referee all three matches.

Cancer's Toll in Nation Cited in Drive for Money

Cancer is second to heart disease as the principal cause of death in the United States. E. C. Nolte, chairman of the American Cancer society campaign for funds in Douglas county, reported today. Nolte is acting as county chairman on behalf of the Roseburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the drive locally. Cancer caused 165,000 deaths in the United States last year, 1,688 in Oregon. Nolte said, One-third to one-half of these victims could have lived had they known the early symptoms of cancer and had they had immediate diagnosis and treatment.

The purpose of the current campaign is to raise funds with which to conduct an educational campaign and to finance research in the hope of leading to improved methods of combatting the disease. Money raised from the drive also will be used in giving aid to cancer victims.

District Forester at O. & C. Office Is Changed

The Portland office of the O. & C. administration has announced the transfer of Assistant District Forester A. P. Collins to Salem, Oregon, according to word received by District Forester E. K. Peterson. Mr. Collins will be in charge of the Salem district, which includes revested railroad grant lands in eleven counties.
