back into the gangster rendezvous.
Those surviving our bombing and strafing planes will be badly battered and shaken when they reach the inner den.

THE blood-stained structure of the Nazi new order in Europe is rapidly crumbling into ruin.

TWO-THIRDS of Berlin is already in Russian hands. Soviet dispatches describe the city as a "wilderness of crumbling stone swept by hot winds from the flames of burning buildings."

It was written long ago: "Those that live by the sword shall PERISH by the sword."

THE first actual contacts between Americans and Russians were effected by advance patrols sent out in jeeps by our side to clear the roads of tens of thousands of Germans fleeing westward to surrender to the Americans before the Russians get them.

They brought Russians back with them to our lines. In the celebration that followed, a Russian major said in an impromptu speech: "We extend warmest congratulations on the destruction of nazism. We hope this meeting will be the basis for peace in the world to come."

"That doesn't sound like the utterance of a barbarian, does it?"

In honor of the junction, Stalin orders a salute of 24 salvos from 324 guns in Moscow and issues an order of the day in which he says: "Long live the victory of the freedom-loving peoples in Germany."

REMEMBERING that Russia is now a totalitarian despotism, your reaction to this sentiment may be a cynical one.
Restrain your cynicism.
Give heed to the lesson of history.

HOLD faith in the Russians.
Remember that at the time of the French revolution the French people were little farther away from serfdom than were the Russians when they overthrew the czar a quarter of a century ago. In the bitterness of their hatred, the French went to the same bloody excesses.

BUT —
The French people lived and grew and developed to become Europe's strongest bulwark of democracy and freedom of the individual. The same, practical French people are probably our greatest hope now for a decent Europe in the critical years that lie ahead of us.

DON'T lose faith in the Russian people. Don't judge them by their present admittedly undemocratic government. Give them time to grow up and blossom out. History tells us plainly that virile, hopeful peoples emerging from the darkness of serfdom into the light of greater freedom offer tremendous possibilities of progress toward a better world.

We simply must be hopeful toward Russia. Hopeful and HELPFUL. If our hopes fail of realization, dark days are ahead for this world.

WITH bloody nazism reeling toward its inevitable end, we must guard against any feeling that the war is about over.
The Pacific war is our real war. It isn't over yet. It won't be over until indoctrinated totalitarian Japan has been brought to the point now reached by indoctrinated totalitarian Germany.

NO DENIALS THIS TIME

By Charles V. Stanton

Every time we read of one of our American commanders forcing a bunch of snivelling Germans to view the horrors of a Nazi murder factory, we have an overpowering desire to stand up and applaud. We would, too, if we could thus express our approval to the commanders responsible.

Following the last war we whitewashed a lot of atrocity stories. We learned that some were pure fiction and were spread as "hate propaganda." Consequently we were inclined to discount the tales coming from war devastated countries during the current war.

But there will be no discounting German "Kultur" this time. The evidence is being viewed by our fighting men. General Eisenhower has called for delegations from Parliament and from the Congress. He has given an invitation to a delegation representing the press. But, best of all, the German public is being forced to witness the atrocities their Nazi warlords have committed.

General Patton not only took the entire civilian population of Weimar to the scene of a murder factory, but forced them to gaze upon the horrible spectacle. And when stomachs and eyes both rebelled, the civilians were forced to take another look.

Other commanders have followed Patton's example. One officer rounded up the leading citizens of a town—the bankers, the doctors, the merchants—and made them give burial to the mutilated, starved, partially burned bodies of tortured victims in one of the largest internment camps.

When Germany starts her sympathy campaign after this war, she will not be able to deny the stories of her terrible atrocities.

It is foolish to say that the German civilian population did not know what was going on, although they may be expected to make denial and to place all of the blame upon their Nazi overlords. But at least, they will not be able to deny the evidence. Our commanders have seen to that.

Fire Protection Being Planned

A meeting will be held next Wednesday at the Schricker Auction barn to discuss proposed formation of a fire protection district. This meeting was requested by residents of Riverside and Edenbower, but it should also be attended by residents of West Roseburg, Deer Creek, Miller's Addition and Umpqua Park.

We have long been urging fire protection for Roseburg's suburban property. Under present conditions there is a most serious menace to both life and property and there should be no delay in making arrangements to provide protection from fire. Nor should the residential areas overlook the need for sewer installation at the earliest possible date.

In our opinion, all of the suburban sections immediately adjacent to the city limits should combine to set up one fire protection district, rather than each providing its own organization. The greater the amount of territory included, the lower will be the cost to individual property owners. In fact, if all of the fringe area is brought into one district, the cost per year to each individual probably would amount to only a few cents and reduction in insurance rates would more than offset the tax.

At Wednesday's meeting, representatives of the state fire marshal will thoroughly explain procedure, outline the various methods by which protection can be furnished and answer questions from any interested persons.

Although called for the people of Riverside and Edenbower, because they petitioned for it, the meeting is open to all who care to attend. We would particularly urge owners of property in all residential districts surrounding the city to be present and learn the procedure for establishing fire protection districts, then carry the message back to their neighbors and secure immediate action.

We have good reason to believe that our Pacific coast may be subjected to a fire blitz during the summer months and we will need every protective facility we can obtain.

Beavers Hike Lead In Coast League

(By the Associated Press)
The Seattle Rainiers remained idle because of wet grounds and the Portland Beavers increased their Pacific coast league leadership edge to two and a half games by downing Oakland, 3-1, last night.

San Diego meanwhile strengthened its third place hold by beating San Francisco, 3-2, behind the debut pitching of Charley Wenzloff from the New York Yankees.

Los Angeles pulled Sacramento into a three-way tie for fifth by downing the Solons, 12-9, in a slugfest match which featured four homers. The circuit blows—two of them by Nicks—accounted for 10 runs.

At Portland Lisika limited the Beavers to four scattered hits to record his fifth win in seven starts.

Wenzloff yielded nine hits in the San Diego-San Francisco game but struck out ten batters in pulling himself out of some tight spots.

Top-Notch Wrestlers Battle Here Tonight

One of the best-balanced professional wrestling shows of the season will be on deck for Douglas county sports followers at the Roseburg armory tonight starting at 8:30 o'clock.
Matchmaker Don Owen has signed four top-flight matmen to appear on the two grappling skirmishes, following a preliminary three-round boxing exhibition by local talent.

Corps of Hostesses Is Red Cross Plan Here

Organization of a corps of hostesses as a department of the Douglas county chapter of the American Red Cross is proposed by Joan Jones, hospital representative, from the Pacific area Red Cross office. Members of the corps would give volunteer Service at the information booth, recreation hall and library at the Veterans administration facility in Roseburg, adding the regular staff officers in the various departments.
Mrs. W. H. Gerretsen, chairman of the volunteer special service department of the county chapter, will attempt the proposed organization.
